Wells enters negotiated guilty plea, avoids trial

By JULIE MURPHY and STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporters

Tim Wells, former administrator for the village of Antioch, entered a negotiated guilty plea in Lake County Circuit Court on Aug. 6 before Judge Ray McKoski.

Though he originally pleaded not guilty on March 6 to charges that he illegally diverted about $1.5 million from a fund established for Antioch seniors, Wells pleaded guilty to the charges of forgery and perjury. He had initially been charged with three counts of official misconduct, one count of obstructing justice, unlawful stringing of bids and unlawful interference with contract submission and award by a public official in addition to eight counts of forgery and one count of perjury. Strickland said, "This resolves the matter. Wells will not have to go to trial."

Wells agreed to two years probation, 60 days work release, 120 days of stayed work release, 100 hours of community service, said George Strickland, chief of the criminal division of the Lake County State's Attorney. Strickland said the 120 days of stayed work release would be required if Wells "doesn't do sparkingly well on probation."

Strickland said it is his understanding that Wells has a job and is to start work within the next 14 days.

Previously Strickland explained that four or five of the counts Wells had been charged with pertained to the initial diversion of $1.5 million in funds, and the others attempted to cover up those acts. The money, bequeathed to the village by Dolly Spiering for Antioch seniors, was to have been put in a special fund, but was instead used to pay village bills. Wells was not accused of using any of the money for personal gain.

Wells had served as administrator in Fox Lake briefly after Antioch.

"The taxpayers of Antioch should be pleased because he pleaded guilty to two counts of criminal wrong doing," Strickland said.

Church museum preserves history

By CHRISTY BLANDFORD
Staff Reporter

By the exterior of the building, some might think the Lakes Region Historical Society restored the old Episcopal Church on Route 83 into a new place of worship. But according to Historical Society President Bob Lindblad, looks can be deceiving.

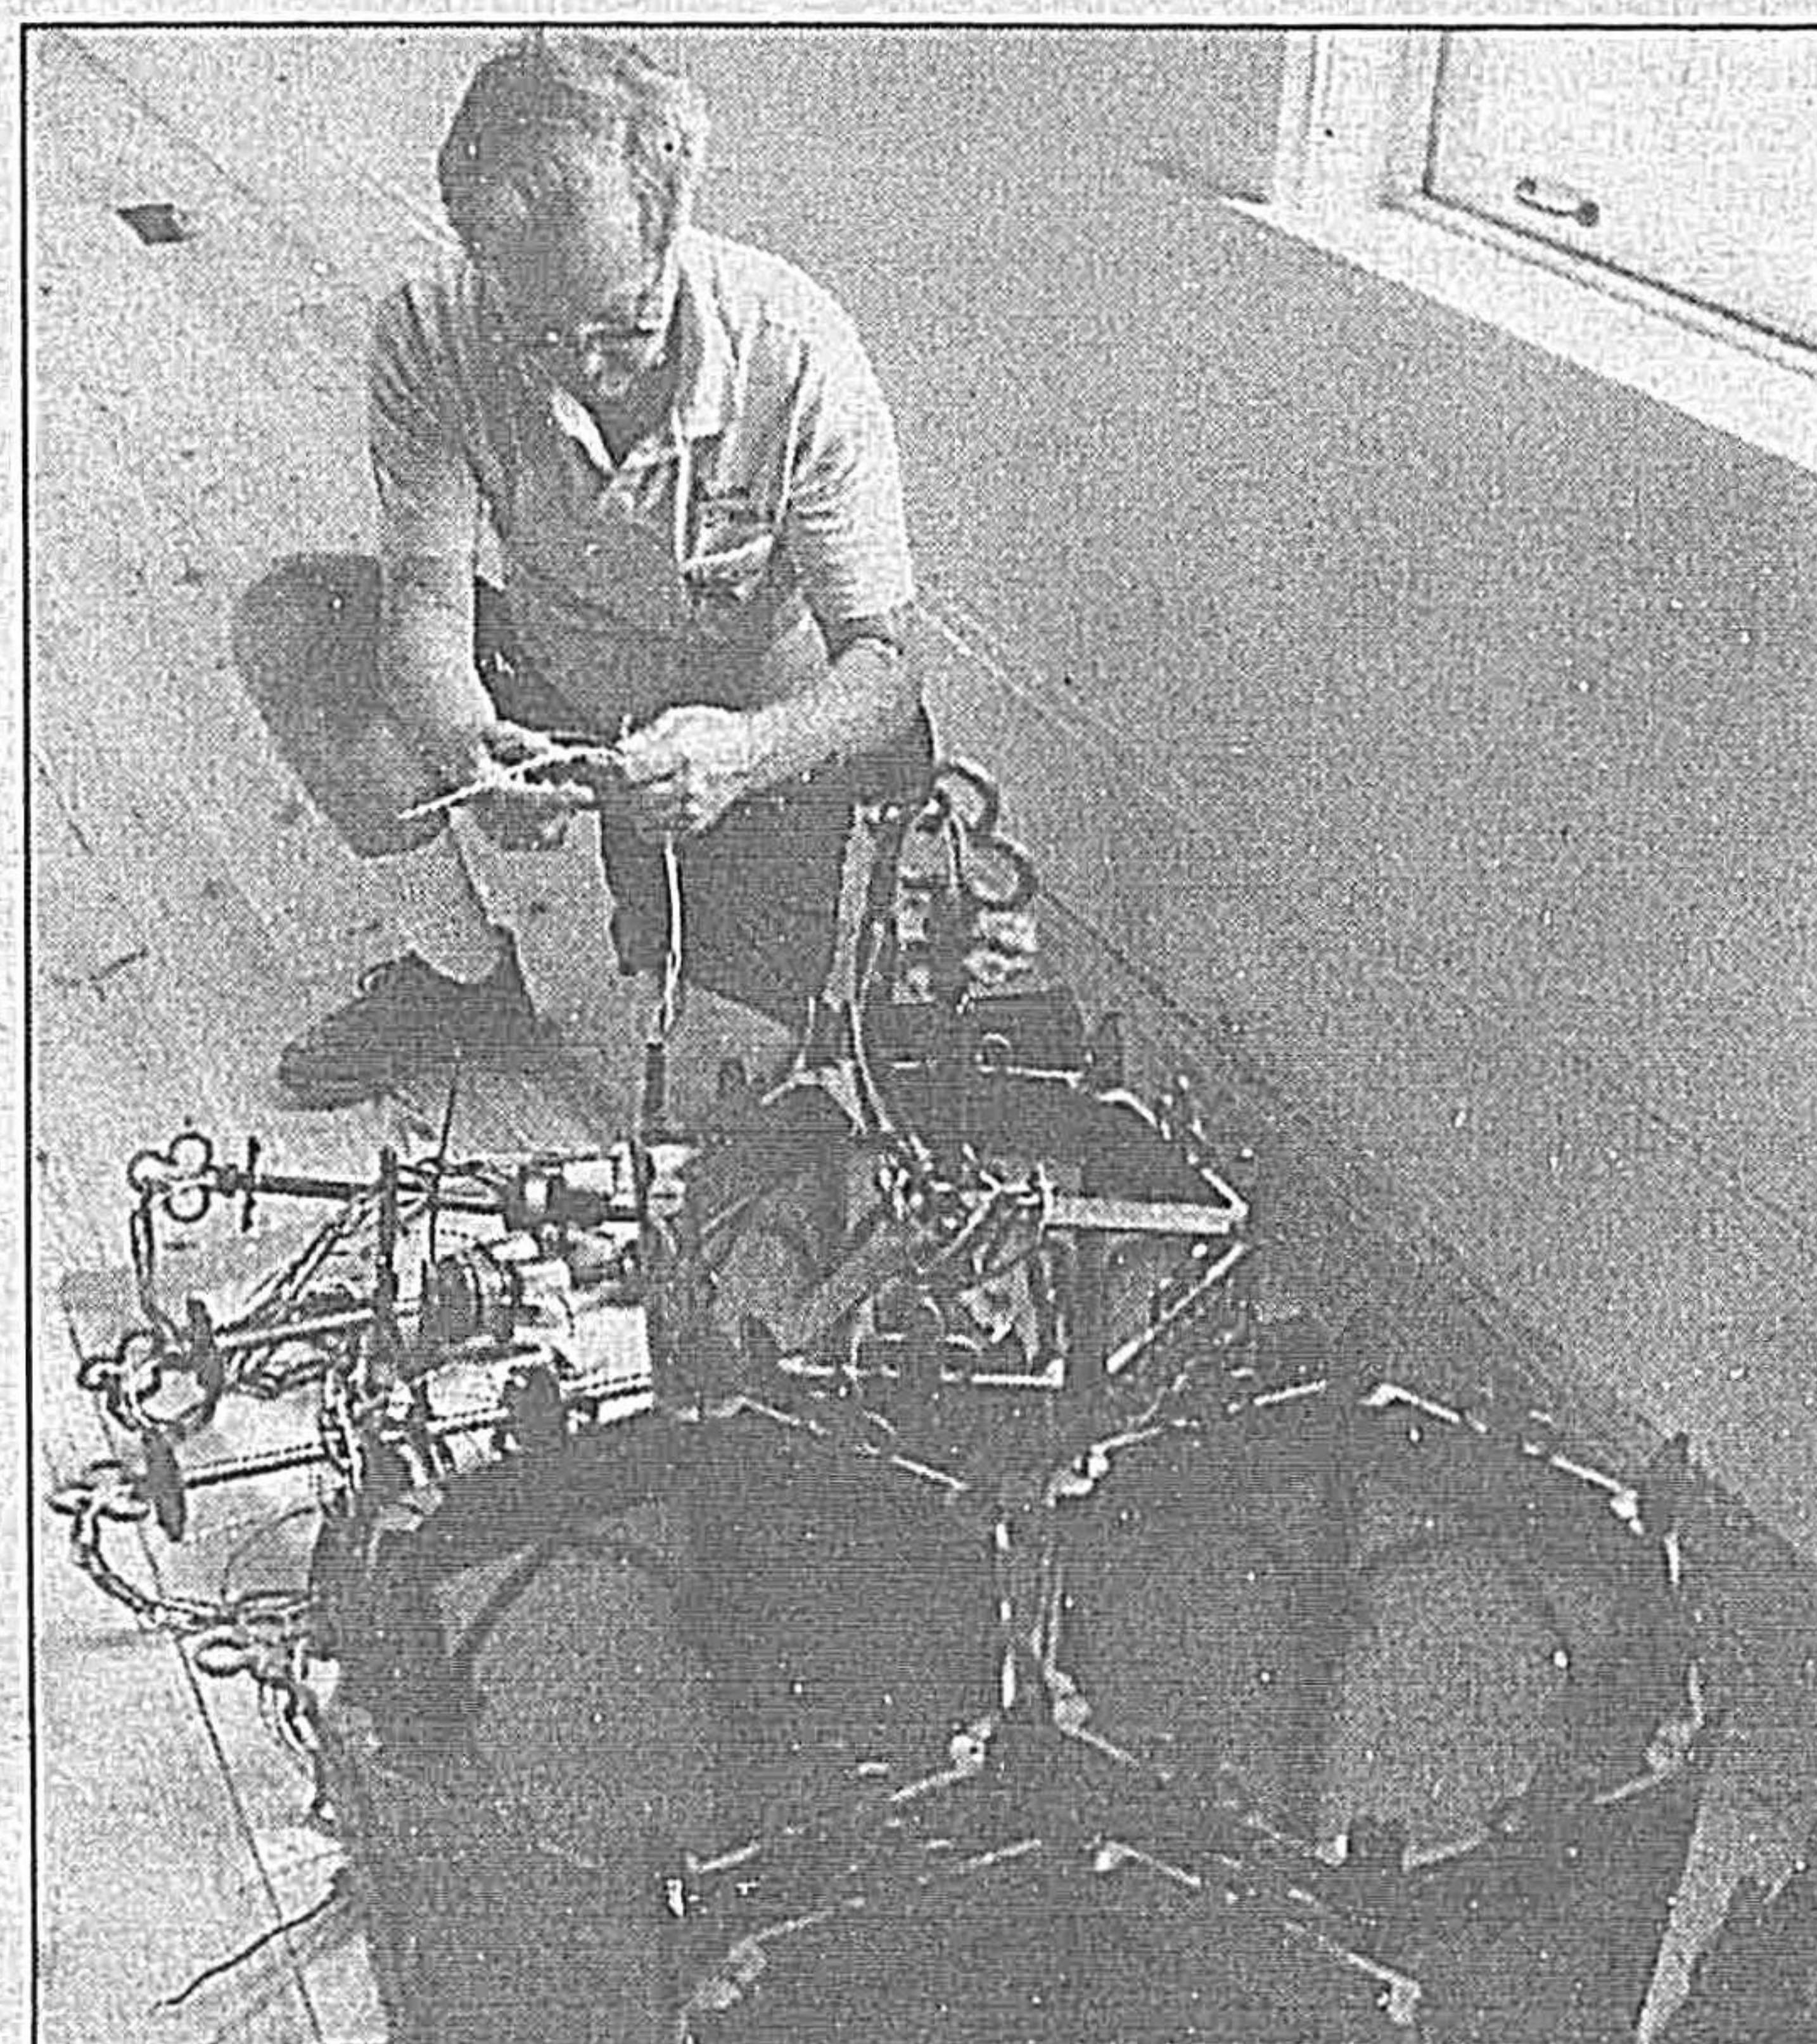

"We don't want people to think it's a new church because of its name," he said. "We decided to restore the church because it was the oldest building in Antioch and we wanted to preserve that."

The Historical Society is in the process of completing the restoration of the church, which will serve as a church museum — displaying exhibits not necessarily of religious nature.

After Antioch resident Dolly Spiering's estate bequeathed money to the historical society, members decided the former church was the best place to display their exhibits since it is one of the oldest buildings in the town.

The historical society has restored the church museum to appear as it did 1863 in order to add to the museum's historic ambiance, museum director Ainsley Wonderling said, as well as recognize to the first Antioch settlers.

Parks looking for new friends

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch parks and recreation department is in the process of forming a "Friends of the Parks" organization and is recruiting volunteers.

The first event has been scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 17 from 9 a.m.-noon at Gages Brothers Park and Hiram Butterick Sawmill to spruce up the area. Residents and park users are encouraged to come with a willing attitude as well as rakes, wheel barrels and other garden type tools to help with the clean-up effort.

The park is located behind the Senior Center and the Fire Department on Cunningham Drive.

"We're hoping that people will come out in numbers between 9 a.m.-noon to help us with this project," said Laurie Stahl, director of the parks department. "We want to continue on with similar projects in the future."

Chris Lienhardt, parks board president, said he remembers when the sawmill first became a park. "I was a kid and my dad worked for public works so I was there seeing the work that went into making this a park and helping out as much as I could," he said. "The goal of Friends of the Parks is to take the burden off of public works by doing what we can to make the parks as nice as possible. Many hands make light work."

Lienhardt said that each park board member is responsible for one park, and that the parks are regularly checked to see if anything is being overlooked. The park with the longest "to do" list was selected as the site of this first project.

"We would like to do this every month (barring the bad weather months), and really get things planned out and going by next spring," Lienhardt added. "It's worth the effort."

Those interested in being placed on a Friends of the Parks mailing list should call the parks department office at 847-395-2160.

Chicago man drowns in Lake Catherine

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Choppy water conditions on Lake Catherine were likely not only to contribute in the drowning of Howard Bressler, a 30-year-old Chicago man, but hindered rescue efforts as rescue divers could reportedly only see a maximum of 2 feet in front of them.

On Monday, August 12, over 30 divers were called to the north end of the lake when it became apparent conditions would prevent a simple rescue/recovery.

Antioch Fire Department Dive Master John Lucas said, "The conditions were less than ideal out there today. The divers reported visibility that was between 0-2 feet with large amounts of under vegetation and wind conditions that made boat operations difficult."

Sgt. Gary Govekar, of the Lake County Sheriff's Department, said the identity of the man has not been released as family has yet to be notified. He said, "Thirteen went out boating and decided to stop on a sandbar. They went swimming and released the deceased wasn't there."

Govekar said the call that came through the Sheriff's Department at 4:23 p.m. was delayed as there was neither a radio nor a cellphone on the pontoon boat.

"They had to bring the boat back to shore before they could make the 9-1-1 call," he said.

Toxicology reports aren't currently available. "It takes a couple of days for those to come back," said Govekar. "The others in the group said the water was very choppy while they were swimming and I'm sure that contributed to the drowning."

Bressler's body was recovered at about 6:20 p.m. in about 10 feet of water.

One dive rescue van, one rescue boat and two command units were sent from Antioch's Fire Station I, as well as divers from both stations I and II. Additional divers were sent from Grayslake, Round Lake, Lake Villa, Fox Lake, Bonnie Brook, Zion, Newport, Gurnee, Waukegan, Spring Grove, Salem and Kenosha Scout Leaders.

Additional boats were sent to the scene from Lake Villa, Fox Lake, Grayslake, Libertyville and Silver Lake, Wis. Sonar techs from Countryside, Gurnee, Libertyville and Mundelein assisted, as well as fire squads from Zion and McHenry.

2002 Lindenfest 'biggest and best'

Annual festival caps second decade with good weather, music, great crowd

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

Those who remember the wet start of last year's Lindenfest, with its infamous "pageant in the garage," rejoiced in the seasonably pleasant weather as Lindenhurst kicked off its 20th annual summer festival.

The pageant went as well as ever, with the sun smiling on its "pretty-in-pink" stage set.

Mr. and Mrs. Bingo (Jim and Jan Betustak) kept the numbers rolling all weekend, as everyone from small fry to seniors got a chance to play.

The Lindenfest Parade had a number of delightful entries this year. Once again, Bill Bajorek provided the color commentary on the parade, and once again, he was challenged by sneaky last-minute changes in the parade line-up.

POLICE BEAT

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ANTIOCH

DUI

James W. Koch, 50, of 94 Hilldale Road, Fox Lake, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on Aug. 10 at 1:58 a.m. on Route 59 north of Beach Grove Road.

Police observed his vehicle cross over the fog line and then go back across the double yellow centerline. The officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage on his breath when Koch's driver's license and proof of insurance were obtained.

Koch failed all field sobriety tests requested of him and was arrested for DUI. He was transported to the Antioch Police Department where he was issued citations for improper lane usage and DUI.

When Koch refused chemical testing, he was issued an additional citation for the second count of improper lane usage. He was then put through booking procedures and secured in a cell as he was unable to post bond.

Koch was later released on personal recognizance.

LAKE VILLA

DUI

Adam S. Kerby, 23, of 38821 Belmore Park, Lake Villa, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on July 30, at 2:10 a.m., while driving westbound on Route 132 near Fairfield Road. Police report he was observed weaving as he traveled at 10 mph above the speed limit. He was stopped after he failed to obey a stop sign at Fairfield Road. Police noticed an odor of alcohol on his breath, as well as poor balance. He failed three of three field sobriety tests and breath test yielded a result of .193 BAC. He was charged with DUI, DUI over .08 BAC and failure to obey a stop sign. He was released on a $1,000 I-bond, posting his driver's license and $100, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Aug. 23, at 9 a.m.

'Gun shot' reported

Two 16-year-old males were confronted by Lake Villa Police on July 31, at 10:15 p.m., after a Beverly Drive resident reported a gun shot. Police arriving at the scene found the two youths, who admitted they had put toilet bowl cleaner into a plastic bottle and thrown it, whereupon it exploded. No charges were made.

Criminal damage to autos

Cars parked on the lot belonging to C&F Packing at 515 Park Ave., Lake Villa, were reported damaged by persons unknown on the morning of Aug. 3. Lake Villa Police first responded to a complaint at 6:58 a.m. that at 6:30 a.m. an employee found the window broken on a 1987 blue 4-door Chevy Nova. At 7:22 a.m. the same day, police took a report that sometime between 7 p.m. on Aug. 2 and 6 a.m. on Aug. 3, the company's 1988 white Volvo box truck was also damaged. A rock taken from a nearby ditch was apparently used to smash the windshield and driver's side window. Nothing was missing from the vehicles. A complainant believed a "disgruntled employee" might have been to blame, but due to what police called a "high turnover rate," a suspect could not be identified. There are no leads at present.

Warrant

Devin B. Farrell, 34, of 137 Cedar Ave., Lake Villa, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Aug. 6, at 7:04 p.m., at his home address. He was taken into custody on a warrant for traffic offenses. Police turned him over to the Lake County Jail.

LINDENHURST

Weapons, alcohol

Lucas J. Neuhaus, 20, of 333 Harden St., Antioch, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Aug. 11, at 3:58 a.m., while driving on Route 132 near Emerald Lane. Police reported he failed to dim headlights as he approached. He was drifting on the road, and made a wide right turn onto Emerald Lane, when police stopped him. He was unable to produce an insurance card. On the front seat of the car, police found a 7.75-gallon aluminum beer keg, with a tap in it. Neuhaus also had an odor of alcohol on his person. He failed four of four field sobriety tests and refused breath tests.

In the pockets of his long black coat, police found two folding knives, pepper spray and a stun gun. The weapons and beer keg were confiscated. The driver was charged with unlawful use of weapons, possession of alcohol by a minor, consumption of alcohol by a minor, improper lighting, equipment violations, improper lane usage, DUI, driving an uninsured motor vehicle and illegal transport of alcohol.

He was released after posting his driver's license and $100 cash as bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Aug. 27, at 9 a.m.

DUI

Sarah A. Brincks, 24, of 105 Barrow Dr., Crystal Lake, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Aug. 10, at 2 a.m., while driving southbound on Route 45 near Sand Lake Road. Police observed the driver at 55 mph in a 40-mph zone on Route 45 near Haven. The driver continued southbound, drifting from lane to lane. She was stopped at the BP Amoco station at 3200 Sand Lake Rd. Her insurance card was expired. Police, detecting an odor of alcohol on the driver's breath, administered four field sobriety tests, which Brincks failed. A breath test yielded a result of .088 BAC. She said she'd had a half of a beer and a "hard lemonade." She was charged with speeding, DUI and DUI over .08 BAC. She was released after posting her driver's license as bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Aug. 27, at 9 a.m.

Robert S. Kuczynski, 29, of 3652 N. Oak Park Ave., Chicago, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on July 20, at 12:00 a.m., while driving eastbound on Route 45 near Deer Trail Drive. Police observed his left tires cross the double yellow center line and then overcorrect to the fog line on the right. He was stopped after he continued to weave back and forth several times. Police noticed an odor of alcohol on his breath. He failed four of four field sobriety tests, and breath test yielded a result of .174 BAC. He was charged with improper lane usage, DUI and DUI over .08 BAC. He was released after posting his driver's license as bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Aug. 27, at 9 a.m.

Zero tolerance

Five youths were charged with consumption of alcohol by a minor when they were discovered by Lindenhurst Police on Aug. 9 at 2:20 a.m., at a house on Brook Lane.

Police responded to a complaint that two people were looking through cars. Unable to find the suspects, police were returned to the scene by dispatch, where they found three males and two females, ranging in age from 15-20.

When police approached, the males ran off, while the females remained behind.

The women said the young men had looked in the cars but had taken nothing.

Police noted an odor of alcohol on the two women, identified as Heather N. Carlson, 18, of 42771 N. Park Ave., Antioch and Nichole R. Cook, 20, of 908 Mockingbird Lane, Antioch. A flavored vodka was found in a paper bag in the driveway.

Carlson took a PBT, with a result of .129 BAC. Cook's test result was .071 BAC. Both were charged with consumption of alcohol by a minor and released on $75 I-bonds, pending an appearance in Grayslake Branch III court, on Sept. 4, at 10:30 a.m.

After bringing a Lake County Sheriff's Office K-9 to the scene, police found the two male youths. They took PBTs, with Griffon scoring .079 BAC and Stewart registering .042 BAC. They were charged with resisting a police officer, criminal trespass and consumption of alcohol by a minor. They were released on $1,000 I-bonds, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-405, on Aug. 26, at 9 a.m.

The 15-year-old male registered .106 BAC. He was sent home with his mother on a juvenile release.

Propeller stolen

A steel, 3-blade boat propeller was reported stolen from the 1900 block of E. Grand Ave. On Aug. 1 at 3:15 p.m. The propeller was valued at $580. There are no suspects.

Fund-raiser set to aid 5-year-old cancer victim

By CHRISTY BLANDFORD
Staff Reporter

Although she's a little shy, Spring Grove resident Stephanie Stanek, likes to play just as much as the next five year old.

But her play time is being hindered by medical treatments for a brainstem tumor she was diagnosed with in May — treatments that are just too expensive for her parents to fund alone.

"She's a happy little girl," her mother, Kim Stanek said. "She's a loner, but she likes to play and keep herself occupied. Right now it's not affecting her, but it's pretty serious."

Stanek was diagnosed with the golf-ball sized brainstem tumor after her mother noticed her suffering from headaches and nausea. She is currently being treated as an outpatient at Children's Memorial Hospital in Milwaukee, undergoing radiation and taking steroids to shrink the tumor.

Stanek's mother said only some of the expenses for her illness — which strikes 1,000 children in the U.S. each year — is covered through their family's insurance, but she is hoping a large portion of the rest will be raised this weekend.

Eclipse Hair Studio, 2020 Rt. 12, Studio U in Spring Grove will hold a fundraiser this Sunday, Aug. 18 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in order to help alleviate some of Stanek's medical costs.

Hair studio owner Peggy Fitzgerald said the benefit — in which all proceeds from hair cuts, manicures and a raffle will go to the Staneks — was derived from family friend Jodie Nichols, who works at the hair salon.

"Jodie came up with the idea and wanted to do something to help, and the only thing we could do is cut hair and then the nail technicians jumped on board too," Fitzgerald said.

Nichols said she organized the fundraiser for Stanek, who she describes as a "beautiful, sweet, shy girl," after she heard about her illness. She encourages all community members to attend the fundraiser and give the family a sense of camaraderie with their neighbors.

"It's just a sense of feeling like you can help with something like this — it's just a sense of unity," she said.

Stanek's mother is optimistic that soon Stephanie will be playing again with her 10 year old sister, Amanda and eight year old brother Austin.

"We're not going to give up," Stanek said. "We already have an appointment to get a second opinion and if we don't like what we hear the we'll go somewhere else until we find something we like."

Free-lunch policy set

Antioch Community High School District 117 announced its policy for free lunches for those students unable to pay the full price for meals.

To receive this special meal service, students must meet the federal guidelines and the meals must meet the requirements established by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture (exceptions are made for those with a disability requiring a special meal prescribed by a physician).

The following criteria will be used to determine eligibility for free lunches. As an example, meals are available to those with a household size of two and an annual income of $15,522, or a weekly income of $299. Free meals are available to those with a household size of four and an annual income of $23,530, or a weekly income of $453.

Applications are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. Additional forms are available in the principal's office.

All applicable questions should be answered. An incomplete application cannot be processed and approved by the school.

Households that currently receive food stamps or TANF (temporary assistance for needy families) for the children need only list the name of the children and the food stamp or TANF case number and sign the application.

All other households must provide the following information: names of all household members; the Social Security number of the adult household member signing the application, or the word "none" if the adult does not have a Social Security number; the amount of income each household member received last month and where it came from (wages, child support, etc.) and the signature of an adult household member.

The school must be notified in the event of a change in household income of $50 per month or $600 per year, or if the household size decreases. Additionally, families must notify the school if they no longer receive food stamps or TANF for their children.

This program may be applied for at any time within the school year as a situation or situations change making a household eligible. In certain cases, foster children are eligible for these meals regardless of household income.

Pool remains open through August

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

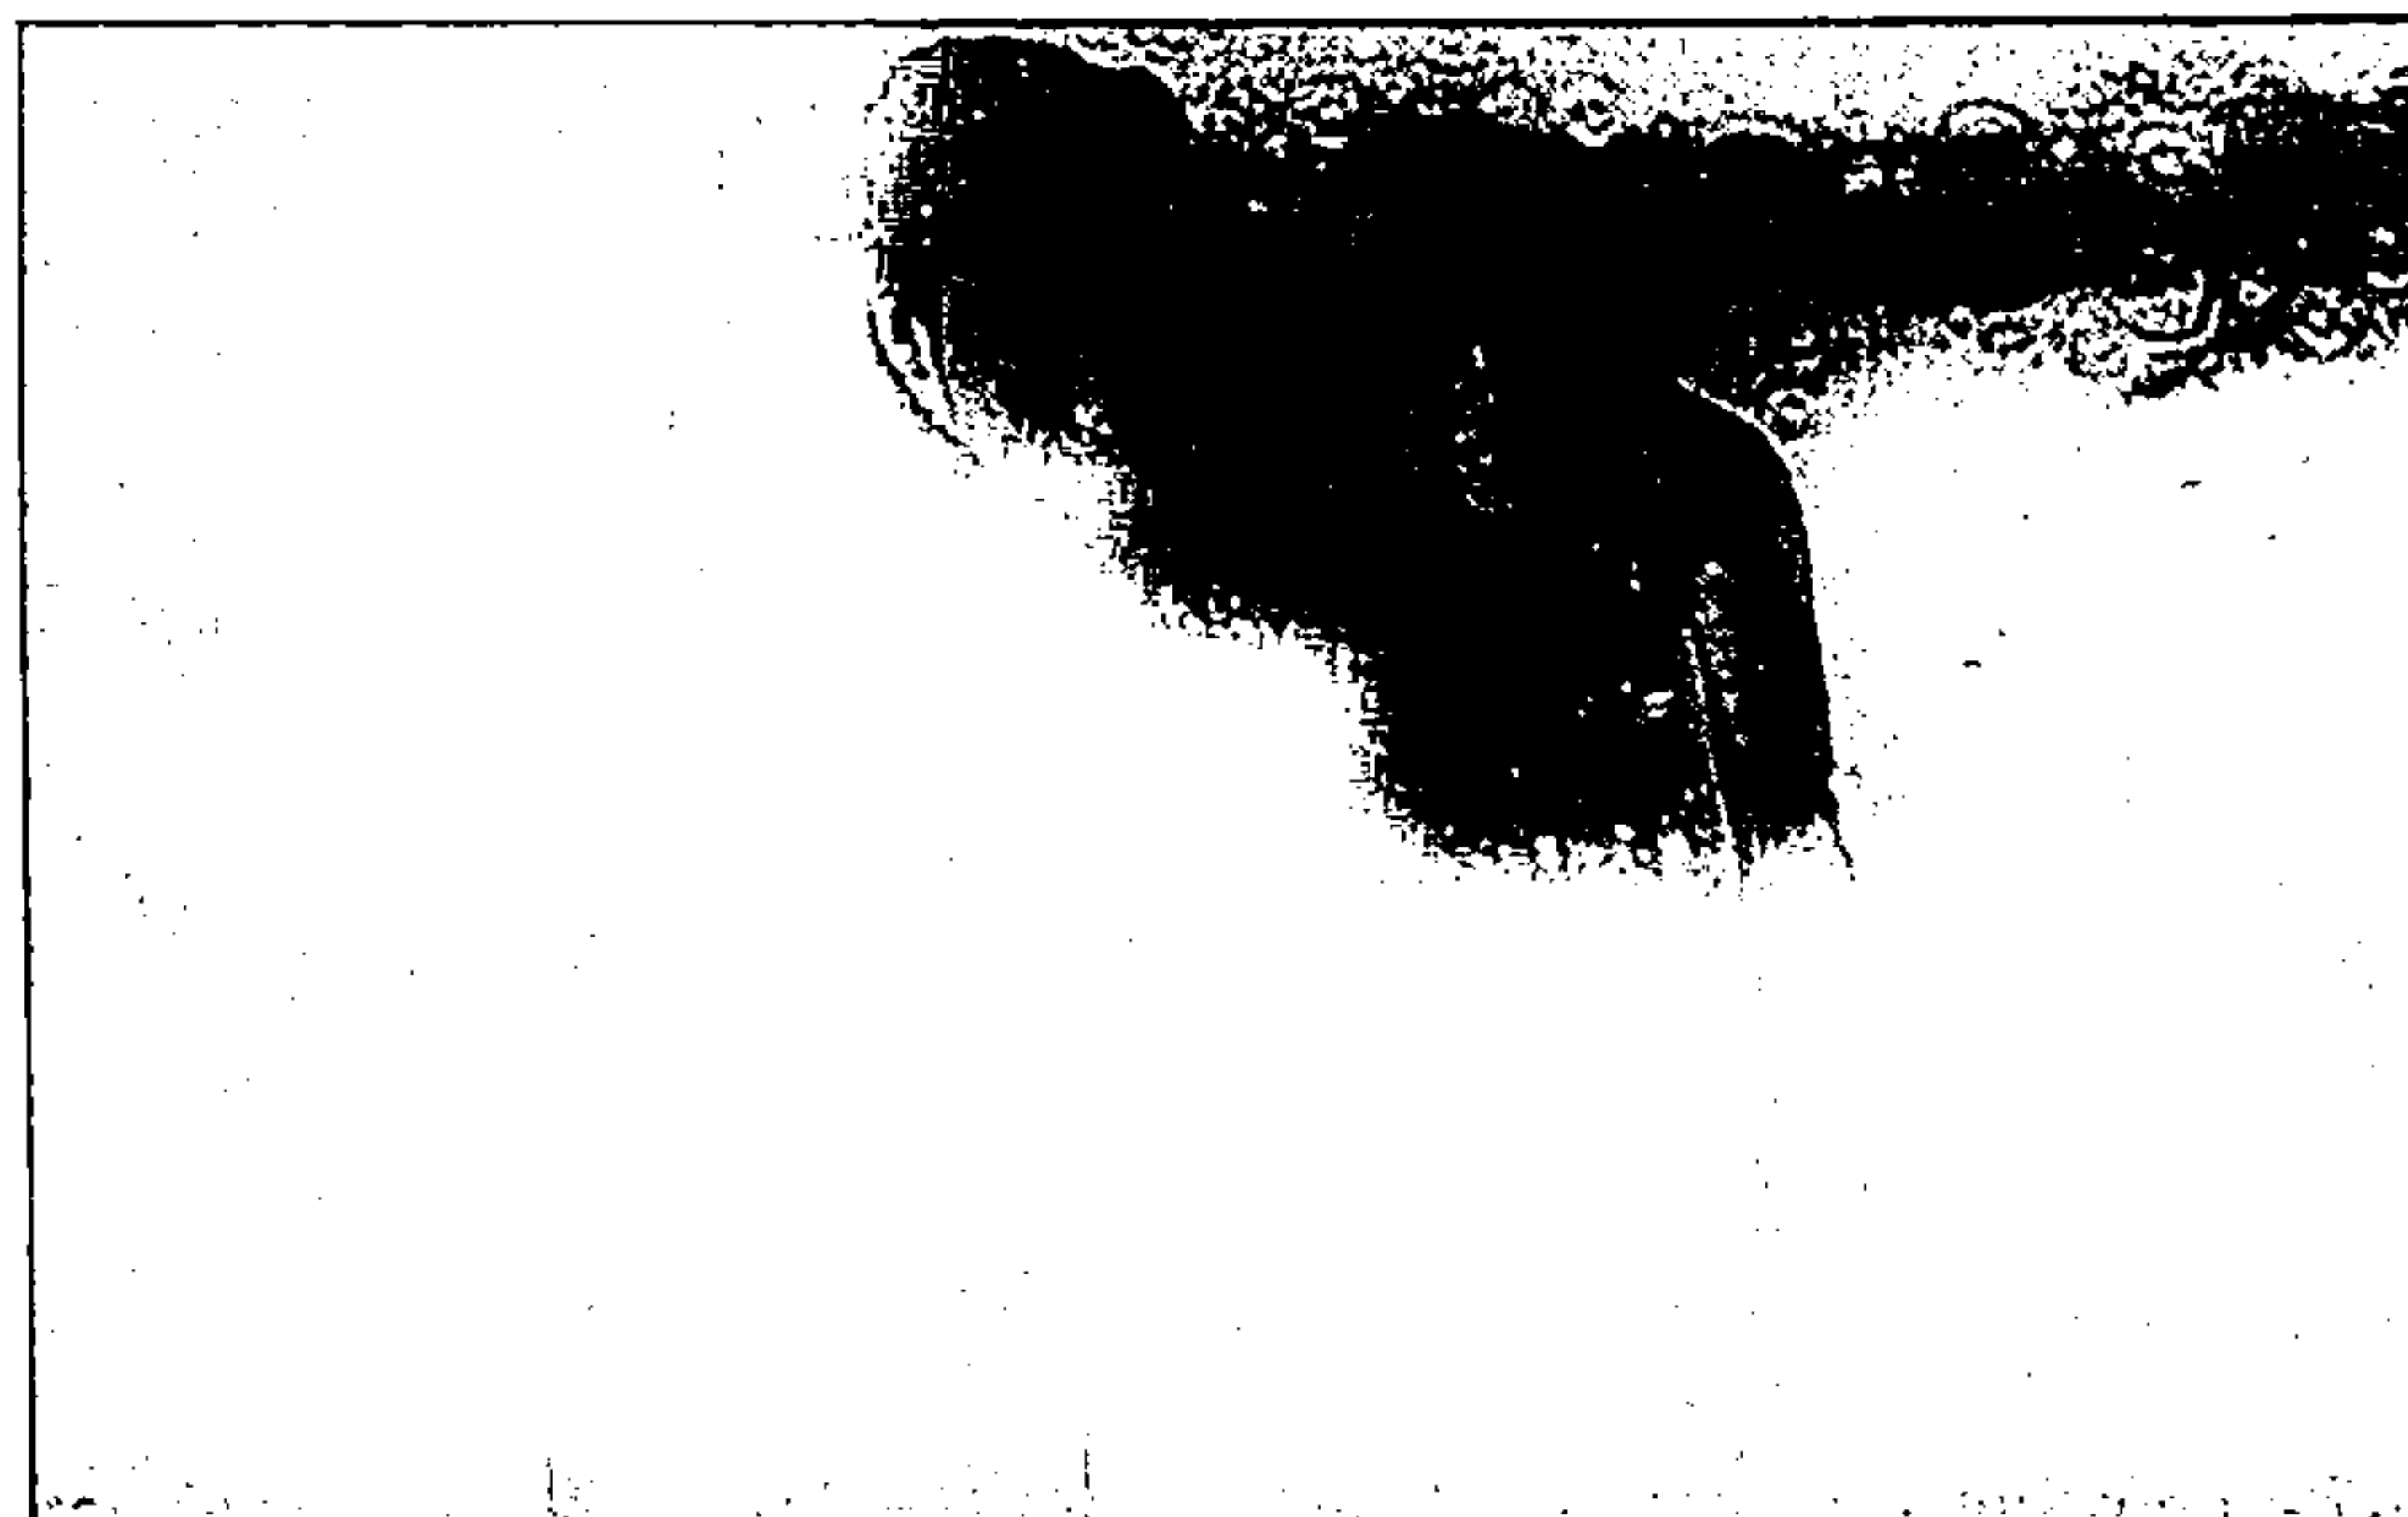

Unlike last year, staffing the pool all the way through the end of August shouldn't pose any problems.

"This year the high school is starting a week later, so we should have plenty of lifeguards available," said Laurie Stahl, director of the Antioch parks department.

The last four days, Aug. 27-31, the pool will only be open from 4-8 p.m. This after school schedule will allow the pool to remain open through the end of the month.

Anyone with questions about the open hours should call the parks office at 847-395-2160.

"We can't have the pool open without ample supervision," said Stahl. "Fortunately, we're in good shape this summer."

Garage sale supports AJWC philanthropic activities

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Antioch is one of the few towns where going bargain hunting at garage sales also goes a long way to support the community.

The Antioch Jr. Woman's Club (AJWC) is holding a 50-member garage sale on Saturday, August 17 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. at the Antioch Senior Center, located at 817 Holbek Drive (behind the fire station on Orchard Street). Clothes, household items, toys, books and other miscellaneous items will be among the bargains to be had during this one-day sale.

"We have about 50 members in our club and we like to be able to contact as many of them as possible in recruiting volunteers for our various activities that raise money for the community and philanthropic causes," said Kubin. "We would like to use some of the proceeds to purchase an auto dialer for that purpose."

In the past, money raised by AJWC has supported local organizations including various Antioch area school programs, the Antioch Rescue Squad, the Antioch Food Pantry, the ALL (Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst) Parents Network, Guiding Eyes for the Blind, A Safe Place/Lake County Crisis Center and Save a Life Foundation, YMCA, American Cancer Society, and the Parkinson's Foundation.

Kubin added, "Given the size of our club, there will be a wide variety of merchandise at the garage sale."

Kausack Memorial benefit scheduled

Fund-raiser to serve multiple purposes

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

Fliers invite families to "get Charged Up" for the Adam J. Kausack Memorial Benefit, to be held on Saturday, Aug. 17, from 3-9 p.m. at the Antioch VFW, 75 North Ave., Antioch. The event will feature food, games, a DJ and an auction. Admission is $10 for adults and includes a dinner entrée. Children under 5 are admitted free.

The family-friendly event is intended to serve four purposes.

First, it is intended to raise public awareness about Long QT Syndrome (LQTS), a congenital heart defect that is often fatal. The condition causes arrhythmia (irregular heartbeats). An emotional argument, a sudden scare or even ordinary physical exercise can cause the heart to beat in an uneven rhythm, reaching a rate of as many as 350 beats per minute.

Last January, the Kausack family lost a 15-year-old son, Adam, to LQTS. The boy's father and two younger brothers also suffer from this condition. The younger boys, Andy, 11, and Alex, 9, attend Lake Villa C.C. School District 41. Adam was a student at Grayslake Community High School (GCHS).

"Aug. 17 would have been his 16th birthday," said Adam's mother, Colleen, explaining why the date was chosen for the event.

Secondly, it is a fund-raiser to help the Kausack family recover some of the 6-figure costs incurred by past and ongoing medical bills.

All of the males in the Kausack family have been marked by LQTS. Adam's younger brother, Andy, 11, has a defibrillator implanted in his chest. It has saved his life several times. The youngest brother, Alex, 9, is undergoing tests and is on maintenance medication. The boys' father, Don, has also been diagnosed with LQTS, as well as Polycythemia Vera, a blood disorder.

The third cause for the benefit is to establish a scholarship in Adam's memory. The family is in the process of forming a foundation. The first scholarship will be awarded to a GCHS graduate in 2004, the year Adam was to have graduated.

Finally, the family is attempting to help the rest of the community, by raising money for automatic external defibrillators (AEDs) to be located in schools in the area.

Those unable to attend the fund-raising event are invited to send donations to the Adam J. Kausack Memorial Fund, Account #0710784947, First Midwest Bank, 300 N. Hunt Club Rd., Gurnee, 60031.

For more information about the Aug. 17 benefit, call Roberta Kleinschmidt at 847-548-4425 or Gina Kruk at 847-356-7578.

Antioch makes advanced plans

I think part of the reason so many neat things happen in and around Antioch is that all the clubs and organizations seem really good at making plans in advance.

The Antioch Library Friends has its second annual Appraisal Luncheon, planned for Sept. 17, underway. Advance reservations are being taken, as seating is limited.

Friends and residents are invited to bring one antique or collectible item for a free appraisal at the luncheon being held at The Colony House in Trevor, Wis. at 11:30 a.m. Appraisals are available for a wide variety of antiques including jewelry, china, knick-knacks, kitchen utensils and other family heirlooms.

The lunch will feature a main entrée (tenderloin tips over rice, grilled chicken breast and pasta or pasta and vegetables with Alfredo sauce), tossed salad, vegetable, bread, dessert and coffee or tea for $20 for Antioch Library Friends Members and $25 for non-members.

Reservations must be prepaid and are being taken at the library reference desk. Reservations can be mailed to Antioch Library Friends, 757 Main Street, Antioch, IL 60002.

Checks should be made to Antioch Library Friends in the proper amount. Don't forget to include name, address and desired entrée in the reservation request.

Preference will be given to members. Reservations will be accepted until Sept. 3. Tickets will not be available at the door.

For more information, call Anne Schultz, vice president, at 847-838-1359.

Antioch Community High School class of 1983 is looking for classmates to organize and gather for the 20th class reunion.

A small committee is trying to get the word out by word-of-mouth and would appreciate any help it can get. Log on to www.classmates.com.

The reunion is scheduled for Aug. 9, 2003 at the Concorde Banquets in Kildeer, Ill.

If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town" call staff reporter Julie Murphy at 847-223-8161, ext. 600 or e-mail, moorfie@ix.netcom.com

Laning takes 2002 Lindenhurst crown

Village's 1st Junior Miss Lindenhurst paves the way for a pageant dynasty

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

Lindenhurst's Laning family is raising a crop of queens. Leading the way, Christine Laning, Miss Lindenhurst 2002, claimed her second village crown at the Lindenfest pageant on Aug. 8.

Laning, 17, was Lindenhurst's very first Junior Miss in 1997.

She's been playing "leap-frog" for pageant titles with her little sister, Michelle, who was selected Little Miss in 1995 and Junior Miss in 1999.

"I think she could be Lindenhurst's first 'three-peat' queen," said Christine.

Junior Miss Lindenhurst 2002, Autumn Unrein, may be on her way to her own three-peat crown. Autumn, 11, wore the Little Miss crown in 1997, the same year Christine Laning was Junior Miss. The two girls were delighted to be representing Lindenhurst together again.

"I'm following Christine," laughed Autumn, in a post-pageant interview. "It feels really cool to be with her again." The two girls have stayed close since they were first crowned together.

Julia Bauschke, 7, the new Little Miss Lindenhurst, had a run at the title last year, and was selected first runner-up. Undaunted, she tried again this year.

Julia was also following in a big sister's footsteps, as her sister, Anna, was Little Miss Lindenhurst 1998. Anna is expected to try for the Junior Miss crown next year.

Autumn's younger sister, Skye, was one of Julia's competitors this year.

Two of the new queens also won Miss Congeniality, an award voted by the contestants. This peer recognition went to Julia Bauschke and Autumn Unrein.

At the Miss level, the award went to Amy Matteson.

Runners-up were Katie Lutz, Melanie Kudra and Kate Hohenstatt, in the Miss, Junior Miss and Little Miss categories, respectively.

The pageant committee gave out its own awards, as well. The "Shining Star" award for perseverance went to Rhonda Geisler, Tara Muir and Kayla Nelson, at the Miss, Junior Miss and Little Miss levels, respectively. The 2002 Spirit Award for good sportsmanship went to Miss Lindenhurst contestant Jenni Pocrnich.

As in past years, local dentist Robert A. Bard gave out a $100 "prettiest smile" award. This year's winner was Katie Lutz.

The $1,000 Miss Lindenhurst scholarship is provided by Raymond Chevrolet and Oldsmobile, who also provided cars for the girls to ride in during the Lindenfest Parade.

Other prizes won by the girls included gift packages and an overnight stay at Embassy Suites in Chicago for the 2001 and 2002 queens.

Personality key for Lindenhurst Queens

Each of the three Lindenhurst pageant winners has a strong personality, and a clear idea of who she is and what she wants.

Miss Christine Laning, 17, entering her senior year at Grayslake Community High School (GCHS), hopes to attend Notre Dame or Valparaiso, where she plans to major in business.

"I want to be close enough to get home for visits, but far enough away to experience my own space," she explained.

She loves to travel and ranks Quebec and Alaska among her favorite places.

She believes the timing is perfect for her to win the competition.

"I wouldn't want to have to interrupt college to serve as queen," she said. She admitted she might have a challenge fitting in her participation in Poms, but noted that school remains her first priority. She maintains a 4.0 (out of 4) GPA at GCHS.

She does not plan to enter other pageants after the 2003 County Fair pageant.

"Maybe, one day, I will be a local pageant director, like Marilyn (Gregorin)," she said.

Junior Miss Autumn Unrein, 11, in the sixth grade at Millburn School, believes she can fit in all her current activities, including biking, cheerleading and gymnastics.

She maintains a straight "A" average at school. When she grows up, she wants to be a marine biologist because she loves the ocean, especially manatees and dolphins. An animal lover, she has a cat, a dog and a tortoise.

The former Little Miss Lindenhurst 1997 plans to try for a three-peat win when she is old enough to run for Miss Lindenhurst.

Little Miss Lindenhurst 2002, Julia Bauschke, 7, a second-grader at B.J. Hooper Elementary School, loves dancing, playing iceless hockey and participating in Brownie Scouts.

Her favorite subject in school is math.

She found the pageant process fun.

"None of it was hard for me," she said. She had the most fun getting ready for the pageant, and getting a new dress and shoes for the big night.

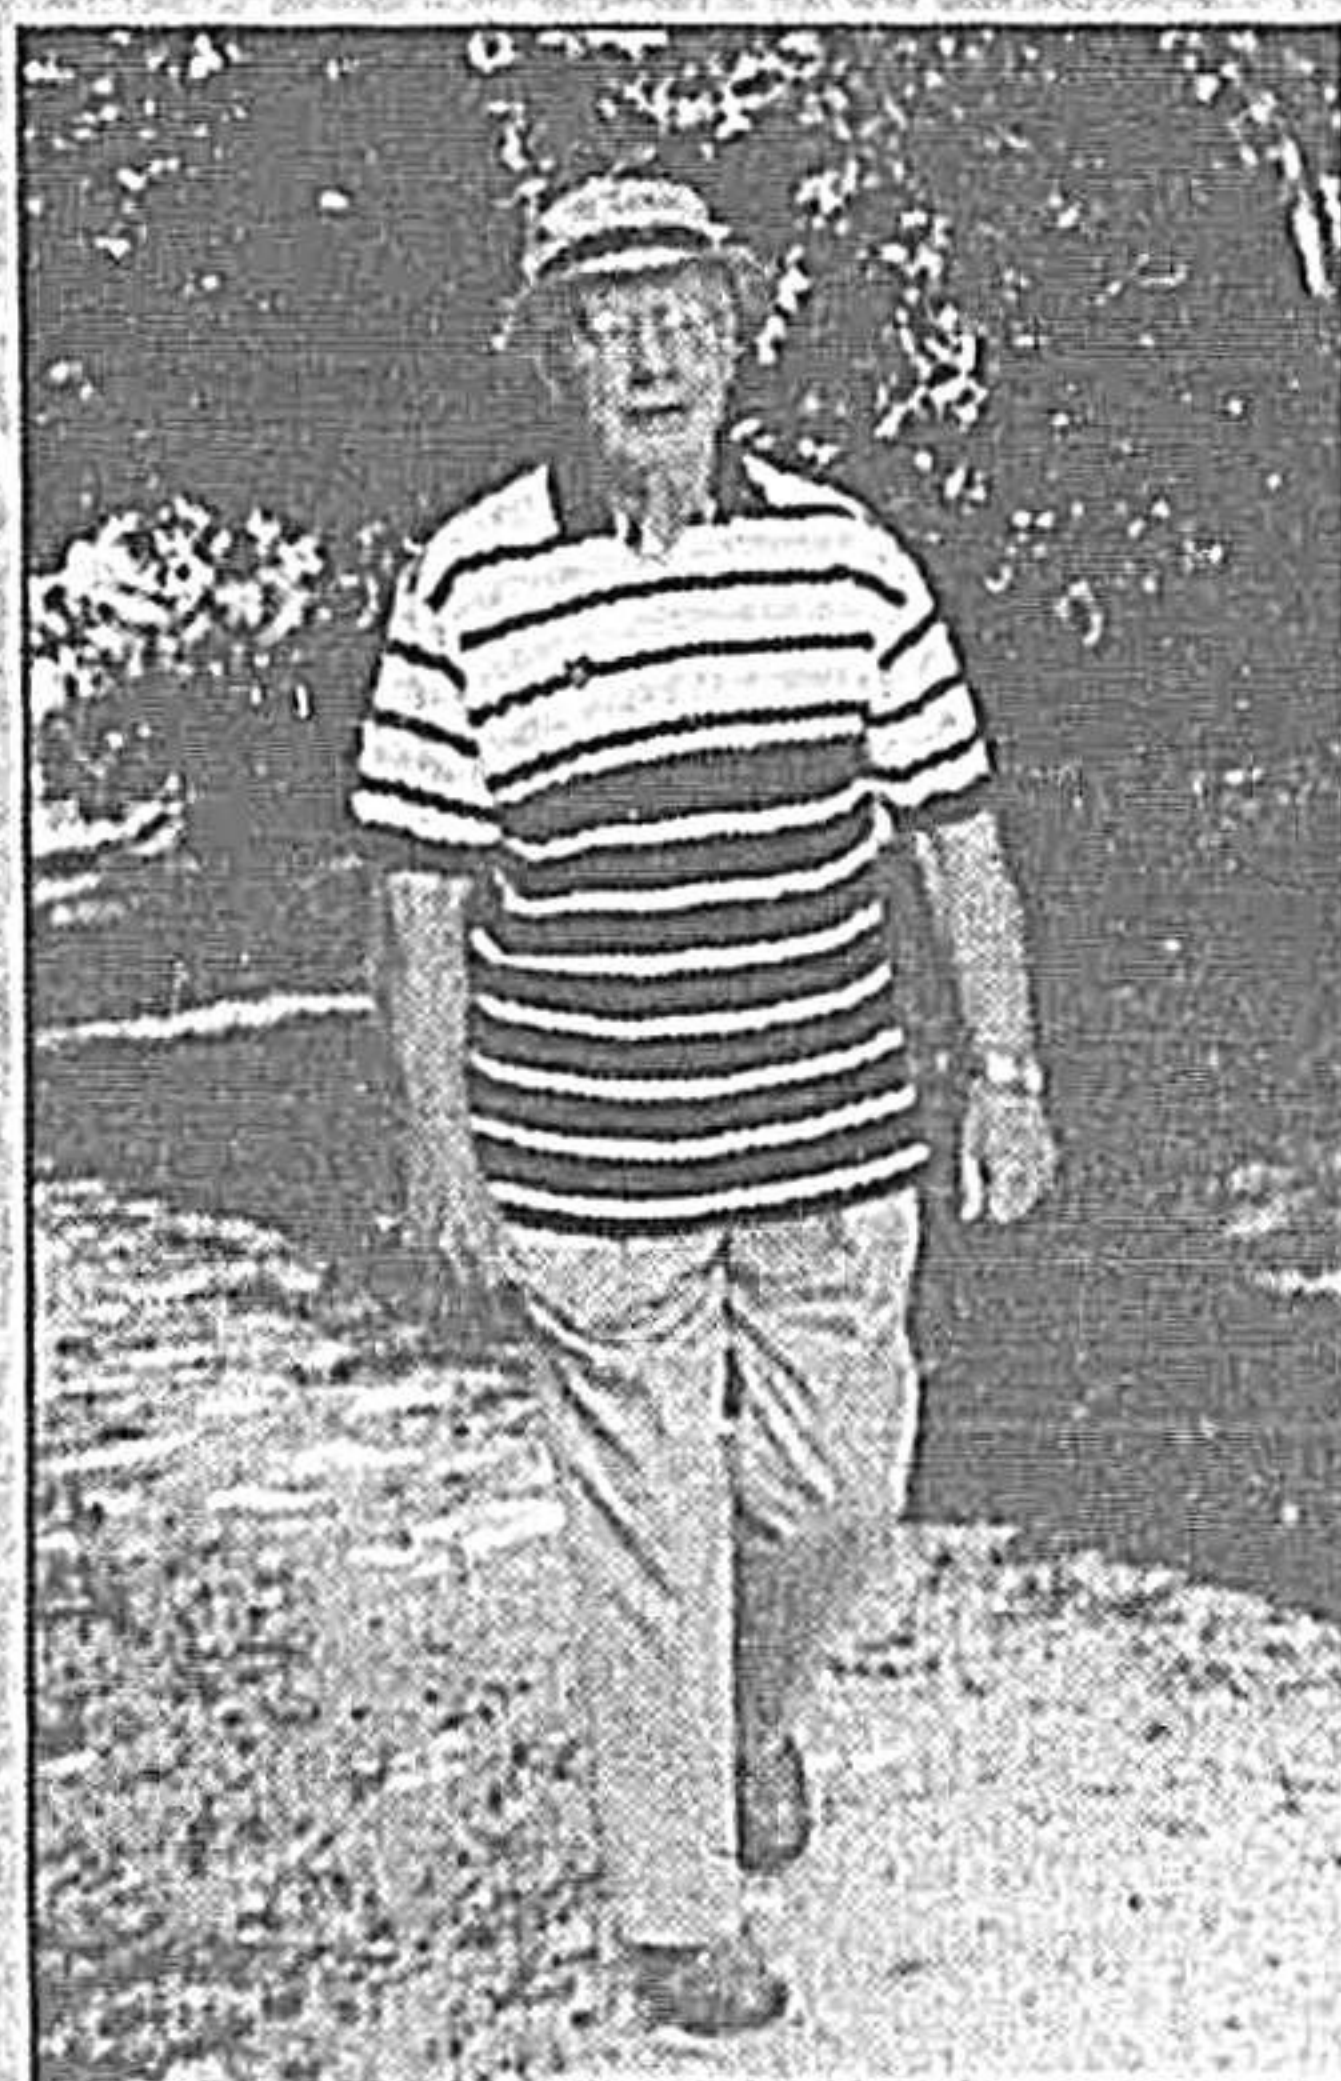

She most looks forward to meeting new people, and said the best advice she got before the pageant was, "Smile, and do your best." And she did.

How to have a successful school year

Planning ahead will help you and your child have a successful school year. Establish a regular routine for school mornings, after school, homework, and bedtime. When your child knows what is expected, he or she will be happier and will do better in school.

Before school begins

Remember to register for school on time. Take your child with on registration day. Use that time to locate all the classrooms. Find their locker and practice opening the lock. If the teacher is there, use that time to introduce yourself and your son or daughter. Make sure your child knows where the bus stop is.

Buying supplies

Take an inventory of what supplies are available at home before dashing off to the store. Don't forget to check that backpack for supplies leftover from the last school year. If possible, take each child shopping separately. Purchase several sheets of white posterboard, construction paper, colored pencils, glue, and a permanent black marker to keep at home for school projects. When your child remembers at 9:00 PM that a project is due tomorrow, you won't need to run off to the store. Buy extra lined paper, pencils, pens, erasers, folders, and notebooks for a school supply drawer or box at home. Be sure to label all supplies, backpack, gym shoes, and jackets with your child's name. For safety, be sure all names on clothing and backpack are written on the inside.

School mornings

Each child should have his or her own alarm clock and use it. Make a schedule for the bathroom time for each child. If lunches are made the night before, mornings will run smoother. Have a designated place for each child to put backpacks, musical instruments, and anything else they need to bring to school. Before bedtime, make sure the necessary items are in that spot.

Allow time for breakfast. Studies have proven that children who eat a good breakfast do better in school. If you drive your children to school, avoid bickering by rotating who sits in the front seat. The youngest child can sit in the front on Monday, the middle child on Tuesday, and the oldest on Wednesday.

After school

If you are home when your child arrives from school, use that time to sit down and find out about their day. That is when they will want to talk. Have a code word (something unusual) known only by you and your children. In an emergency if a neighbor or relative should need to pick your child up from school, you would give that person the code word to give to your child. That would assure your child it is OK to go with that person. Let your child know the names of several people you would trust to pick them up. Change the code word if necessary. If your child is not old enough to be trusted with a key, make sure they know where to go if you are not home. Have phone numbers posted at home of the parent's work place and trustworthy neighbors and relatives. Post a schedule of chores for each child for after school and Saturdays. When chores are done, then they can have free time.

Dinnertime

Life is short and children grow up too quickly. Plan on having dinner as a family. Use that time to discuss each person's day. If necessary, use a timer and give each person five minutes to talk with everyone else just listening. After dinner, have everyone do something to clean up the kitchen.

Homework

Schedule a regular time and place every day for homework. Some children need a quiet place such as a desk in their room to study. Other children are able to sit at the kitchen table to work. Be available to help with homework, but don't do it for them.

Teach your child to proofread their work. Many mistakes can be avoided by proofreading. Don't hesitate to call the teacher if your child is struggling with homework or unsure what to do. Have a special file folder for each child's important papers, report cards, school calendars, and sports schedules.

After all homework is done, ask your child if they have any special projects they need to start working on. Then have your child put everything in their backpack and put it in a designated place so it is ready to take to school in the morning.

Bedtime and before

Schedule a regular bedtime for children according to their age. Children and teens need more sleep than adults do. Don't allow sleepovers on school nights. Have each child decide on clothing to wear to school the next day and set it out.

Read a story together before bedtime to help your child unwind or allow them to read in bed 20-30 minutes before the lights go out.

Extracurricular activities

Limit television and video games on school days. Don't allow your child to get over committed. Too many after school activities will interfere with their grades.

If a child begins in a music or sports program, don't let them quit too soon. Encouraging a child to "stick it out" for the season teaches commitment. Schedule at home music practices as part of the homework process.

Don't let your teenager work at jobs too many hours or until too late an hour on school nights. Grades will surely suffer if work is a priority over school.

The parent's role

Put surprise notes of love and encouragement in your child's lunch or room. Attend back to school nights, music, or sport events that your child is involved in. Celebrate a special school event by stopping for ice cream on the way home. Mark your calendar and planner with their events and days off so you won't forget.

Establish family rituals such as Friday pizza and family movie night or Saturday family game night. Time spent together is time well spent.

Praise your children for what they do right! Encourage them to always do their best, but don't expect perfection. Always send your children out the door with a good word and lots of love!

Mother/son date night limited

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

It's time to purchase tickets for the third annual mother/son cosmic bowling date night. "This is a very popular event," said Laurie Stahl, parks and recreation department director. "Tickets are limited to 70 couples."

The event will be held on Sunday, Sept. 15 at the Antioch Bowling Lanes from 6-8 p.m. The evening will feature cosmic bowling, Scotch doubles and crazy bowling. Bumper bowling will be made available upon request.

The fee to attend is $15 per couple for Antioch residents and $25 for non-residents.

Moms with more than one son won't have to make a choice which one to bring; $5 per child covers the cost for extras.

Pizza and pop will be served, rental shoes will be provided and memorable photo will be given to each couple as part of the admission price. Because this is a family event, no smoking or drinking will be allowed.

Register at the parks and recreation department office located at 806 Holbek Drive. For more information, call 847-395-2160.

"We sold out of tickets early last year, and expect that we will do the same again this year," said Stahl. "Those wanting to attend shouldn't wait to get their tickets."

Golf outing raises over $7,000 for Chamber

By CHRISTY BLANDFORD
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce's annual golf outing hosted 96 golfers this year — one of the largest numbers to date.

The July 31 outing netted a gross amount of $7,200, Chamber director Barbara Porch said, but she maintains that the profits are not what makes the event successful each year.

"It was definitely successful," she said. "Even if we had less golfers, it would be because everybody had a good time and the weather was pleasant — it was a little hot, but it was nice."

Participants were charged $75 for a day of golf at the Antioch Golf Course and dinner at the Harbor Club, with all proceeds going to the Chamber, Porch said.

In this year's hole-in-one challenge, participants were given the opportunity to putt for either a new car or truck from Raymond Chevrolet or Country Pontiac, but none of the golfers were successful in that endeavor.

Even though the hole-in-one challenge didn't prove to be the highlight of the day, Porch said the service did.

"It was like first-class service all day long," Porch said. "They were loading our bags into our carts and the quality of the food was excellent."

The Chamber is in the process of planning for next year's golf outing, which Porch hopes will take place at the Antioch Golf Course again, depending on the venue's construction schedule.

Screening can reduce risk of stroke

Residents living in and around can be screened to reduce the risk of having a stroke.

Life Line Screening will be at the St. Peter Catholic Church, Frawley Hall, on Friday, Aug. 23, and appointments begin at 9 a.m. The church is located at 557 Lake Street, by the Jewel store.

Screenings are fast and painless, involving the use of ultrasound technology. They scan for potential health problems related to blocked arteries that can lead to stroke, aortic aneurysms that can lead to a ruptured aorta and hardening of the arteries in the legs that is a strong predictor of heart disease.

Also offered, for men and women, is a bone density screening to assess for risk of osteoporosis.

Each screening requires 10 minutes or less and costs $40. A complete vascular screening includes the carotid/stroke artery screening, abdominal aortic aneurysm and ankle brachial index screenings for $99. Add osteoporosis screening for $125.

Pre-registration is required. For more information and to schedule an appointment, call 800-643-6188.

LINDENFEST

Lindenhurst Police chief Jack McKeever stepped out as Parade Grand Marshal, wearing a red rose on his white uniform shirt. He denied the rose would become a regular part of the required police uniforms.

Parade winners were announced at the regular board meeting.

"Most creative entry" was State Bank of the Lakes' "Surfin' Safari, which featured palm trees and Hawaiian shirts. Mini-beach balls were thrown at the crowd.

"Best float entry" was Fairfield Road Baptist Church Puppeteers, with a giant whale-shared puppet theater, decked in patriotic stars and stripes.

"Best tribute to a musical era" went to St. Mark Lutheran Church's Praise Band, still rocking after an hour-and-a-half of parading.

Most enthusiastic entry was the Lake Villa Township Timberwolves cheerleaders, who seem to take the category regularly.

The Lindenfest Committee Award went to the Antioch Community High School Sequoias

Marching Band with its non-stop performance of songs from "West Side Story."

The Mayor's Choice Award was given to Don Mayer and the Lake Villa Fire Protection District for the antique fire truck that has appeared in parades for at least 8-9 years, according to Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk.

Fire department representatives were unavailable to receive the award, as they were out responding to a drowning incident in Antioch. (See story on page 3.)

Entertainment at the event drew large and varied crowds. State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) was seen enjoying the somewhat mystifying performance by Magic Dave.

Village trustee Barb Stout enjoyed getting a shoulder massage from mime Gary Devar, who also took a turn at calling Bingo numbers—without ever saying a word.

American English, a Beatles cover group, drew a large crowd on Aug. 10. Lindenfest committee estimates were set at 5,000, but the figure, based on beer consumption, is disputed by McKeever, who suspects there was more than one beer to a customer on the hot August night.

This year's budget for the expenses of putting on the four-day fest was $45,000. The money was raised from last year's Lindenfest.

"We don't make money on this," explained Lindenfest, Inc. President Ken Czyniewicz. "The money is used to pay for the next Lindenfest."

He noted that any funds left over are recycled into the community through donations to organizations such as PADS, which provides shelter to homeless people, or to bands, scouts and athletic organizations.

Lindenfest is powered by a team of 300 volunteers, who work tirelessly all year to create the festival and spend most of the four days working at the site. The Bingo tent alone accounts for 70 volunteers to keep the numbers rolling. Village trustee Jim ("Mr. Bingo") Betustak reported all Bingo cards were sold out on Saturday night.

This year, the popular Mayor's auction brought in a record-breaking $5,393, as the beer booth broke records, too, with $14,000 worth of brew going down thirsty throats.

Drinking age was carefully monitored. Trustee Carl Norlin reported "even 90-year-olds had to wear wristbands to get served." Patrons were also monitored to make sure no illicit sips were passed to underage drinkers.

Aside from a few minor personal tiffs, police reported no problems with the crowd. Some people attributed the good behavior to the well-controlled drinking environment.

Traffic control was provided by Police Explorers, a program for high school age youth that allows them to learn about police work by working with police.

Finally, Jim Streicher, who has probably attended most—if not all—Lindenfest, gave kudos to the public works department for doing a "fantastic job" at making the mess go away when the rides shut down, the tents folded, and the crowds left the grounds.

MUSEUM

"(The church museum) perpetuates history," Wonderling said. "It certainly maintains history because a lot of people don't know the early settlers established the church and they were responsible for naming Antioch."

Upon its completion, which is slated for late September, the museum will boast numerous exhibits including a one-horse buggy, old-time sleigh, a permanent Veterans exhibit and items from the school museum, located on Depot and Main Streets, which has reached its capacity, Lindblad said.

Space will also be available for "roving displays," which are sent throughout the state to various museums.

Museum directors are also trying to add appropriate church history exhibits in the museum.

"One thing we're trying to do is contact the churches in the area and get as much history as possible from the church and get a display on that," Lindblad said.

The Lasco house adjacent to the church museum will also be transformed into a resource center, Lindblad said, where Lake County residents can search computers for information on their ancestry as well as the county's history.

In addition to the Lasco house resource center, the Fine Arts Foundation located on the other side of the church museum adds to the rich history of the block in which all three are located, Lindblad said.

"The new displays will be a lot more on the history of Antioch and Lakes Area," he said. "Plus the fact that it's going to be that whole block — it's a beautiful spot when it comes down to it."

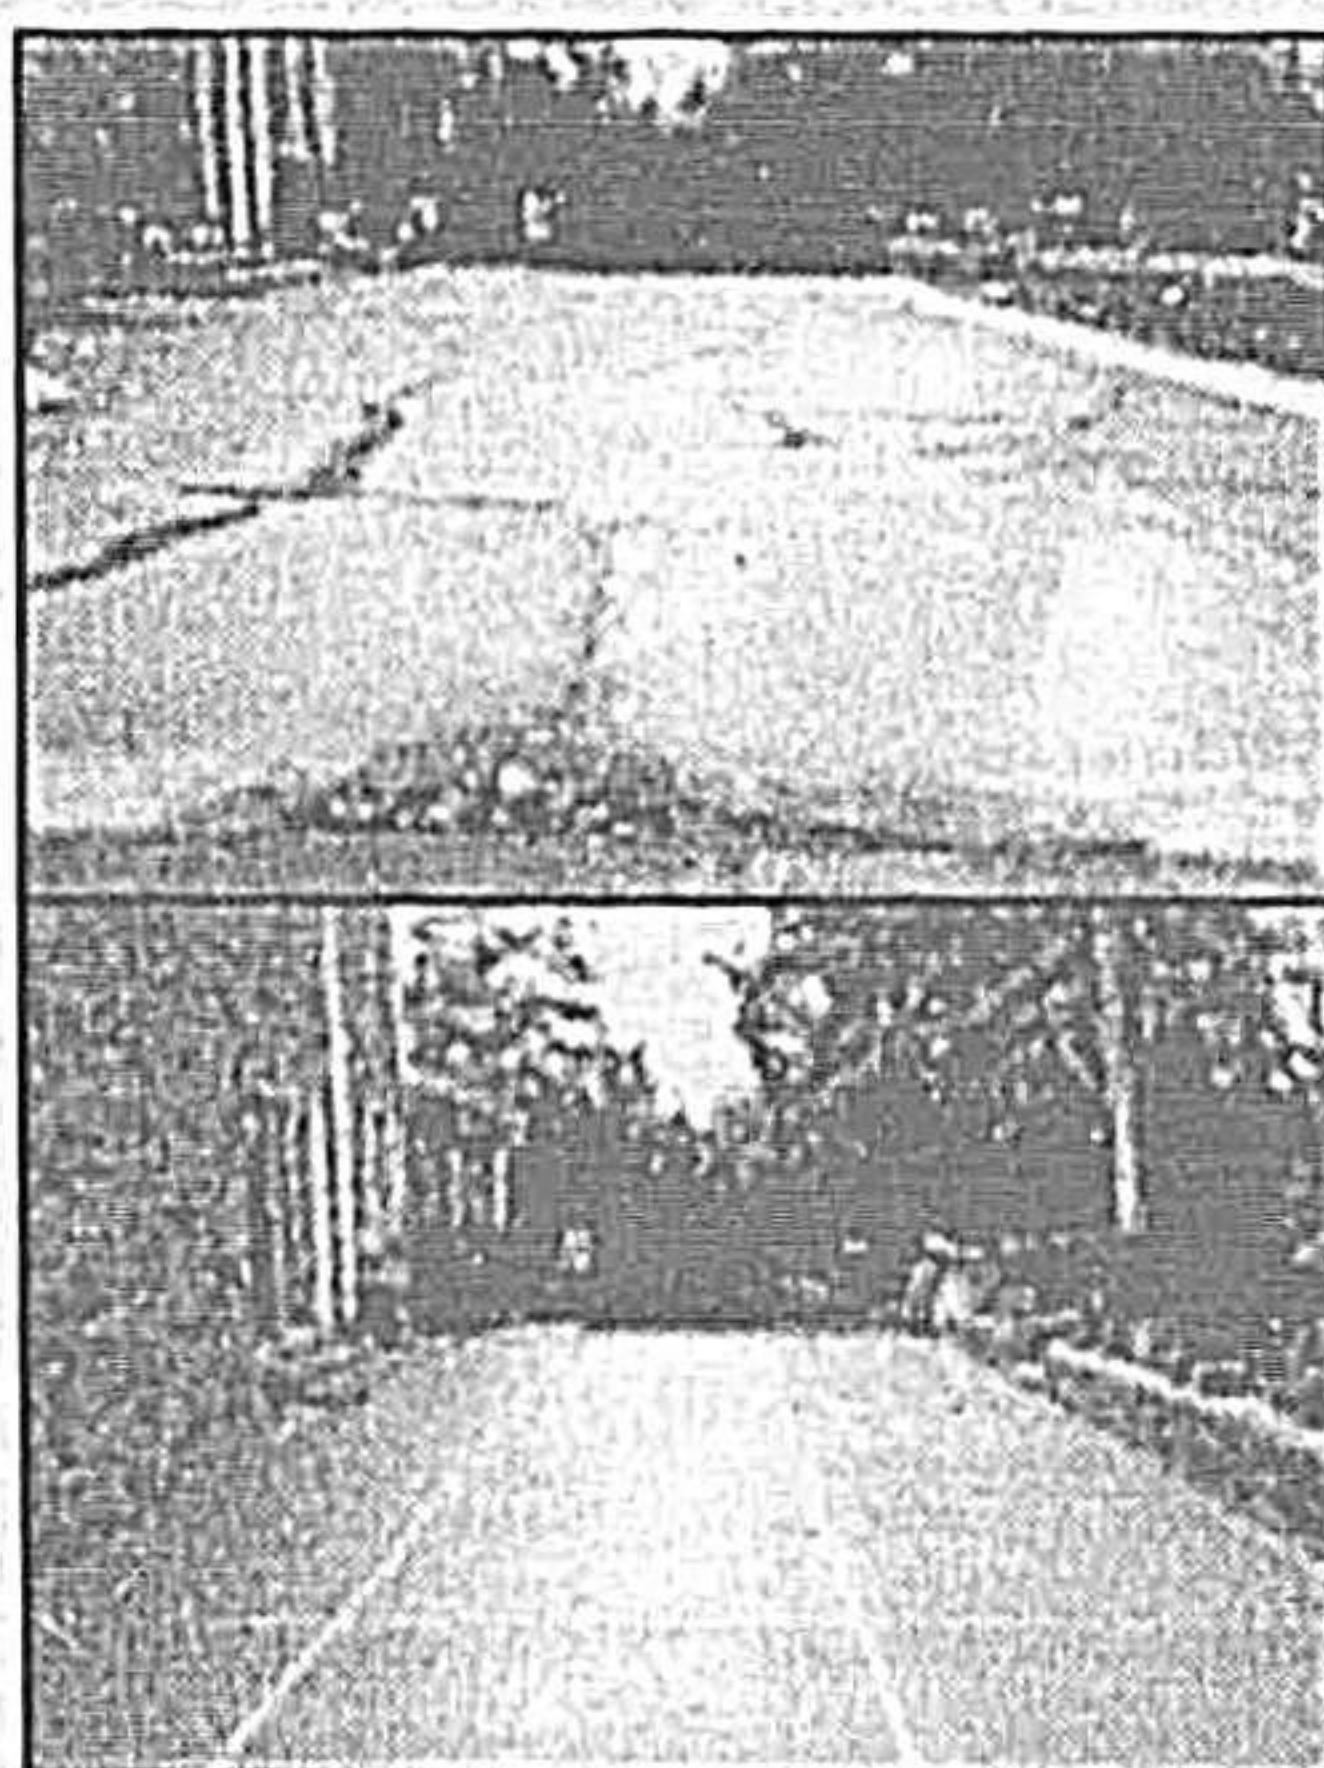

Lake County residents will be able to visit the museum for no charge upon its completion. Lindblad said the museum will be a great addition to Antioch, since it will showcase what the town has to offer.

"It's a pretty site, when you go into a lot of towns they have big-box stores," he said. "I've already had requests from other museums to have tours, so it's good because it brings people from the outside in."

For information on displaying family history at the Lasco resource center, call Wonderling at (847) 395-7337.

Always smiling, eighty-three-year-old Mary Jane Deyoe eagerly awaits to greet and accommodate customers in the golf shop at Carillon Golf Course in Grayslake. Deyoe has been working part-time at the course since it opened two years ago. — Photo by Sandy Bressner

All in the smile

In many cases, the smile tells the story. And chances are, 83-year-old Mary Jane Deyoe will greet you with one a mile wide when you step foot inside the Carillon North golf shop.

Deyoe has been working part-time as a golf shop attendant since the Grayslake course opened two years ago.

"When I applied (two years) ago, I didn't have any of the skills they were looking for, like previous golf course experience or computer skills," said Deyoe, who lives close to the course in Carillon North subdivision.

The only things I had to offer were being trustworthy, dependable, hard-working and honest. Traits that are hard to find.

And Deyoe, who didn't start playing golf until she was 53, has polished her skills where it comes to the computer.

"I didn't know anything about them (computers) when I started," she said. "I still get stuck once in awhile but overall, it's been a lot easier. I'm more relaxed with it."

Deyoe's duties include general customer service, supervision of the golf shop, and maintaining stock and inventory of all tangible items, like food supply and beverage stock.

Her responsibilities also transcend outside of the golf shop.

"I go out and fix the ball repair marks on the greens too, usually once every three days," said Deyoe.

But what makes Deyoe even more intriguing is the fact that a couple of short months ago, she broke her right shoulder after falling down several flights of stairs at her home.

"I was pretty fortunate, now that I look back," she said, as always, with a smile. "It could have been a lot worse. I could have hurt my neck or back."

Deyoe started therapy three weeks ago. She uses a pulley for stretching and loosening her shoulder and when needed, applies plenty of ice. She also uses a weighted broom for stretching and strengthening.

"It still gets stiff once in awhile but the golf swing actually helps it by keeping it mobile and in motion," said Deyoe, who, for not having any formal lessons, still shoots 35 on the par-27, 9-hole layout at Carillon.

"I usually try and get out and play twice a week. Basically muddle along. My mobility (in my shoulder) is about 80-90 percent now."

When Deyoe is not running the golf shop or playing, she simply likes to relax.

"I read a lot and tend to the flowers," she said. "I try to stay out of the heat, though, when it's too hot."

Golf Course Manager and Head PGA Professional Sam Zicarelli is certainly glad to have a person like Deyoe working for him.

"She's just delightful—a remarkable woman," said Zicarelli, who will retire on the 24th of this month. "She's friendly, outgoing and very sociable."

Characteristics Deyoe would like people to say about her.

"I just like being around people," she said.

And anyone who has ever visited Carillon North when Mary Jane is working will probably say the same about her.

Antioch youth girls baseball captures State title

By JOE PRUSKI
Correspondent

A state championship, an 11-1 record, and three wins by way of the 10-run rule in the state finals helped solidify the Antioch 9- and 10-year-old girls softball team as the most successful of all time.

Antioch, which earned the right to play in the state finals by winning both the regional and sectional, defeated Beardstown 10-2 in the championship game of the finals held in Freeport.

After defeating Chicago Ridge 20-10 in the finals opener, Antioch went on to beat LaSalle 10-0 in the second game. They then played Beardstown in regular play, beating them 12-10, before beating them again in the championship.

Antioch ace Allie Anttila pitched a shutout in game 2 of the finals to assure Antioch a place in the championship game.

According to manager Bill Seamon, it took a loss to South Elgin and then an uphill climb through the sectional, including a win over last year's runner-up Norridge, to prove to the team and coaches that anything was possible as long as the girls played like a team and stuck together.

"We knew how good we were after beating Norridge in the sectional," said Seamon. "We had to play them without our best pitcher who was sick. The team really gelled once they knew they could win without their best player."

Pins and medals were awarded to the players while regional, sectional, and state champion flags were awarded to the team.

"I've never seen so many missing teeth, braces, hugs and smiles after we won. It was great how happy the girls were," said Seamon.

"It was an amazing year for the kids. I hope they remember it for the rest of their lives. I know I will."

Seamon was quick to point out that simply playing, let alone winning a state championship, would be impossible without the time and support of the parents, and coaches.

"Without the support of the parents and coaches we wouldn't have had anything," he said.

Strong defense, hitting and aggressive base running was largely responsible for Antioch's success throughout the tournament and summer.

In the first game of the state tourney against Chicago Ridge, Samie Seamon surrendered only four hits while fanning seven out of the 28 batters she faced.

At the plate, Kaley Lindstrom knocked in five runs after smacking doubles in the first and third inning. She followed that up with an inside-the-park home run in the fourth frame.

Allie Anttila also got into the hitting act with singles in the first and fourth inning. She also doubled in the fourth and finished with three RBI.

Lightning strikes opponents once again this season

The Lake Villa Lightning upset the Northern Alabama Rebels en route to an impressive performance the Triple A USSSA World Series in Kansas.

The group of 12-year-olds finished ninth out of 280 teams in the Illinois State competition to earn their spot at the tournament.

The Lightning started the 88-team competition in first round pool play facing the Rebels, the top-ranked team from Alabama, and upset the southerners 5-1. Kyle Stroup put in a superb pitching performance in throwing a 2-hitter. The offensive attack was led by Jimmy Clancy, Joey DeBernardis, Kyle Stroup and Brent Gruber who all had hits in the game.

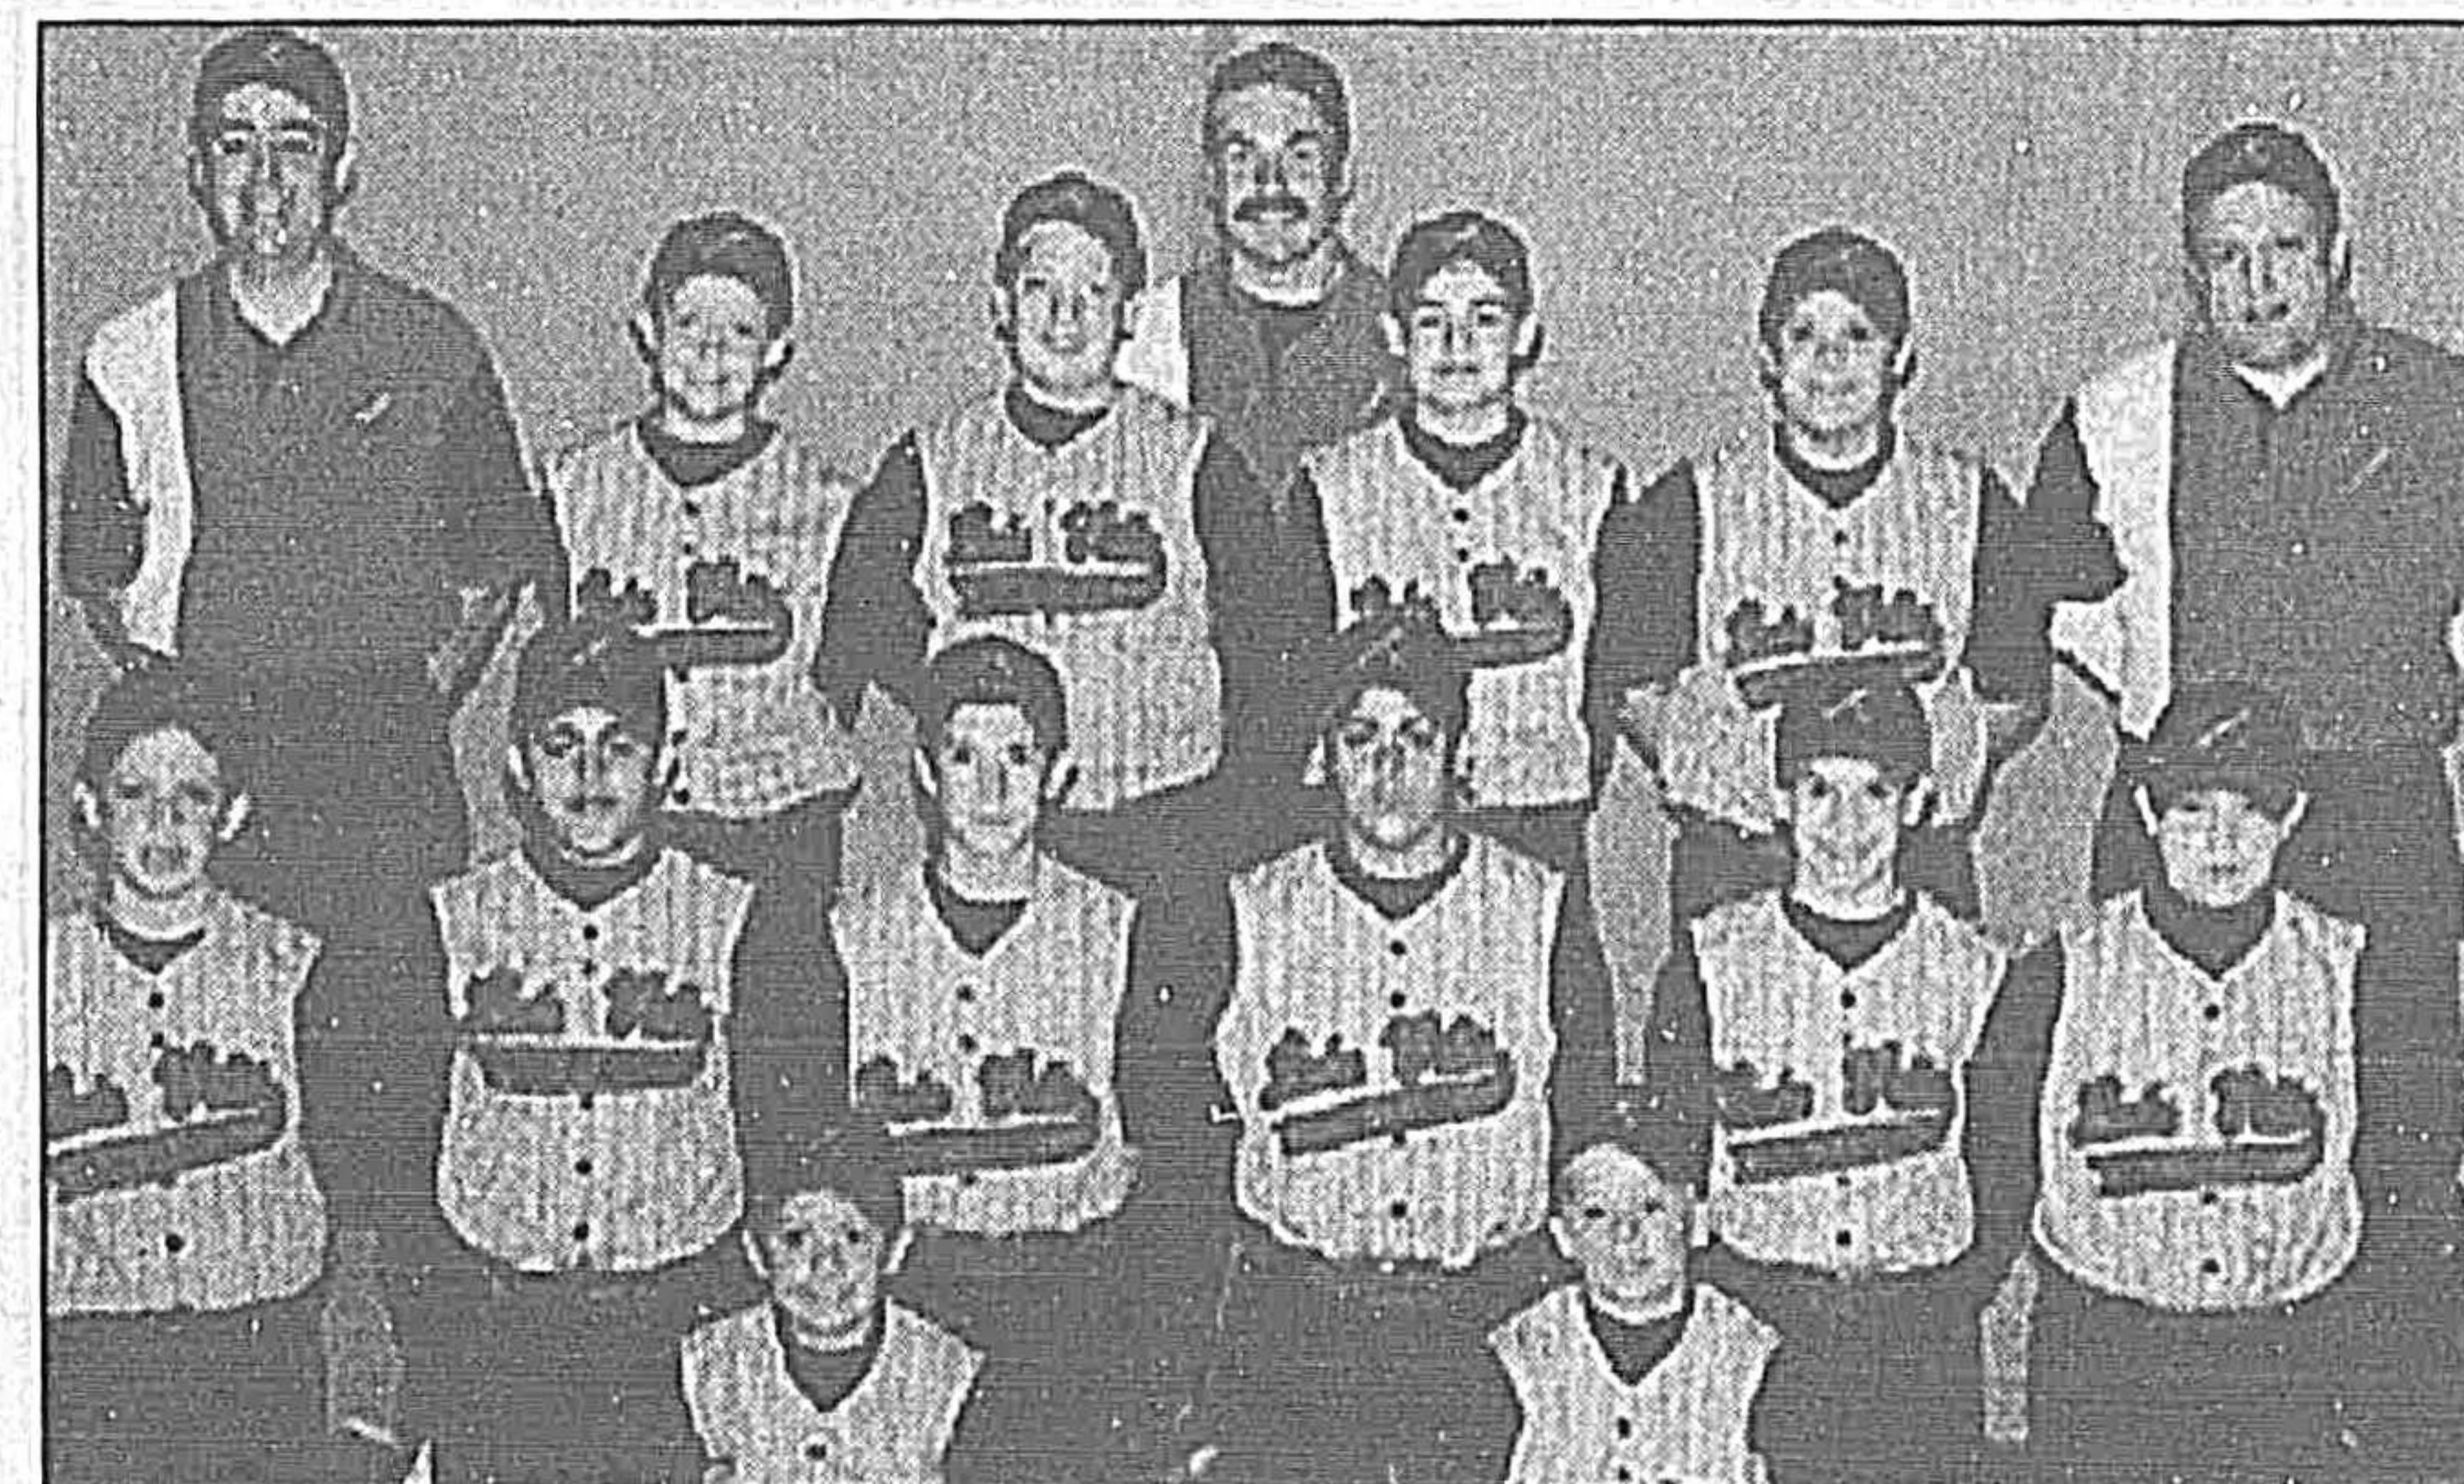

"It was a must win and a very exciting moment for these boys," Manager Rich Coles said. "They were nervous having never played at this level and I can't tell you how impressed us coaches were with their never say die performance."

The next round posed the Lightning with an equally challenging match up against the second-ranked team from Missouri, the Hammerheads.

"We had so much adrenaline at this point we could have beat anyone," said Coles. "It's a game the Hammerheads won't soon forget—that's for sure, we pounded out 12 hits and beat them on the 8-run rule after five innings."

Burg, DeBernardis, Coles, Ratajczyk, Jomar Vazquez and Eric Vazquez all had the hot bats. DeBernardis and Eric Vazquez combined for seven strikeouts while allowing only three runners to cross the plate.

To complete the initial round of World Series

The Lake Villa Lightning 12-year-old youth baseball team earned a trip to the Triple A USSSA World Series in Kansas by finishing ninth out of 280 teams in the Illinois State competition. The Lightning include (in no order) Alex Coles, Randy Ratajczyk, Dan Andrews, Eric Vasquez, Jomar Vasquez, Brice Walsh, Brent Gruber, Kyle Stroup, Kyle Frye, Joey DeBernardis, Jimmy Clancy and Joe Burg. The Lightning are managed by Rich Coles. Assisting Coles are coaches Ken Ratajczyk, John DeBernardis and Jim Clancy.

Play, the Lightning faced the Deerpark Renegades from Texas in extreme heat. With the score tied 2-2 after seven innings, the Lightning succumbed to a 3-2 extra inning defeat.

"This was one of the toughest losses ever," said Coles. "We gave it all we had in about 106-degree heat and came up a little short. I felt bad for them because they gave it their all. It was tied 2-2 at the end of seven and we almost pulled it off twice. It was a great experience to play a team that good and lose 3-2 in nine innings. You couldn't help but be proud of their effort."

The loss made Lake Villa the 17th seed heading into the winner's bracket for second-round play. That's where the Lightning faced the 16th-seeded Tennessee Blaze and jumped out to an early 7-2 lead. But once again, the weather took its toll and the Blaze rallied for a 10-8 victory.

"They had a pretty sharp pitcher who they brought in and he had our number," said Coles. "He had a nice curve and he was fresh off the bench. When he wasn't throwing a

Hawkeye tryouts Sept. 8

The Lakeland Hawkeye girl's softball organization will be holding tryouts for new athletes on Sun., Sept. 8 at Millennium Park in Lindenhurst. The park is located on Sand Lake Rd. just west of Rte. 45. Lakeland is a travel team based out of Northwest Lake County. Tryouts will be for the following teams and age groups: 14-year-old; 12-year-old; and, possibly for a 10-year-old team. A girl's age is determined by her age as of Jan. 1. The tryouts will run from 11 a.m.-1 p.m.

Interested candidates should report to the park regardless of the weather. For any questions, please call 847-838-0227.

curve, it was a pretty hard fastball. A lot of these teams stack up on pitching for the trip and with the heat, which was relentless. The Blaze simply outlasted us."

After the disappointing loss, Lake Villa dropped its next contest 2-0 to a team from Enid, Colorado to finish 29th overall and end a promising and entertaining tournament for the boys.

"Regardless of the won-loss record, if you look at the fact that we lost three games by a total of only five runs. In this tournament, of all tournaments we played this year, I couldn't be prouder," said Coles. "Everyone came to play, knowing it was our first-ever shot. Overall it was tremendous display of courage."

Lightning team members include: Jimmy Clancy, Eric Vazquez, Randy Ratajczyk, Joey DeBernardis, Alex Coles, Kyle Stroup, Brice Walsh, Joe Burg, Dan Andrews, Jomar Vazquez, Brent Gruber and Kyle Frye.

The Lightning would also like to thank the most dedicated traveling parents ever. The teams 75-game schedule would also not be possible without the support from the following sponsors: ULINE Shipping Supplies Specialists, North Shore Lending Group, Prime Time Saloon and Eatery, Awards by Kaydan, Port of Blamey, Grass Lake Grocery, Limerick Lounge, Marten Petersen Company, Premier Data Network, Robert E. ## ANTIOCH

Also hitting for Antioch included Jen Ignoffo (two doubles, three RBI), Tai Jaranson (single), and Bailan Reynolds (single).

Ignoffo also scored three runs, all coming when she stole home on passed balls.

In the victory over LaSalle in game 2, Anttila struck out 10 batters while only giving up one hit.

"Allie pretty much shut down the LaSalle offense with excellent pitching," noted Seamon.

Offensively, Anttila helped her own cause by knocking in two runs on a first-inning single and fourth-inning double.

Lindstrom also had a double, Reynolds a third-inning RBI single and Alisa Walizer and Melissa Lewis each had fourth-inning RBI singles.

Ignoffo and Kali Browning also had singles in the victory.

Anttila also scored two runs while Lindstrom and Walizer each scored one apiece.

Then, in the next round against Beardstown, Browning pitched the first two frames, allowing only one hit while striking out one. She was relieved by Melissa Lewis, who fanned three while giving up three hits and two runs over the next four innings.

Samie Seamon closed the door in the sixth when Antioch was awarded the victory.

Seamon faced four batters. She allowed no hits while fanning three.

At the plate, Lewis belted a fifth-inning inside-the-park home run to go along with two singles. Lindstrom kept up her solid hitting with a 3-run double in the first inning. Browning also had a 2-run single in the first. Also getting the sticks going were Anttila, Alyssa Voykin and Alvarez, all with singles. Seamon smacked two singles, one in the first and the other in the second inning.

Scoring runs a la the dreaded passed ball were Lindstrom, Ignoffo, Browning and Alvarez.

CLC NOTEBOOK

Tryouts Golf

Tryouts for the CLC golf team will be held Aug. 19-23 at White Deer Run Golf Course in Vernon Hills. Players are instructed to report to the driving range at 2 p.m. sharp the first day.

For further information please call Head Coach Larry Leon at 847-362-0626.

The first match for the Lancers will be at the Highland '36' on Fri., Aug. 30.

This year, CLC will return two letter winners in Kurt Kubicek of Wauconda and Justin Uhl from Libertyville. Kubicek qualified for Nationals in Phoenix this past season while Uhl came on strong at the end of last season to finish with an average of 82. For the 2001 season, Kubicek finished with an average of 81.

"We'll have a fresh group coming this fall," said Head Coach Larry Leon. "But we should be competitive once again in the Skyway Conference."

Women's soccer

Anyone interested in trying out for the College of Lake County women's soccer team should contact Head Coach Dave Beck by phone at 815-338-8219 or 847-543-2475. You may also contact Coach Beck by e-mail at cdbeck1968@aol.com. The Lady Lancers are the defending Skyway Conference champions.

Fall baseball at CLC

For the ninth consecutive year, College of Lake County will be sponsoring a fall baseball league for any high school athlete not playing a fall sport. Six teams, or 84 players, will make up the league. Games will be played Monday through Friday starting the first week of September and running through the first week of October. All games will be played at The College of Lake County. The fee is $50 per player.

For further information, please contact CLC Head Baseball Coach and Athletic Director Gene Hanson at 847-543-2046.

Lions Club finale at Lake Geneva Raceway Aug. 19

On Sat., Aug. 17 Burlington Farmers Supply will sponsor the 5 Star Race Car Bodies 'No Bull' series finale. The feature for 50 laps is worth $1000 to win. The overall winner of the series will earn an extra $1000. Randy Rodgers is the current leader. Time trials begin at 5:45 p.m. with the first race starting at 7. Then, on Mon., Aug. 19, the final Lions Club Race of the season takes place. Time trials begin at 6 p.m. with racing beginning at 7. Tickets are available race night. Fans can also save by purchasing them from local Lions Club members. This is the 32nd year of this show.

Last weekend, Lynch Motors and Avoco Oil Company sponsored the sportsman double header at Lake Geneva Raceway Saturday night as point leader James Swan won the overall crown in the twin 25-lap features. It wasn't too hard to figure out who won as Swan won both features. Kent Burkoth of Pell Lake won his second Budweiser super late model feature of the year. Mike Bell out of Waukesha won his third 25-lap McHenry Limousine super stock features of the season.

The first 25-lap feature was just one lap old as Denny Norton Jr. dropped out with engine problems. Shawn Uptahl jumped out front with Chris Klein and Zac Deeringer fighting for second. Three laps later, Klein's engine expired and the caution flag came out. Deeringer out ran Uptahl for the lead as the green came back out with Brian Baker quickly taking over second.

On lap 13, Baker and Nick Schumacher tangled while running tight. This gave Swan, the fast qualifier, the break he needed and just five laps later, there was a new leader. One more caution came on lap 23 as Erik Pierce, running third, went around after contact with Uptahl as this group was in a 4-car cluster.

Swan moved in front with a green white checkered situation taking the first race over Deeringer, Kenny Joosten, Gary LaMonte and John Fischer.

Pierce charged out front of the second feature with Baker in hot pursuit. On lap five, Baker became the leader with Schumacher all over Pierce. On lap eight, as the leader and three other cars fought for the lead, Fischer spun bringing out the caution. Baker remained the leader with a tight field just behind. On lap 13, Baker, Uptahl and two other drivers fought for the lead. Schumacher was in the lead but another caution flag came out. Swan again got the break he wanted and three laps later, there was new leader.

Swan went on to win the race as Deeringer nipped Uptahl for second. Pierce and LaMonte followed in third and fourth, respectively. Overall, Swan, Deeringer, LaMonte, Joosten and Uptahl made the top-5. Swan claimed the $500 first place check. Deeringer earned $400, LaMonte $300, Joosten $250, and Uptahl $200 with extra money from Lynch Motors of Burlington.

The super late model feature had Joe Fischer move in front with Rick Corso, Mike DeKeuster and Jerry Freeman in extremely tight formation. By lap eight, point leader Matt Kocourek was challenging DeKeuster, Corso and five laps later, the leader. Kocourek quickly moved away from the field and looked like he'd win his fourth feature of the season.

The race for second was great as Fischer and Freeman put on a show. Things chanced as Freeman broke away from the pack and set his sights on the leader. The last thing Kocourek wanted to see would be a caution but on lap 25, Denny Hiffman went around and the race came to a halt. As the race resumed, Kocourek ducked into the pits with engine problems. Freeman then took over the top spot.

With Freeman now in command of the top spot and in search of his first win, Jason Hicks, Landry Potter and Corso made contact sending Hicks into the wall before coming to rest off of turn three. This set up a 5-lap dash for the gold. Freeman looked good but now Kent Burkoth was along side the leader and with two laps to go. The lead went to Burkoth in the Brian Ulrich mount taking the win over Freeman, Eddie May, Jerry Cowan and Fischer all under a blanket.

Tom Roney inched his way in front of the super stock feature with Jack Clark, Pete Olson, Mike Bell and Norm Paulsen in a close formation. On lap three, Bell got by Clark only to see Clark come back and then take over the lead on lap five. After a 5-lap battle for second with Roney, Bell was on a mission to get to the top.

The hard charge was all it was cracked up to be with Bell finishing just ahead of Melahn, Moeller, Sonny Schoffen and point leader Rob Summers.—Dale R. Erdmann

Duggan, T'Wolves looks toward continued success

By MICHAEL J. BIVONA
Correspondent

The Lake Villa Township Timberwolves Junior Football League is starting its varsity season under new leadership.

Pat Duggan, an Antioch High School graduate, is the head coach for the varsity team, replacing last year's Coach Al Roth.

Duggan hasn't wasted any time picking up where the team left off last year under Roth, who departed for the Antioch Viking football program.

"I believe the program was going in the right direction," Duggan said. "It's going to be tough to lose a coach of his (Roth) caliber. I wish him well over in Antioch."

The varsity team finished last year with a 3-5 record but Duggan explained that the team was a lot better than what the record indicated.

"They had a few close games that could have gone either way. We're hoping our luck changes this year and we can get a couple of those wins," Duggan said.

Although winning is important, it's not a priority with Duggan.

"Our first priority is to get the kids prepared for the high school level," Duggan said. "Our second priority is to have fun. We can teach these kids what they need to know but make sure they have a good time as well."

According to Duggan, it's more important to teach every child than to concentrate on the scoreboard.

"Everyone wants to win but people need to understand that it's a combination of things. If you win every game but some of the players don't play, it doesn't make sense. It's a shallow victory," Duggan said. "All of our players will see the field and get to play."

The Lake Villa Township Junior Football League, now in its sixth season, has nine different teams ranging from Bantamweight up to the varsity level. According to Duggan, the enrollment has significantly increased every year.

"We're at capacity for our practice facilities. Our league is really doing well," he said.

Lake Villa Township Supervisor, Dan Venturi, and the town's junior football league worked together to create a new practice field for the teams next season.

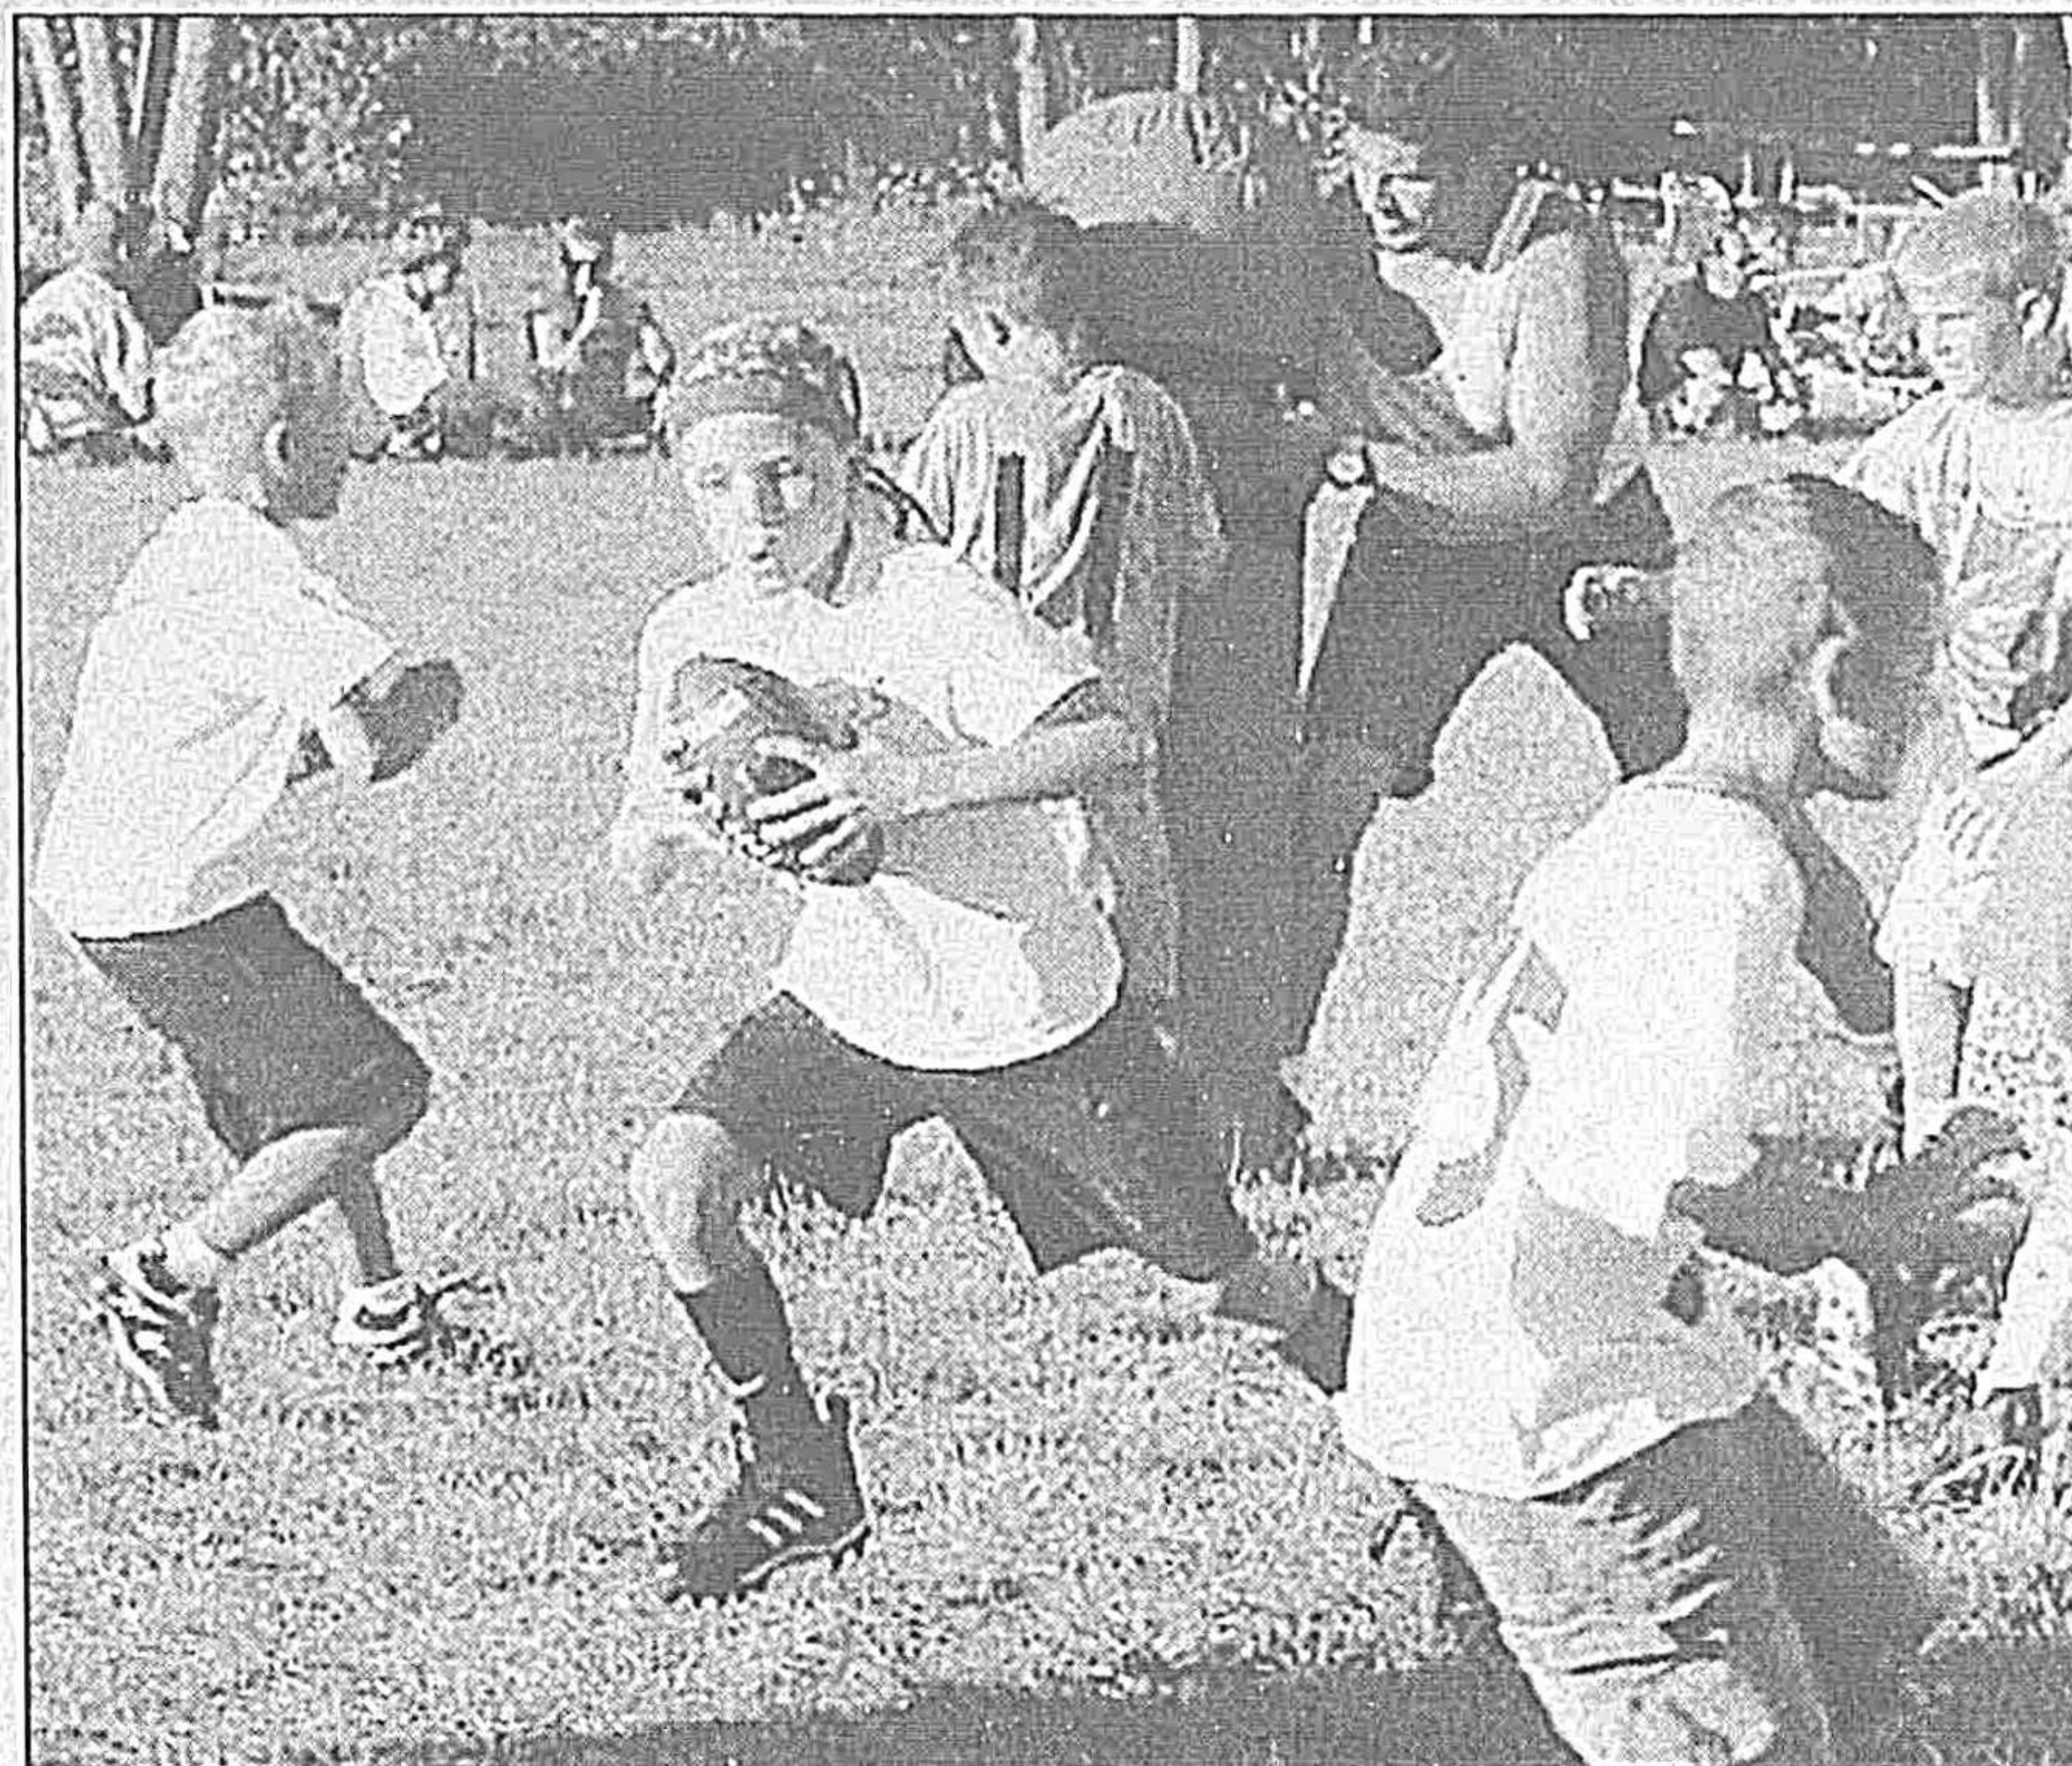

"We're very grateful for everything Mr. Venturi's done for us," Duggan said.

According to Duggan, the league has experienced success not only on the field. The girl's Pom Pon squad won their regional and was invited to a tournament in Minnesota.

"We're starting to see the fruits of success at every aspect of our program," Duggan said.

Duggan credit's the program's success to the parents who volunteer their time.

"We have an outstanding group of volunteers that deserve all the credit," Duggan said.

Getting their 'kicks' at MLS soccer camp

By MIKE KRIZMAN
Correspondent

Major League Soccer teamed up with college students from England to bring a week-long soccer camp to kids 14- and-under at the College of Lake County last week.

Children ranging from ages 5-14 took part in the camp, which was sponsored by the MLS. Youths ages 5-8 took part in the camp in the morning, while ages 9-14 had their turn in the afternoon.

For many of the children, it was the first time they had ever been coached by someone other than an American. The coaches hired to run the camp were a group of college students from Manchester Metropolitan University in Manchester, England.

Rob Cooper of Barnsley, England was captain during the weeklong camp. It was his third summer in the United States, but first in the Midwest.

"It's been an amazing stay," Cooper said. "It's a totally different culture. Each week we move around to different camps and stay with a family whose child is attending the camp. You get to see the true America because when you usually come on vacation you stay in hotels."

All of the coaches stayed with a family during the week and Cooper said it made the experience all the more enjoyable.

"We say as coaches if we're with a great family it will make the camp an even better experience," Cooper said.

Parent Lisa Rusch of Lake Villa brought her 11-year-old son Chris to the camp after hearing about it from the traveling soccer team her son plays on, the Grayslake Galaxy.

"His coach from the Grayslake Galaxy was here this week and he recommended the camp to us," Rusch said. "Also, when I saw it was sponsored by the MLS I thought that would be good."

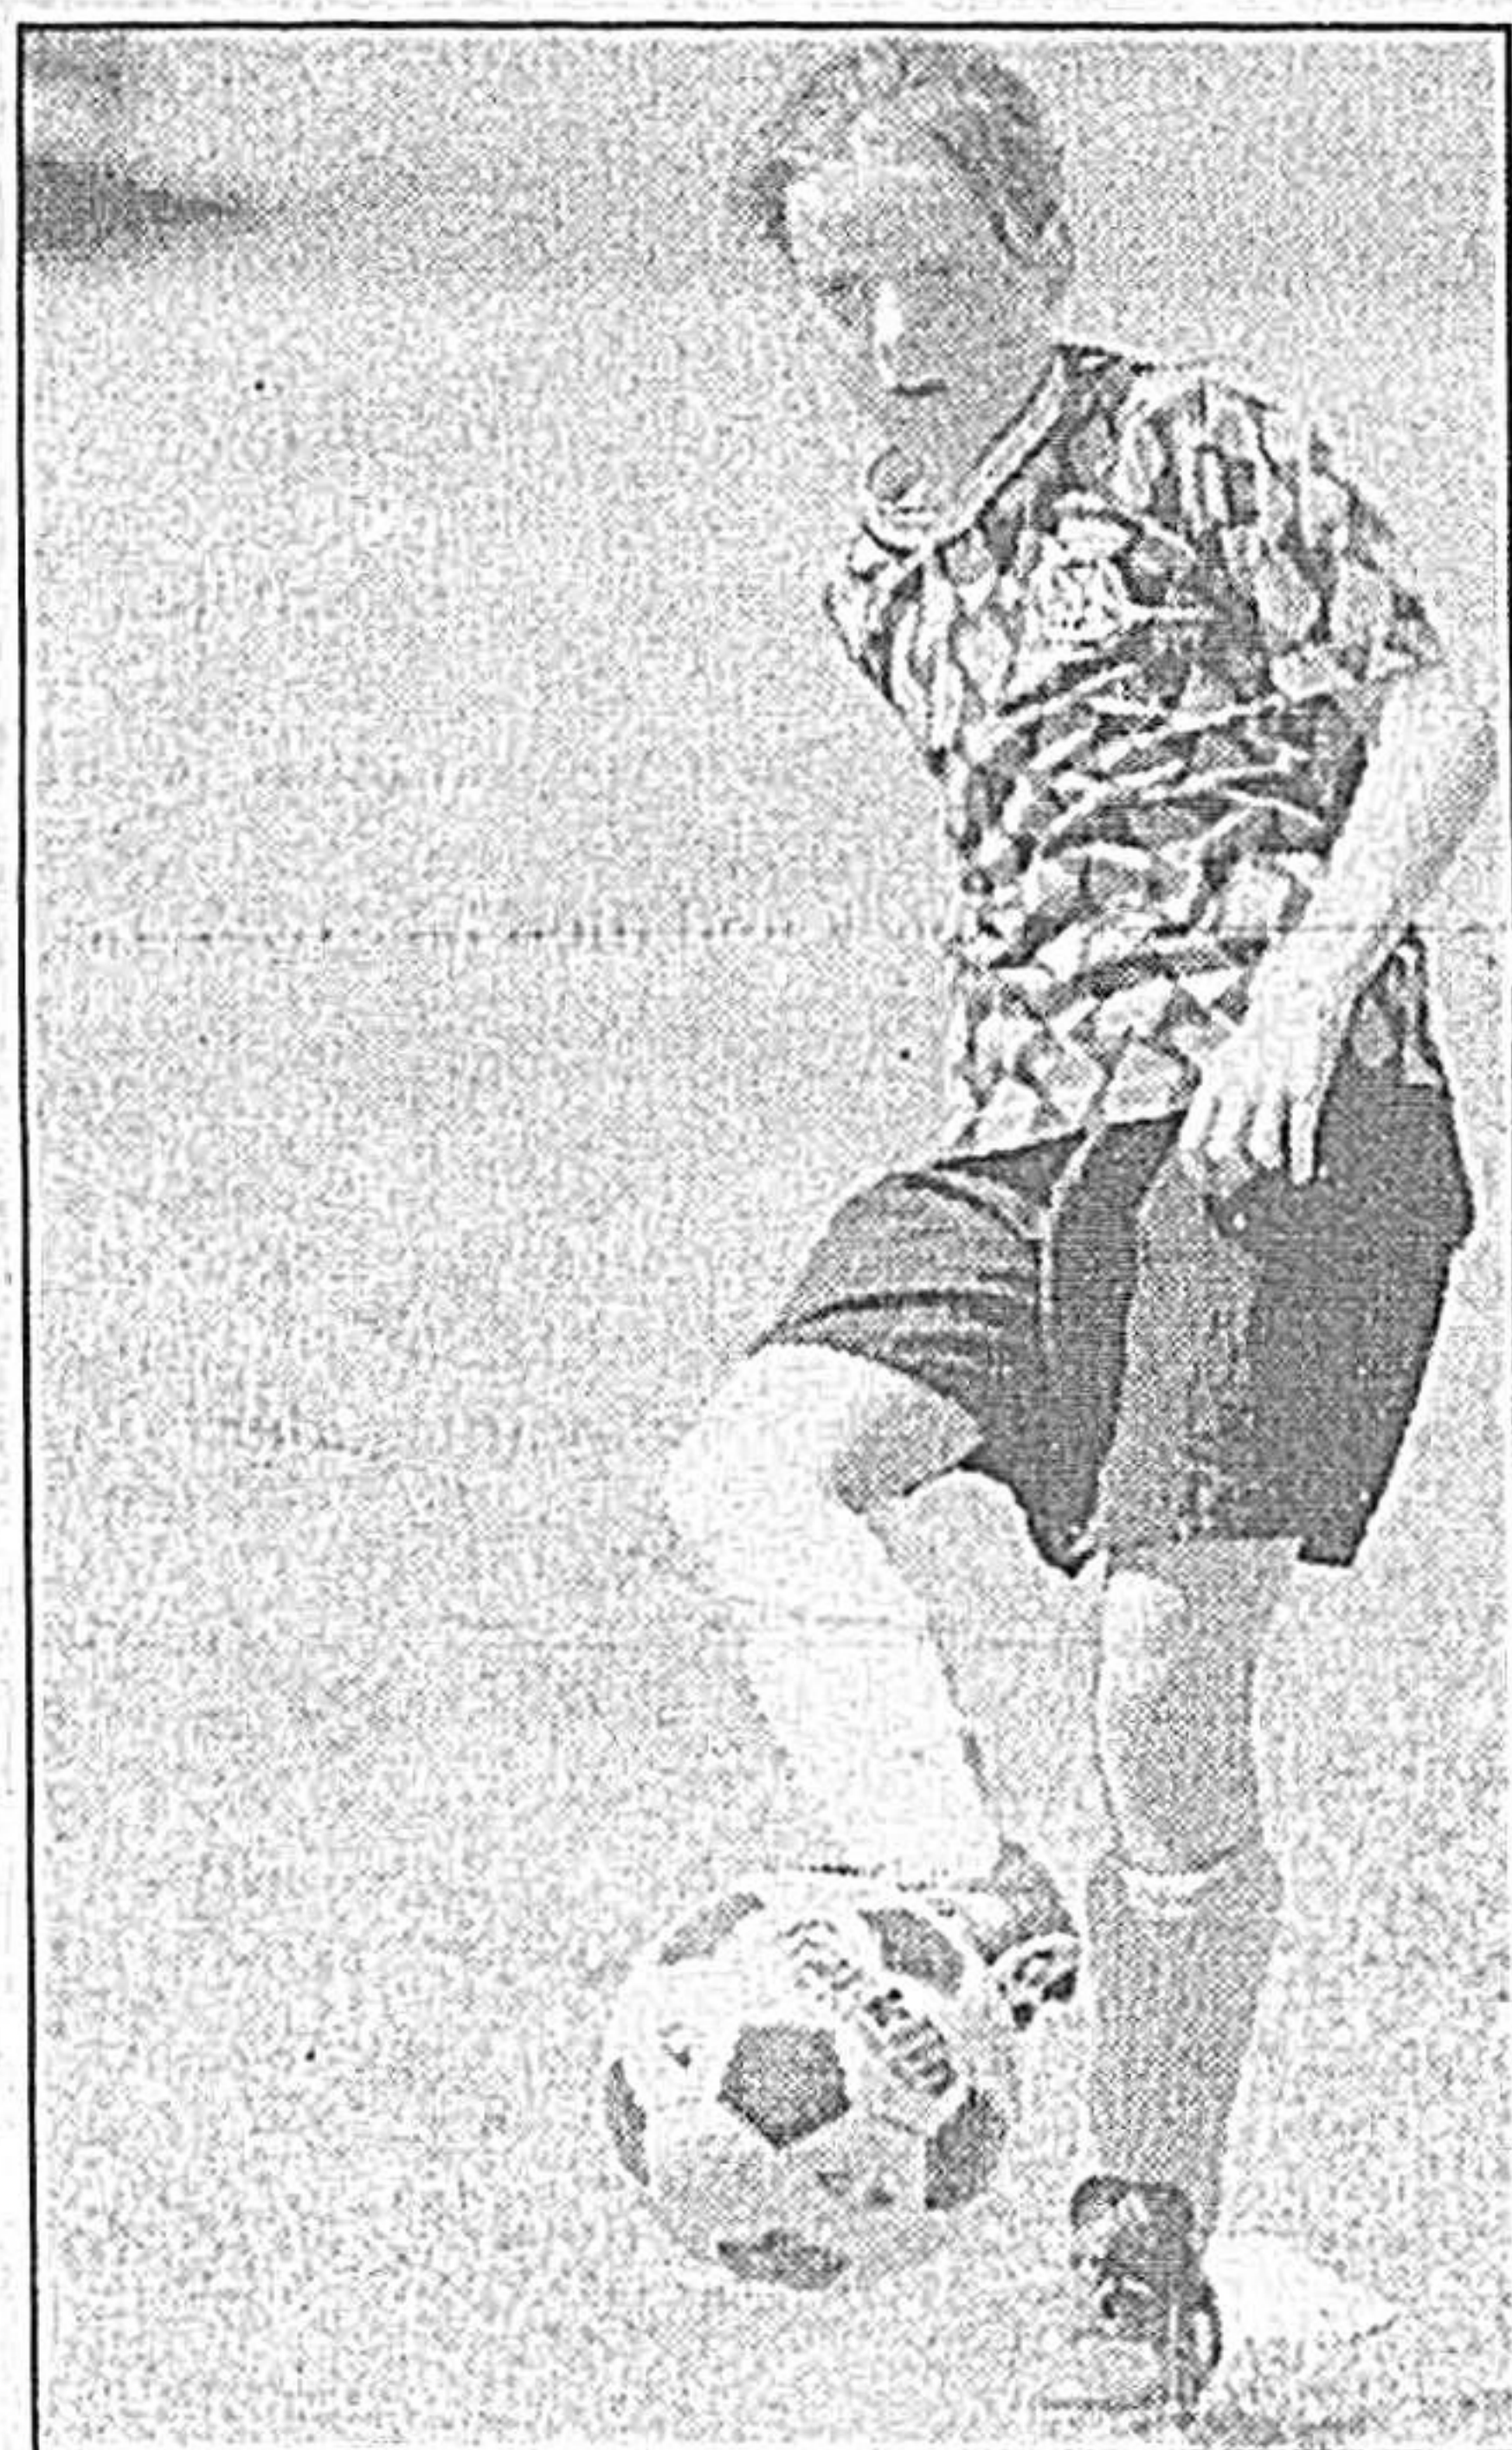

Chris Rusch enjoyed being taught by coaches from another country, as well as the water gun fight that concluded the camp.

"My favorite part was the water gun fight," he said.

"The coaches always talked about where they're from and what they do."

The MLS sponsored camps take place throughout the country. For more information about the camp, visit www.MLScamps.com.

Wells enters negotiated guilty plea

Antioch—Tim Wells, former administrator for the village, entered a negotiated guilty plea in Lake County Circuit Court on Aug. 6 before Judge Ray McKoski. Though he originally pleaded not guilty on March 6 to charges that he illegally diverted about $1.5 million from a fund established for Antioch seniors, Wells pleaded guilty to the charges of forgery and perjury. Wells agreed to two years probation, 60 days work release, 120 days of stayed work release, 100 hours of community service.

Chicago man drowns in Lake Catherine

Antioch Twp.—Choppy water conditions on Lake Catherine were likely not only to contribute in the drowning of Howard Bressler, a 30-year-old Chicago man, but hindered rescue efforts as rescue divers could reportedly only see a maximum of 2 feet in front of them. Over 30 divers were called to the north end of the lake when it became apparent conditions would prevent a simple rescue/recovery. Bressler's body was found in 10 feet of water after he fell from a pontoon boat.

Bandits sneak away with state title

Libertyville—For the second time in three years, Lake County's top baseball players will be duking it out with rivals from across the Midwest. Libertyville American Legion Post 329 appears to be a team on a mission, as it won the Illinois American Legion state title in Danville over the weekend. Next up for the Bandits is the 8-team Midwest Regional in Paducah, Ky., starting Aug. 14. The winner moves onto the national tournament in Danville, Va. the following week.

New lakefront plan shoots for the moon

By MARC JENKINS
News Editor

Imagine the best of what Chicago has to offer minutes away from your home: Navy Pier, Lincoln Park, Grant Park, even Wrigley Field. If the Waukegan Lakefront Development Corporation has its way, the city's long-blighted lakefront—1,000 acres between Mathon Drive and Route 120—could start to blossom into a recreation destination in a 7-point plan in the coming years.

Phase I of that plan calls for construction of 100 condo units and a fitness center to start construction next to the 75-year-old Waukegan Yacht Club as soon as next year, said WLDC spokesman Shai Lothan.

According to Lothan, if all goes to plan—and when it comes to Waukegan's lakefront, not much has—the city would boast nearly 500 new housing units, a "harbor walk," linking the lakefront with downtown, retail shopping, a new beach, a children's museum and even a new minor-league baseball stadium which would overlook Lake Michigan.

To accommodate the increase in visitors, an extension of Washington Street from Sheridan Road to the lakefront would be built, along with a removal of a stretch of the problem-ridden Amstutz Expressway, which cuts downtown off from the lake. An "intermodal center" with 2,000 parking places and Metra service is planned. A stretch of the little-used EJ&E railroad tracks would also be removed.

Lake County war veterans met for a special cause—sharing the importance of voting—at Lake County Clerk Willard Helander's office. The veterans gathered to participate in a taping for LCTV in which they shared their stories and the message "Show Your Patriotism—VOTE."

"I am honored that these men took time to share the message of how important it is for us as Americans to vote," Helander said. There is simply no better way to honor the men and women who have fought for our country's freedom than to exercise one of our most sacred rights—voting.

Doctors also discovered the baby had a broken leg bone from an older, untreated, injury. Round Lake Beach—Red, white and blue fireworks will light up the skies, while prayer, speeches and a memorial service will be held in Round Lake Beach to honor the victims of last year's terrorist attack on New York and the Pentagon on Sept. 11. According to the mayor the village board has approved spending around $7,000 on the fireworks, which is a significant savings because companies offer huge discounts for fireworks display not associated with the Fourth of July. The event will be held at 7 p.m. on Sept. 11 at Hook Lake next to the Metra station.

By ODIE PAHL
Lakeland Correspondent

Last Tuesday morning was not your typical day on Lake Michigan. The sky was cloudless, the weather hot, and the water warm, with a surface temperature of 78 degrees.

Down by the Waukegan Harbor, north of the Yacht Club, there was some unusual activity for a weekday morning. For the second year, people began to gather at approximately 9 a.m. from local agencies and private businesses to participate in a "plane crash" simulation.

The scenario was choreographed, but the actual emergency rescue procedures were real. Several aviation companies, life raft manufacturers, the Aviation Week publication, local media, and regional rescue teams came together to observe the "dry run" at the lakefront.

The Waukegan Airport is not just for small business planes making quick flights anymore. Many companies have jets that travel to Europe and may have an extended amount of time over water.

A comprehensive emergency plan that coordinates a joint response to any air-water disaster is imperative near Lake Michigan. DB Aviation executive charter pilot, Dave Stubbs, was instrumental in spearheading this staged event and was on hand to brief the participants, organize the testing of emergency apparatus, assist in compiling the evaluating data, and coordinate support with emergency agencies.

Under the on-ground direction of Lieutenant Bruce Scottberg of the Lake County Sheriff's Office, Marine Unit, the operation took place about a mile or so east of the harbor, slightly north of the docks.

For over two hours, employees from DB Aviation, a Waukegan-based executive air charter company, were in and out of about 30 feet of water, testing three different survival rafts. Wednesday morning, three more rafts were tested in the same exercise.

There were also three volunteers in wet suits for a helicopter rescue by the Coast Guard at the end of the water trials. Otherwise, shorts and tee shirts were the garb for the day. Organizers wanted people typical of an average travelers, not trained in life-saving procedures or equipped for a disaster.

The three teams of volunteer "crash victims" entered the water from different boats to simulate a plane going down after take-off from the Waukegan Airport. After the 50-plus pound rafts were deployed, the victims swam to them and proceeded to follow the appropriate steps to secure their safety.

Members of the United States Coast Guard and Auxiliary, the Sheriff's Marine Unit, Waukegan Fire Department, and United States Navy Survival Swimmers, used this opportunity to demonstrate life-saving techniques, coordinate with collaborating agencies, and evaluate emergency response time to a disaster scene.

Lt. Scottberg was grateful for the good weather for testing. "It's a trade-off, rougher waters would make it more realistic, but it would increase the danger factor for divers and people in the water." He also mentioned that in a real life situation the colder the water the survival rate drops dramatically.

The Coast Guard provided a 41-foot and a 21-foot boat for the exercise, as well as the use of the Sheriff's Marine Unit's boats, and one test boat from Bombardier (the new owners of OMC). Each boat hovered nearby the rafts as the testers ran through their checklists.

The covered rafts were all slightly different in shape and size, but the basic accommodations were the same. They included: oars, a water-filtration system, sunscreen, fishing kit, a dye for tracking the raft in the water, and a global positioning device.

David Williams, Senior Technical

Representative from Winslow LifeRaft Company, was on board to document the exercise and the performance of his company's product. He explained that the electronic signal standard in the raft can be picked up by a satellite in less than a minute.

Without it, it's like looking for a quarter in a lake the size of Waukegan.

The water-filtering pump for use in a salt-water environment can make a pint of drinking water in a half hour. It must be manually pumped about 40 times, so it's not easy, but it just may save someone's life.

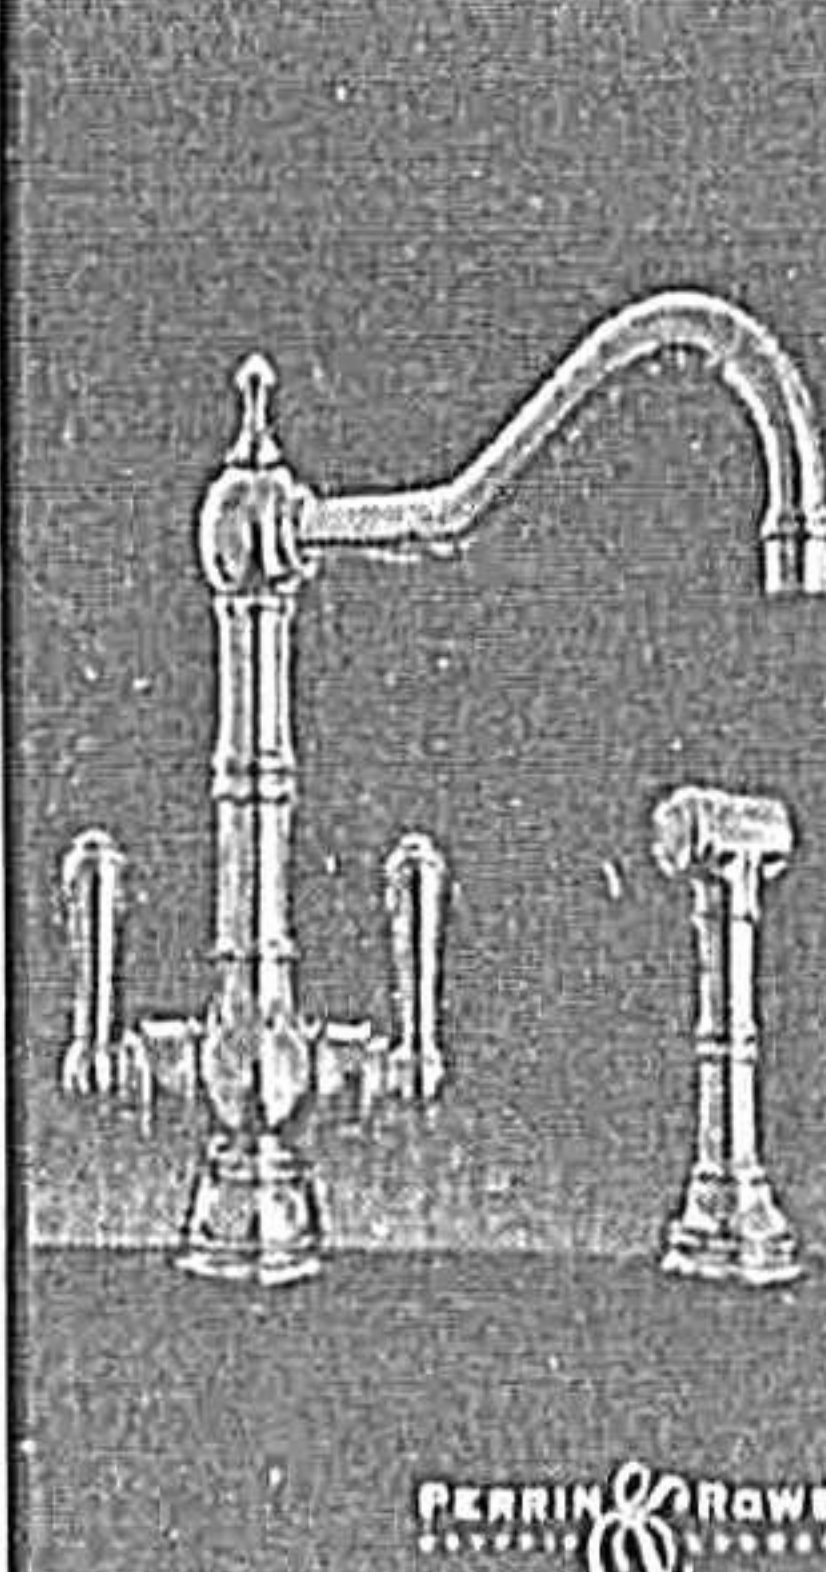

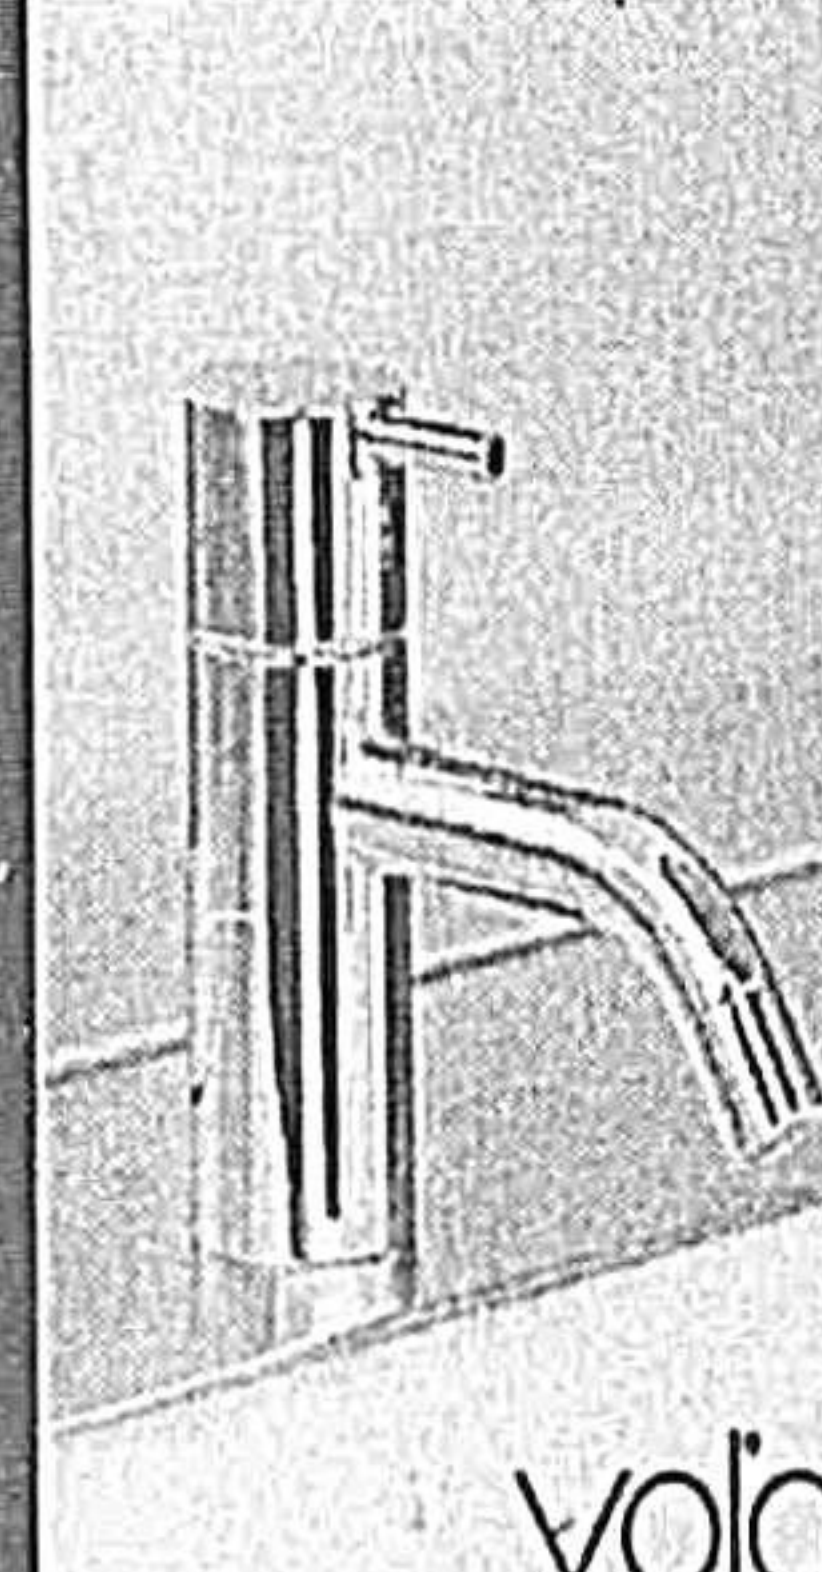

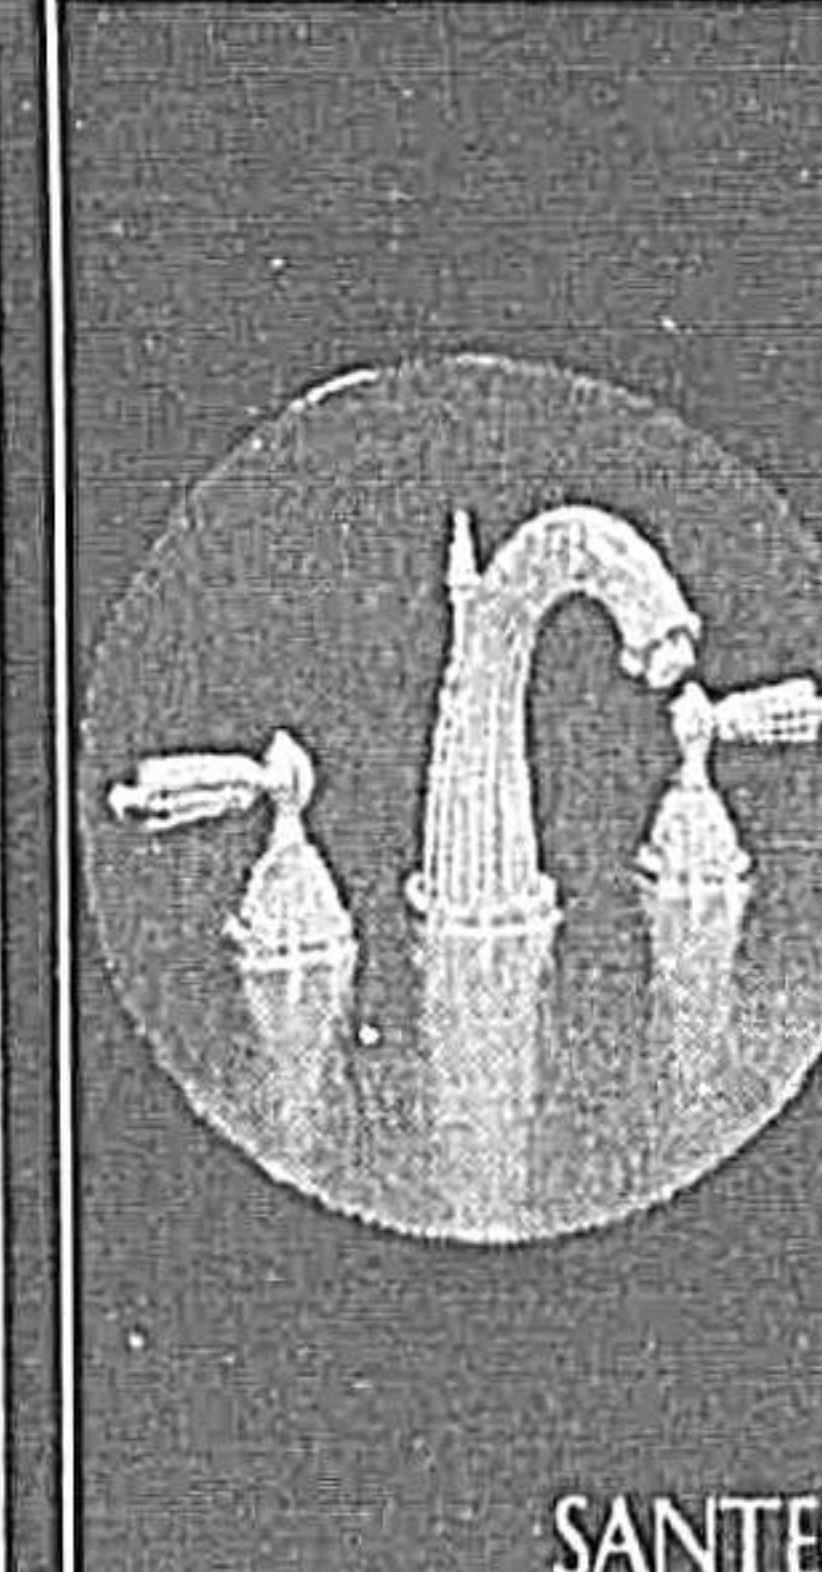

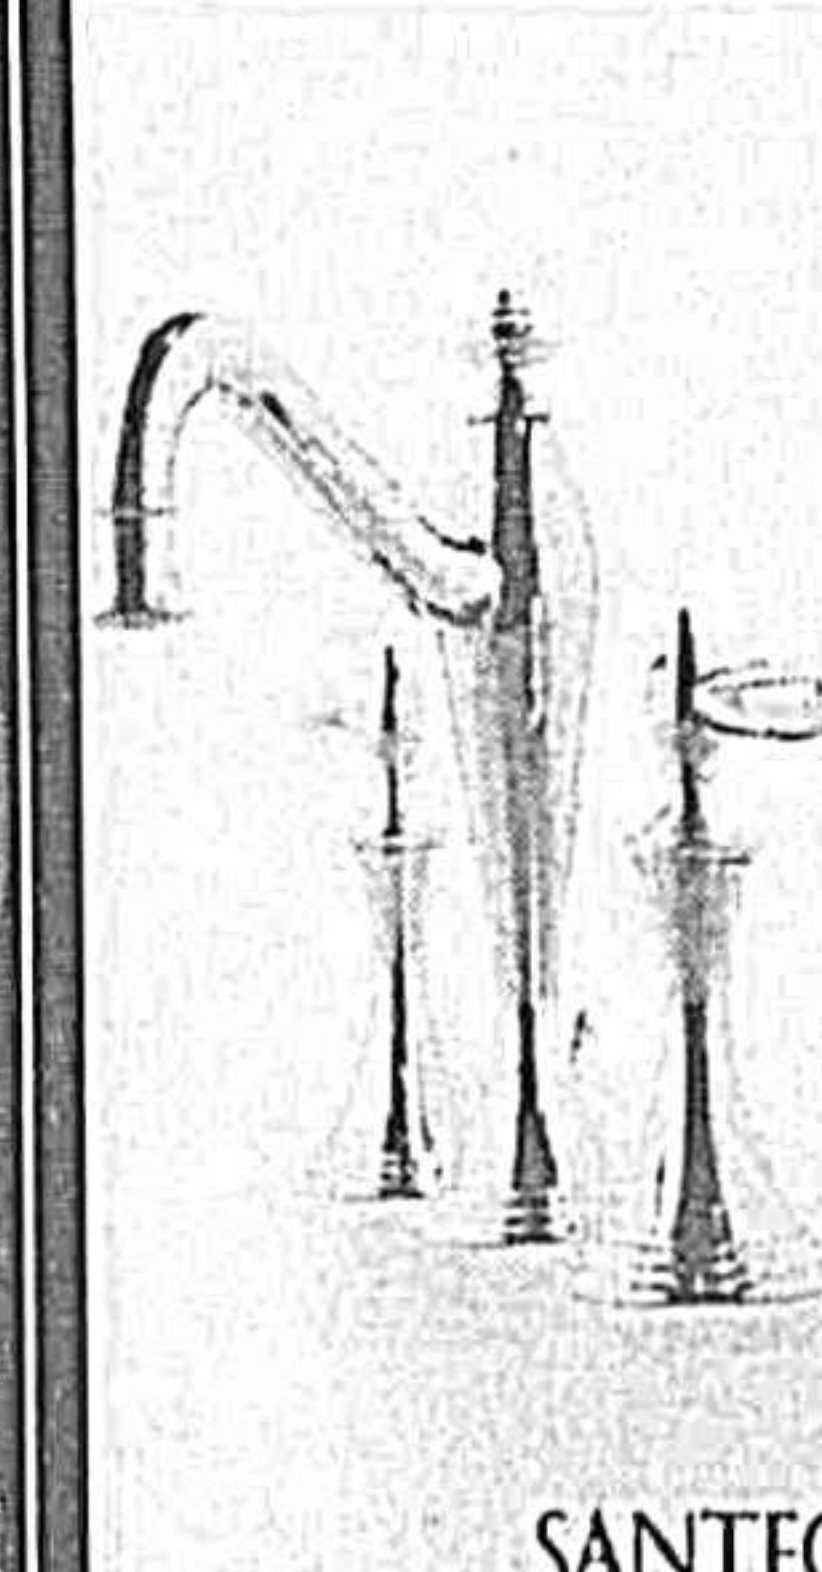

After the rafts and procedures were thoroughly tested, the Coast Guard Chopper came on the scene to rescue the three "victims" staged in the water during the other exercises. A survival swimmer joined the volunteers and assisted when needed in their recovery. The first two rescues were assisted by the basket airlift. They were taken to Waukegan Airport and the Search and Rescue helicopter came back for the survival swimmer and the third volunteer.

They were hoisted up by using a simple harness. The backwash from the helicopter churned up the waters dramatically, spraying the nearby rescue boats and all the participants in its near vicinity. This made the atmosphere, amazingly real and a little unsettling.

David Brittsan, DB Aviation president, said, "It is critical that the various emergency organizations serving our area can participate in real life training such as this. You always hope you never need their services. When you do, you want everyone to be as prepared as possible."

"It is comforting to know that a disaster plan is not just on paper somewhere, but a real work in progress. That there are regulations (each aircraft must have a raft for about a 10 to 1 ratio) and must adhere to proper maintenance, while our government agencies are continually adapting to the needs of the general public and ensuring their safety."

Academy to move to safer area

By CHRISTY BLANDFORD
Staff Reporter

Lake Shore Catholic Academy administrators are in the planning stages of consolidating their three Waukegan sites into one campus, in an attempt to relocate to an area that's better suited — and safer — for their students.

"If you see the three locations, they're in areas where parents of prospective students might tell us they have concerns about safety," study advisory committee chairman Tom Stemplar said. "We've never had any students hurt or abducted or anything like that, but the environment creates a concern."

The Catholic Academy's administrators are planning on moving their 500 elementary students to a new facility as soon as September 2004 in order to alleviate some of their problems, Principal Sister Miriam Patrick Cummings said.

"Number one, it would be much more cost effective; we have three principals and three staffs now," she said. "Secondly, families would like to be together and thirdly, the neighborhood is not that good a neighborhood and we'd be closer to where the student population lives — 95% of the students are bussed."

Stemplar said the new facility would appease problems Cummings has found within the current location. Not only would it bring all students together in a safer location, but would also be built to accommodate 650 to 750 students with the possibility of expansion in the future.

Stemplar also said the new facility would have the capabilities to "serve unmet needs," such as summer programs and night school for adults.

The planning committee is hoping to move the three campuses, which are located on 10th, Utica and Lincoln streets, to a new facility on Belvidere and Keller roads, adjacent to Holy Family Parish in Waukegan. But they cannot begin building the facility until they receive all of the funds that will pay for the $12 million project.

The building costs will total $10.5 million, but administrators are also looking to incorporate a $2.5 million scholarship program to supplement the tuition costs, Stemplar said.

"Tuition can be a significant deterrent to people's ability to send children to private school," he said. "People in the community here work two jobs and still sacrifice to be able to send their kids to private schools."

With the tuition costs totaling $2,090 for one child per year, $3,500 for two and $4,300 for three, Stemplar said the costs are among the lowest for private schools in the area. However, they are still too high for the families that the school targets, which is why the scholarship funds is so essential, he said.

Stemplar said the Chicago Archdiocese and Big Shoulders fund have agreed to pay $2.25 million toward the cost once the school has raised the remaining $9.75 million. He said administrators are looking toward businesses, Catholic parishes and individuals to help raise funds.

Administrators are also looking for 200 to 300 individuals to donate a few thousand dollars each year in order to fund the annual $400,000 scholarship programs. Ideally, Stemplar said, the committee is looking for 200 donors to give $2,000 annually to the scholarship fund.

Stemplar said the educational facility was not the only part of their original program. Building a Catholic high school in Waukegan was also included in the original plans, but is still being studied, Stemplar said, and is not included in the elementary school fundraising efforts.

"(The high school) was initially part of our project, but we put it on hold until we got this off the ground," he said. "The risk is that the two projects are getting confused. The grade school is first and then the high school later, but they're both very worthwhile causes."

Stemplar said the only other Catholic high school in the area, Carmel High School in Mundelein, is too far for Waukegan residents to travel on a day-to-day basis, which makes building a Catholic High School in the city so imperative.

"Many people want very much to have a Catholic High School in Waukegan," he said. "I personally think the need for it is there — it's a very worthwhile project."

A second committee is currently looking into the feasibility of a Catholic high school in Waukegan, and will reveal their results in September. Until their findings are released, Stemplar said, administrators will focus on fundraising for their new facility.

For information on donating to the school's education fund, call Cummings at (847) 623-4075.

Show the thugs who's in charge

Much to the consternation of residents and the chagrin of the Lake County Sheriff's police, two rival gangs have come to see Grandwood Park as their playground. For all intents and purposes, the community of nearly 10,000 persons in unincorporated Warren Township has become a battleground.

Community safety has been the No. 1 subject of two citizens meetings and a prime topic of neighborhood conversation. The burning of a park gazebo, believed to be an act of gang retaliation in response to the beating of a rival gang member has created an air of uneasiness.

Authorities believe one of the gangs involved draws its membership from Grandwood Park itself. The other gang has members centered in a nearby community. The fact that the gangs involved are located in white middle class communities puts the lie to the stereotype that gangs are a reflection of a minority population and an outgrowth of poverty.

To their credit, Grandwood Park residents are responding positively. With their annual summer celebration scheduled for August 23 and 24, they are determined to make the event bigger and better than ever. The charred remains of the gazebo will stand as a symbol. The structure will be replaced later with proceeds of Grandwood Park Summerfest which has raised money for parks and recreation for more than 30 years.

Sheriff's police have given two excellent pieces of advice: Citizens are advised to be extra alert and prepare themselves to be good witnesses. Parents should know where their children are and what they're doing. We'd like to add one additional thought: Citizens in neighboring communities can make a special effort to stop by Grandwood Park for food, games and entertainment to help show the gangs that decent people won't be intimidated by lawless thugs.

Big box proposal stretches system

Tiny Ivanhoe is the latest crossroads community to be targeted for big box store development. In this case the target is a Target Super Store planned for 171,000 square feet in the vicinity of Routes 83 and 60, an area considered rural Mundelein.

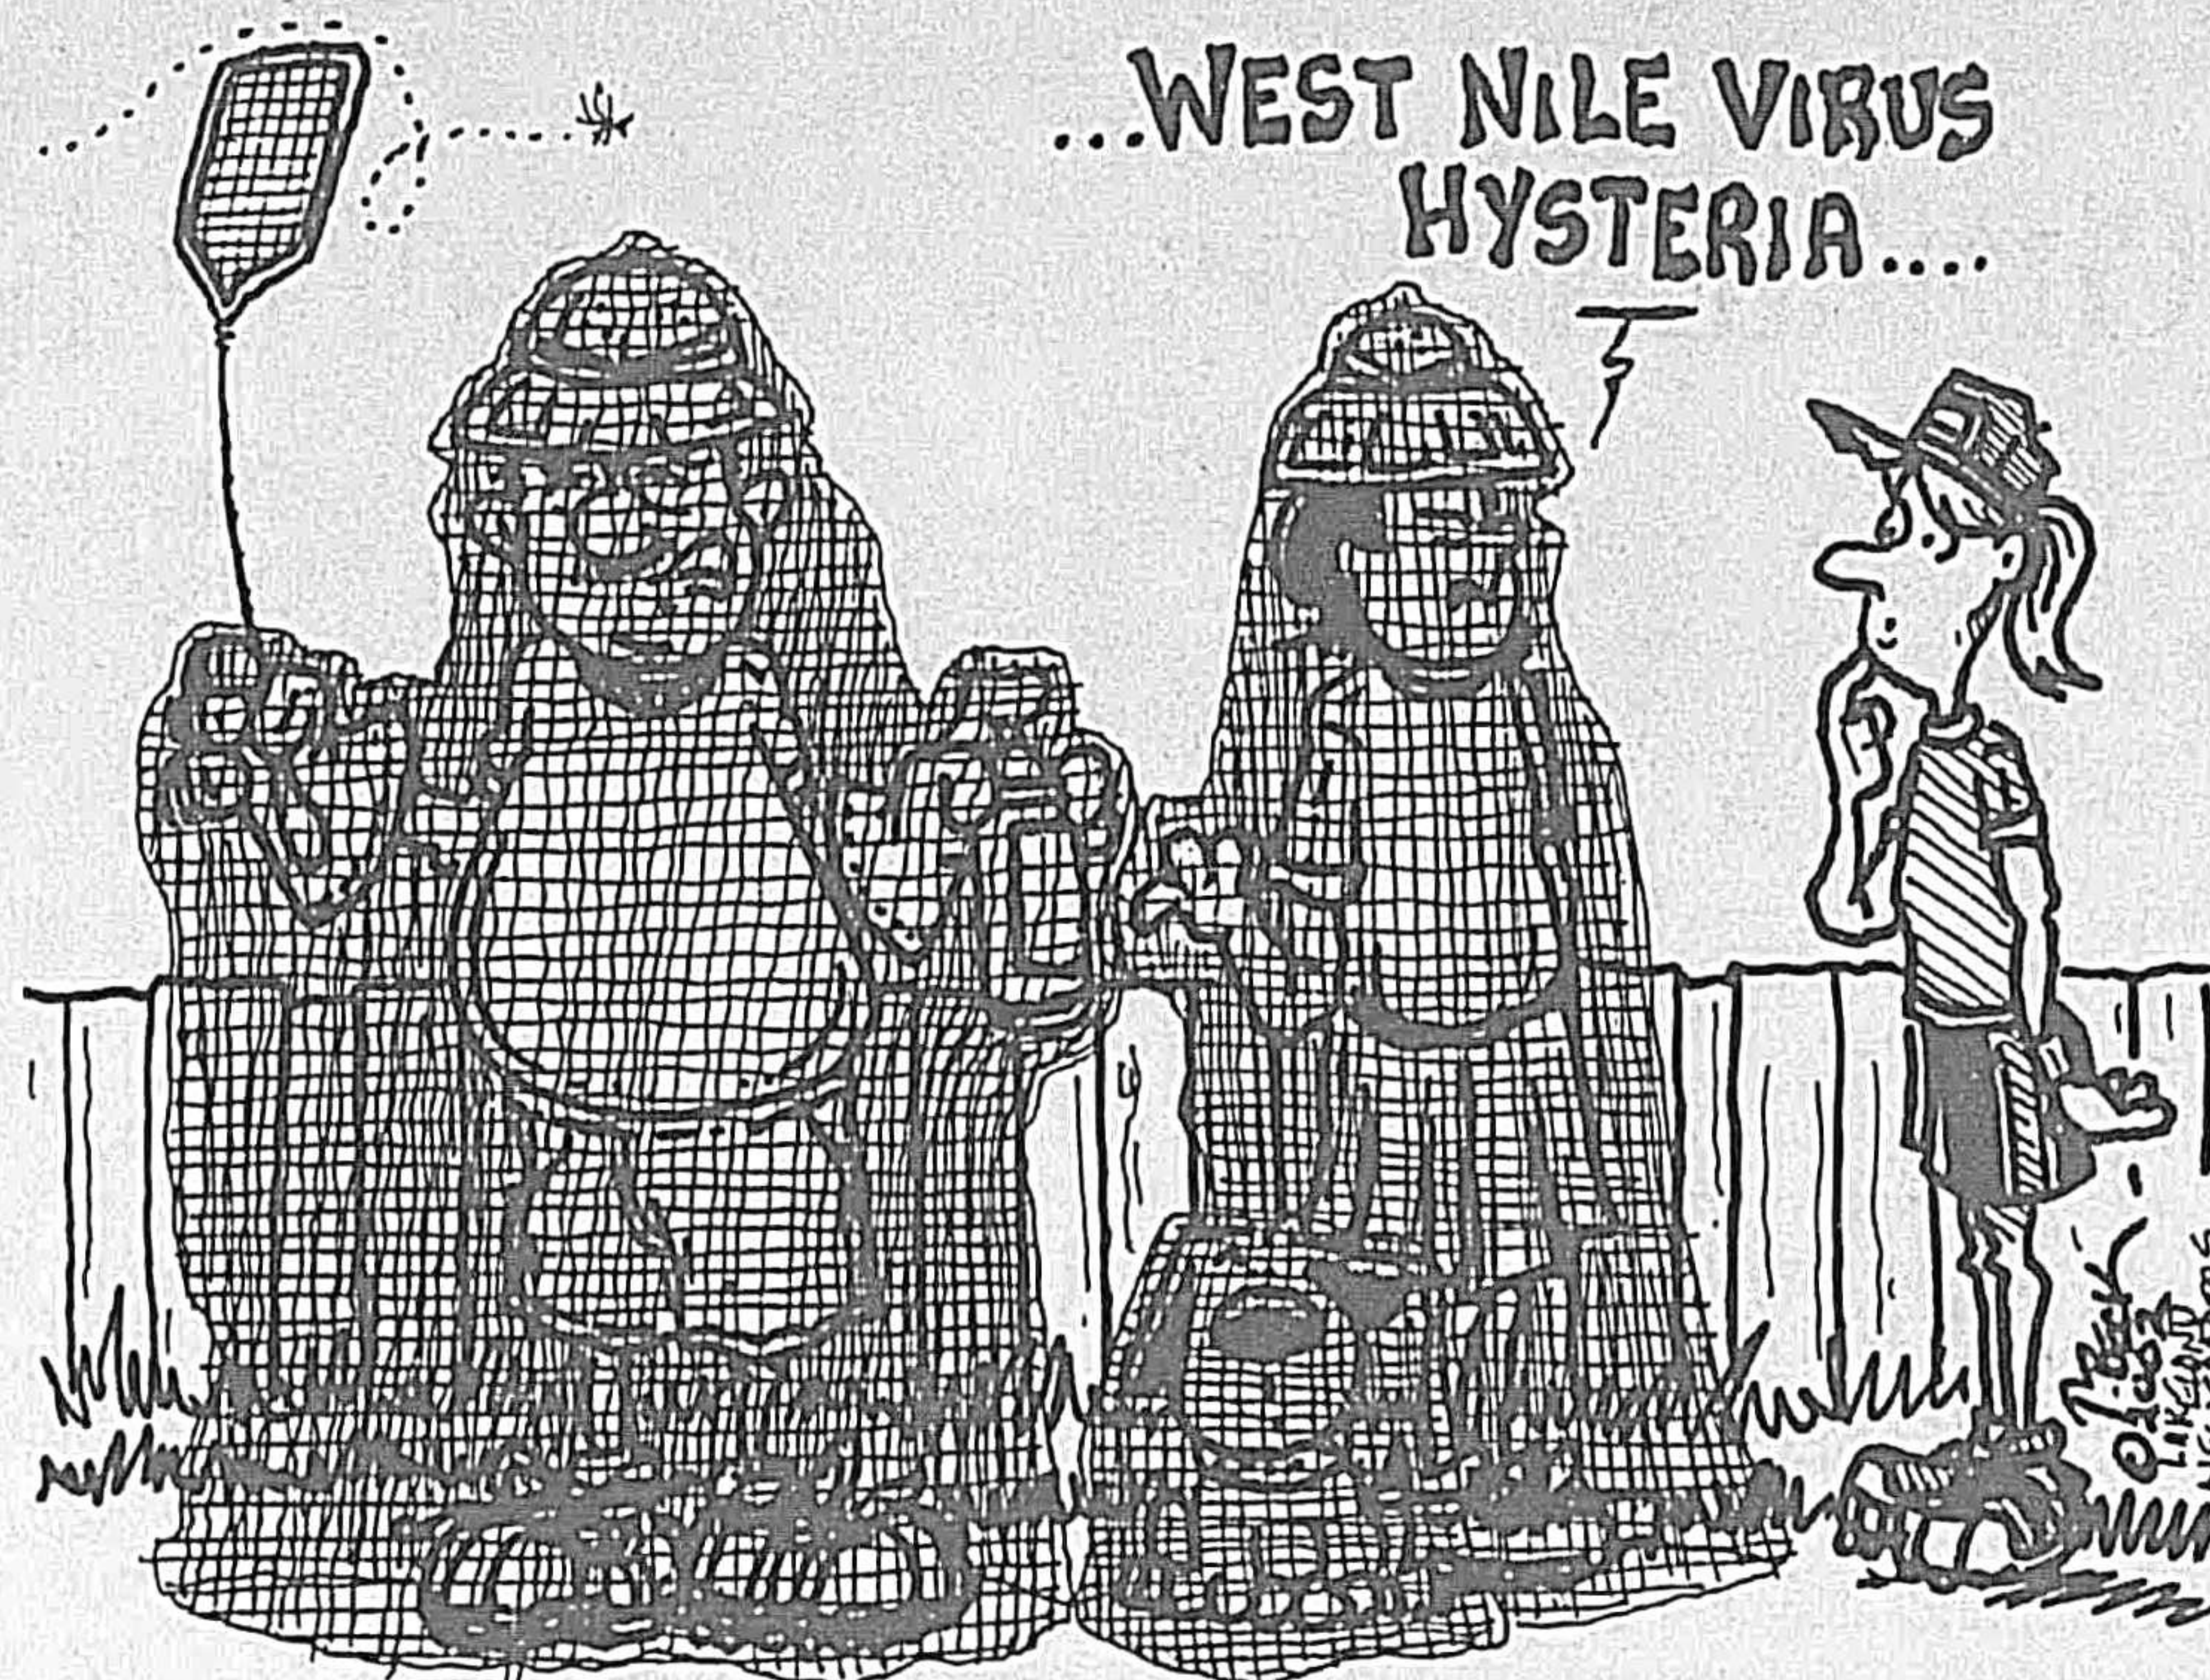

Developers have applied to Mundelein for annexation. At this point, the project has received a favorable reception. Although the history of big box stores in Mundelein is mixed at best, officials are motivated to approve annexation out of misgivings that failure to approve Target will invite giving up their western boundary to nearby municipalities which might be interested in sponsoring a mega store.

It's the long-standing story of the evils of sprawl working again. Land grabbing as opposed to smart growth. "If we don't do it, someone else will," is the common refrain. Without doubt, Mundelein officials are looking over their shoulders at how Round Lake, Round Lake Park and Grayslake might react if presented with overtures from Target developers.

What Mundelein is risking, of course, is leaving behind a trail of empty boxes. Considerable effort already is being exerted through economic development channels to fill empty stores and maintain a cohesive retail environment. Now comes a developer with another mega store and related retail outlets.

How different things would be had the neighboring communities met in advance to negotiate boundary agreements based on careful planning and allocation of resources. Members of the Lake County Regional Planning Commission stand ready to assist with negotiations, but they basically are waiting for calls that never are made. Boundary agreements are working out well in Kane County where pressures for development are similar. Kane County, it is said, focuses in revitalization. In this scenario, officialdom follows a path resulting in mutual benefit as opposed to catering to individual greed.

There is an obstacle to smooth sailing. What to do with a ball field that was built by the Ivanhoe Men's Club and turned over to park officials for maintenance and operation. Legal questions hover over the transaction.

VIEWPOINT

Democrat eyes unusual support

This is a good year for a Democrat to be running for public office. With the governor's office enmeshed in scandal and a mushy economy, there's a mood of "time for a change" in the air.

That's not the only reason Dennis Murphy feels good about his chances for election to the Lake County Board. Murphy, the Democratic nominee in predominantly Republican central county District 6, also expects to get help from an unexpected source.

"I think a lot of Republicans are going to like where I stand on conservation, controlling growth and protecting the environment," remarked Murphy, a former Third Lake village trustee who is employed in software development by a Chicago liquor company.

"Larry Leafblad and I think alike on the environment," remarked Murphy, referring to the outgoing representative who was defeated in the spring primary by Don Bauer, a retired iron worker. Murphy said there's a good chance that public interest groups that formerly endorsed Leafblad will support him in the November general election.

Murphy chuckled when reminded that Bauer ran on a plank of extending Route 53 through the center of the county to a point south of Grayslake. "Not going to happen. No money," pointed out Murphy, who has resided in Third Lake for 11 years. With solid support from a group of mayors headed by Grayslake Mayor Tim Perry, Bauer was elected with the theme,

BILL SCHROEDER

"Vote for Bauer—Build 53." He defeated Leafblad by 15 votes.

District 6 runs astride Washington Street and includes parts of Round Lake Park, a portion of Grayslake, Third Lake and areas of unincorporated Avon Township.

Promising an active campaign with "lots of footwork," Murphy has an interesting transportation perspective. He commutes to his Loop office by Metra.

One man's family

Swimming. Baseball. Sailing. All-stars. Sleepover nights. Unlimited Gameboy time. Family camping weekend. Basketball camp. That's all "old summer stuff," according to grandson John (third grade) who is revved up and anxious about returning to school. Is he a typical kid?

Granddaughters Nikki and Ali are charged about being full-fledged kindergartners. Erika is our "old-timer," getting ready for fourth grade. Back in class in a few weeks, the good times will really be rolling for the younger set.

Can Jim Ryan save a sinking ship?

ATV political reporter was covering a county fair in Peoria to gauge the political sentiment in the governor's race. From what I heard, this may be the lowest turnout in an "off-year" statewide election at any time. The electorate is turned off about politics in general, tuning off to both sides, and at this point may just choose not to turn out at the November election.

The reporter showed downstate campaign buttons where one half of the button has a "half-face" of GOP governor candidate Jim Ryan fused with a half-face of Governor George Ryan. The top of the button reads "Not Ryan again." It's a Democrat "double-shot" trying to link Jim Ryan with the scandal-tainted George Ryan. The reporter said the NRA initials on the logo was a slam at the National Rifle Association, which backs Jim Ryan.

Hopefully, the campaign will be waged, not on campaign buttons or who can wage the better-financed negative campaign, but which candidate can be the more effective leader. Having said that, I don't believe that anyone can deny that Jim Ryan has an impossible task of escaping the dark shadow of the

"George Ryan scandal."

As a Democrat, you might think that I am politically overjoyed that the state Republican Party appears in shambles, but I am not. Yes, after the Republican one-party domination of the governor's office, I believe that "it's our turn." However, I believe that the public's best interests are served when both major political parties are strong and there is strong competition between the candidates running for the highest office in Illinois.

In a way, Jim Ryan is in a political Catch-22. Whatever he does is wrong. He is trying to look as though he will be the "Mr. Clean government candidate." He can't get away with that when his opponent charges that he did nothing to expose the Secretary of State scandal in his role of chief law enforcement official as Attorney General.

On top of that, Jim Ryan didn't seem to mind running on the same ticket with the same man he now tries to politically distance himself from. He didn't seem to mind accepting political contributions from George Ryan, when he should have, at the time, wonder if some of those funds were of the tainted variety.

I say all of the above not to bash Jim Ryan. He was not alone. Can you name one public official in Springfield, Democrat or Republican, who criticized or bashed George Ryan as the many Secretary of State indictments and convictions were mounting to record numbers? Many put out their hands to accept his campaign help, and "whispered" behind his back.

When I said I think it is better when both political parties are strong, you can already see what is happening because of the Republican shipwreck. The Illinois Education Association, not known to endorse a Democrat candidate for governor, jumped to support Democrat Rod Blagojevich. Former governor Jim Thompson's law firm, not known to contribute to Democrats as a normal practice,

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Graham makes most of rehab time

Often criticized for his outspoken political views, no one is arguing about the personal courage being displayed by Libertyville Township Supervisor F.T. "Mike" Graham as he battles back from the effects of a stroke.

As part of his rehabilitation, Graham is at his desk at the township office two days a week. He plans to increase office time as his health improves. The supervisor plans to attend the Sept. 12 town meeting.

Through the recovery process, Mike has kept a sense of humor. "My speech was not good before the stroke. It is worse now," remarked the durable political leader with a lifelong stuttering problem.

Graham has high praise for the office staff handling township affairs during his absence. He lamented a decision to not open for business on Saturdays, a practice he held to during 30 years in office.

Taking advice

After being defeated for a nomination for state representative, Ed Walters is taking the advice of Republican seniors and staying active in party affairs. Walters has taken on the job of Lake County coordinator for Republican Young Professionals, a new group designed to attract persons age 18-40 to become active in politics. The group's first

The GOP nominee says he enjoys the confusion over the name similarity and expects to benefit at the polls at election time.

Kiesgen walking

Grant Township Highway Commissioner Jack Kiesgen took four halting steps without use of a cane. "How's that for a guy who never was supposed to walk again?" exclaimed Kiesgen with a broad smile. "I'm going to be in a duck blind under my own power, opening day of hunting season," vowed Kiesgen, who was left paralyzed a year ago after treatment for a back ailment went awry.

Bean backers

Melissa Bean, out to unseat long time 8th District Congressman Phil Crane, has established a base in Democratic Waukegan, now part of the district after the remapping process. The new look includes northwest Cook County, central and western Lake County, and eastern McHenry County. Boundaries run from Waukegan and Woodstock and the Wisconsin stateline to Schaumburg. Among early supporters of the Democratic newcomer are retired teachers.

event, a Sunday afternoon picnic, was considered a success.

Pickell picks

Orren T. Pickell, prominent North Shore builder and home designer, is defying tradition with an early endorsement of Patrick Patt for County Clerk, the Democratic nominee in the November election. Pickell considers himself a "rip-roaring Republican," but he's backing Patt because of his record for honesty in school administration.

Sports nicknames getting nuttier

Editor's note: Jerry Pfarr is taking a short vacation from the column he has written every week for the last 15 years. Until he returns we will be printing some of his favorites. This one was written in 1998.

One, two, three, four; who are we for?"

The responses to that old cheer, at least in these parts, long have been the Cubs, White Sox, Bears, Packers, Black Hawks and Bulls. Conventional, old-fashioned sports nicknames.

But new-fashioned nicknames are popping up on the playing fields. I mentioned that before, noting there are professional soccer teams called the New England Revolution, the Tampa Bay Mutiny, the Dallas Burn and the Miami Fusion, whatever that's supposed to mean.

And basketball has the Miami Heat, the Orlando Magic and the Toronto Raptors, while new hockey teams include the Atlanta Thrashers and the Nashville Predators.

That's quite a departure from the days when teams mostly were nicknamed after animals, birds, cowboys, Indians, saints and devils, all kinds of canines and every cat in the jungle.

Most of our Lakeland area high schools have normal nicknames: Rams, Mustangs, Blue Devils, Panthers, Wildcats, Bulldogs and, in Lake Zurich, the Bears.

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

Since the previous column on this subject, friends have called to my attention that there are minor-league hockey teams known as the Macon Whoopee and the Jacksonville Lizard Kings, and minor-league baseball teams called the Winston-Salem Warthogs, the Batavia Muckdogs and the Lansing Lugnuts.

An article in the Chicago Tribune noted one of the reasons teams have been skipping traditional mascots for something more funky is to attract and entice fans. It's cool these days to wear something wacky on caps, T-shirts and sweat shirts.

Souvenir sales in the minor leagues have skyrocketed from $2.5 million in 1991 to $34 million last year. It's a way bush-league teams can survive financially and laugh all the way from the box office to the bank.

The Lansing, Mich., Lugnuts have become one of the top sellers of logo paraphernalia.

However, when new teams select their nicknames, I fear they sometimes forget that headline writers, faced with limited space, may abbreviate them beyond recognition. For example, the new baseball team, the Arizona Diamondbacks (named after a rattlesnake, of all mascots) become the D-Backs.

The Yankees, of course, are called the Yanks, the Cardinals the Cards, the Indians the Tribe, the Phillies the Phils and the Orioles the O's.

In football, the Packers are shortened to the Pack, the Redskins to the Skins, the Buccaneers to the Bucs, the Patriots to the Pats and the Dolphins to the Fish.

I imagine in Lansing, Mich., the Lugnuts sometimes are labeled the Lugs, or maybe the Nuts.

Two of my favorite nicknames belong to Illinois high school teams. At Hoopeston in Vermilion County, the "Sweet Corn Capital of the World," kids in the area used to get up at 3 a.m. to go out and pick corn before they went to school. The kids called it corn-jerking and their teams became the Cornjerkers.

In Cobden, it's the Appleknockers because almost every kid in town has worked in the orchards thinning apples. They had to knock some off the trees so others would get big.

I don't even want to guess how headline writers, cramped for space, shorten the nicknames Cornjerkers and Appleknockers.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Scared of Kirk

I saw Henry Perritt at a Park Place function and listened to this concerned man talk about the need for seniors to be covered by a real prescription drug plan and to have some reassurance that our homes will not be lost because of the costs we pay for prescription drugs. I believe him because he has the experience I like to see in a candidate for U.S. Representative.

I have seen many people come and go in this position over the years and none of them have tried to scare me as much as the present young man, Mark Kirk. Mark says there was enough money for the Republican plan and the war on terror opened the lock-box on social security and Medicare. Well maybe if Mark did not give all that surplus money to those corporate bagmen we would have something left to keep seniors safe from losing homes, losing social security, and losing Medicare. I don't understand why Mark did this but I do understand who I'll be voting for in the next election.

Robert Stefanowski
Waukegan

Budget mess

Mark Kirk is correct that only a Republican plan for prescription drug benefits will fit the present budget of the United States. Perhaps a real plan would fit if Mark had not voted to blow the entire U.S. surplus on a permanent tax cut, not voted on a Republican stimulus bill that gave $254 million in cash of our money to Enron (and over $1 billion in cash to other corporations), nor voted to gouge our social security for his game.

When it came to the surplus, Mark and his proclaimed hero, Henry Hyde, acted like little kids on a candy free-for-all in the dime store. Now they are in denial that seniors like myself are having troubles with housing because the prices of prescription drugs cannot possibly be that high. I heard Hank Perritt speak at the Park Place last week, and I now better understand what happened to our money and what he will do to fix this problem. I cannot continue supporting someone like Mark who does not understand that if the budget had been taken care of properly, we would not be in this mess.

Chainsaw bonanza

The goings on at Hillcrest Elementary School just keep getting more infuriating.

The chainsaws have been at work. About an acre has been cleared of mature and healthy oak trees. Probably some of them 200 years old and growing before there was an Antioch.

I thought the village had a tree protection ordinance. Obviously it was neatly loop-holed and if any queries are made about this horrendous activity, there will be the usual tap dancing around this issue.

Antioch, Tree City, USA. Shame on you.

Kids not suffering

Fremont School District 79 is, once again, planning to ask the property owners in Fremont Township for more money. Among those property owners are people who have seen their portfolios diminish during the current recession; people must reconsider their future retirement; people who must plan for the costly college educations that follow the elementary, middle, and high school educations of their children. It would seem that the Fremont School Board is under the impression that an education in Fremont School District is the be all and end all of education. That college education will cost in the neighborhood of $150,000.

School officials, either directly or through their minions, will attempt to place the mantle of guilt on those of us who oppose the referendum. The cry that 'the children will suffer' will be heard. The poor mouthing by the board, usually heard around Christmas time, will be a little earlier this year. But it will be heard.

The children will suffer? Are ill fed, ill clothed, or just ill? No! The only ones who will suffer are the members of the school board. They will, like the rest of us, have to live within their means. And that, despite what they would have us believe is neither cruel nor unusual punishment.

"Suffering" is a relative term. While it varies with demographics, even in Fremont Township, using last year's computers does not constitute "suffering."

gave to Blagojevich's fund along with glowing remarks from "Big Jim." You get the "ship is sinking" feeling for "Little Jim." Everyone's rushing to get to the right political tollgate.

In politics, when things get bad, they always get worse. House Minority Leader Lee Daniels made matters worse for Jim Ryan when it was charged that his staff was doing political work on the public payroll. Ryan started to investigate and then turned it over to the U.S. Attorney's office. Daniels left as Chairman of the Illinois Republican Party. He resigned that office. Many Republicans didn't want him there in the first place, but once he became chairman, all that happened afterward has been a political embarrassment for the party.

While the Republican House of Cards has fallen to pieces, Jim Ryan, as candidate for the highest office, becomes the titular head of the party. He must try to lead the rudderless party back from the shambles. He will find a new state party chairman to lead the party. But, can he put it all together with many of his own troops jumping ship? Can he stay out of the shadow of the scandal?

Jim Ryan has a "wall to climb" in just a few months. With all of the obstacles, most not of his making, I wouldn't blame him for thinking "all of the king's horses, and all of the king's men, couldn't put it all together again."

'Not in my back yard,' neighbors tell junk yard

By ODIE PAHL
Lakeland Correspondent

Both sides came prepared for battle on at Waukegan City Hall. The battleground was a Planning and Zoning Commission meeting, with the opposing parties of a conditional use permit for Auto City, and hundreds of interested spectators in attendance.

For almost three hours, testimony was heard on concerns of having Auto City relocated from its Washington Street address in Gurnee to the ComEd site on Northwestern Avenue in Waukegan. ComEd uses the current facility for maintenance and employee training.

The 15-acre site is located in the middle of Northwestern Avenue about a half-mile between Blanchard Road and Yorkhouse Road. It's surrounded by the Waukegan Savanna, owned by the Forest Preserve and a quiet neighborhood directly south of the proposed auto recycling facility.

Area residents depend on 30 feet deep wells for their water, live on rural roads, have no public sidewalks, and have either a Waukegan or Gurnee address. Some next-door neighbors actually live in adjacent communities.

Glenn Christiansen, an architect with Christiansen and Associates, spoke about the proposed project, the intended development and what amenities would be used to camouflage the operation. He explained that the facility would keep its zoning for industrial use.

There would be a retention pond in the northwest corner of the property which would collect run-off, and the traffic generated by this business would not be disruptive to the nearby residential community. He said having an auto recycling business with state-of-the-art technology would be an improvement for the area and there wouldn't be danger to the land with appropriate safeguards.

After Christiansen laid out the plans, Michael James, an environmental consultant from Texas, spoke about the differences between a junkyard and the proposed facility. He took the audience through the recycling process and safety procedures that would be used to protect the environment and local residents.

Larry and Jay Brosten, owners of Auto City, and Hi-Way Auto Parts in on Rt. 41 and Rt. 173 in Wadsworth wanted to move the Gurnee location to Waukegan because its smaller 8-acre lot could not be improved to the degree that the larger plot of land would be able to. They felt that they could run things more efficiently at the Com Ed property.

Both Gurnee and Waukegan have had complaints with Brosten's current businesses on Belvidere and Washington, which won awards for its auto recycling.

James said any problems that plagued the other places would be rectified at the new location. Further information on the removal of fluids from cars and their subsequent use, usable parts for resale, recycled parts such as tires and batteries, and the steps involved in finally crushing the car and transporting it for scrap were expounded upon during James' presentation.

As the room temperature was rising in council chambers, the tempers of the other side remained cool. Chairman John Della Valle warned the crowd at the beginning of the meeting that disorderly conduct citations would be given out if they became unruly.

Only a simple reminder was needed throughout the night. Although impatient to state their opinions, the Save the Waukegan Savanna Homeowners Organization, remained quiet and restrained until their turn to speak. Once the floor was open, the line formed out into the hallway for a chance to voice their deep-felt concerns.

On behalf of the residents, Bill Nasello said his group wants to work with city officials toward a "mutually-agreed upon use for the property" and "at the same time express legitimate concerns regarding this."

Their basic concerns included: Environmental contamination, safety concerns and increased traffic, elevated incidences of crime, and decreased property value.

These concerns were echoed by many more residents that detailed the fears of well water damage, pollution from run-off to the wetlands or surrounding communities that may jeopardize the wildlife that flourishes in the area, loud noise levels, child safety concerns, damage caused by 20-ton semis making up to three trips a day on Blanchard Ave. (which has a 6-ton limit), even complaints about a possible decline in property values.

Documentation was also produced that said in the last three years Gurnee Police had to respond to over 250 calls at the Auto City site in Gurnee brought on by the high demand for stolen auto parts.

Al Westerman (R-Waukegan), Forest Preserve president, who lives in the area in question, voiced his non-support. He felt that this was "a step backwards for Waukegan" after so many recent improvements to the city.

A motion was made to vote for a recommendation of a conditional use permit for the recycling facility, which saw the tally split 3-3. The "no" recommendation will be sent to the Judiciary Committee on Monday, Aug. 19, at 6:30 p.m., followed by presentation and possible vote by the city council.

The Homeowners Organization said it will be back in full force for the next round. There are many of the Waukegan residents in this area that are in the 8th Ward, which happens to be Mayor Richard Hyde's home base.

front, such as Routes 120 and 132 would have to be greatly improved to handle an influx of new traffic.

"People have a hard time getting to the lakefront," said Lothan of Highland Park. "To a degree, people in Waukegan don't think they have a downtown because the Amstutz blocks it off."

Hoping that big things come in bunches of small packages, Lothan's group is just concerned now with the first phase of development.

"We won't be taken seriously until people see something happening," Lothan said. "We're willing to take a loss on the first 100 units just to generate some excitement about the lakefront."

Building the condos and fitness center will be the easy part. Where it gets difficult is redevelopment of OMC and Johns Mansville sites, known to be extremely polluted areas on the land itself and in the nearby waters.

The OMC site, across from the boat slips, would be the "Navy Pier" part of the plan with the Johns Manville site to resemble Grant Park with soccer and baseball fields along with recreation areas.

A new baseball stadium would be built directly to the south of boat slips, along a one-and-a-half mile stretch of currently unused lakefront. North America Sports, Inc. of Libertyville has already told the WLDC that it is interested in "relocating a minor league baseball team" to the lakefront.

Posters honoring the Lake County Veterans will be on display at the clerk's office through September. The posters were created in conjunction with Lakeland Newspapers, which originally printed the veterans' stories in a Fourth of July special insert entitled "For Love of Country."

Copies of For Love of Country have been given to the clerk's office by Lakeland Newspapers and are available to the public at no charge.

Lake County veterans featured in the section are Donald Kahn of Lindenhurst, Arne Shevikhoven of Grayslake, Tom Finnegan of Round Lake Beach, Elmer Hoskins of Libertyville, Tom Hilliard of Grayslake, Joe Godawa of Wauconda, Allen Lynch of Gurnee, Bill Oerly of Antioch, Bob Wegge of Grayslake, Jose Duran of Grayslake, John Rasmussen of Gurnee, Joe Trimble of Mundelein, Glen Snagel of Grayslake, Marvin Kingsbury of Round Lake Beach, Peter Pugh of Lincolnshire, Nancy Romano of Ingleside, and Raymond Rockenbach of Grayslake.

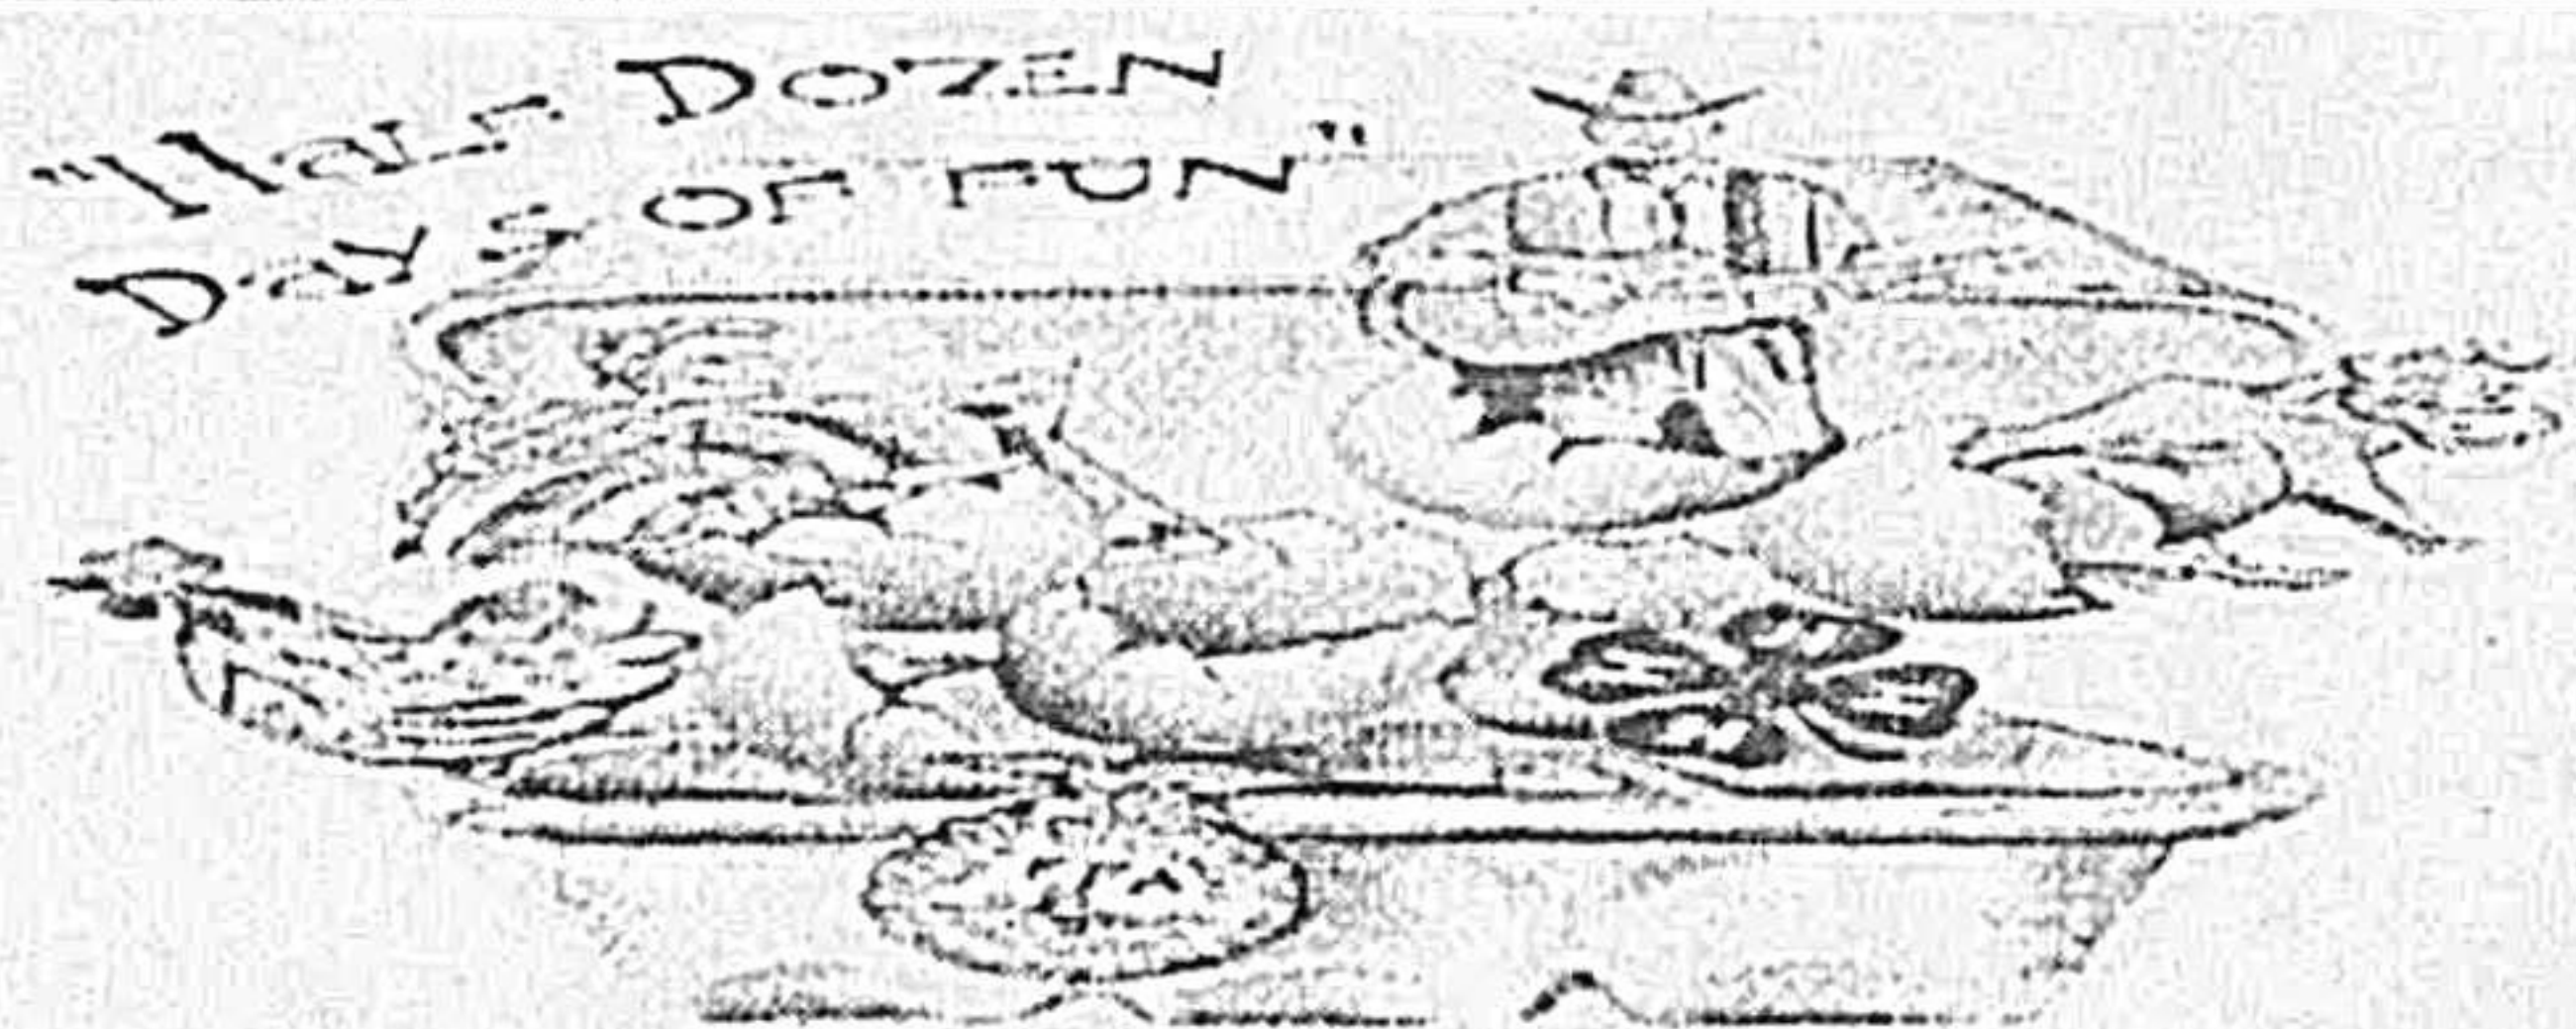

War veterans came to Lake County Clerk Willard Helander's office to help rally support for new voters. The veterans were part of Lakeland's special section "For Love of Country" earlier this summer.

Helping a fearful child

Hi Dr. Singer,

You have written several columns in the past few weeks about all of the child abductions. I have a problem related to that topic and wanted your input. Although we try to protect our 7 year old son from the news so he doesn't get fearful, he has heard things about these horrible abductions from other kids and has also apparently snuck out of his room to stand outside of our room to hear the news. Consequently, he started out scared and has now become borderline terrified of being abducted

PARENT'S PLACE

himself. He will not sleep in his room alone. He will not play outside. It is like a giant panic attack and we are not sure of what to do. On the one hand, we don't want him to not worry at all so he isn't aware of who is around him, but on the other hand, we want him to be able to live a normal life. People we know have told us to ignore the panic so we don't make it permanent. We want to surround, envelope and protect him until he feels safe again. Are we wrong? What do we do? S.S.

Hi S.S.,

That poor little kid. This just makes me heartsick to think of a little 7 year old feeling that way. Unfortunately we cannot protect our kids from information. It will get to them somehow, despite our best efforts. Especially in a society that likes to repeat and repeat and repeat bad news.

Your little man needs some help and I think the professional variety would be best. If you want to consult with me in person, we can do that if you call again to do that. If you would rather see someone else, that is fine too, but you should definitely pursue that for him.

With that said as the 1st priority, I will also give you some suggestions that I think will help him. First, there are a lot of people out there who might suggest that you should not comfort him when he acts panicked so you don't make the panic get rewarded. I think that is a bunch of hooey! He needs comfort from someone he feels safe with. He is feeling very unsafe and when he feels safe again, is when he will stop panicking.

Ignoring his panic will not help him. Your gut instinct of surrounding him and protecting him is a good instinct. I would not want you to make him feel that hiding out is o.k. forever. You can help him to get back to his normal activities by being with him and watching him. Just be within comfort distance, not too close, not too far.

This does not mean you need to sleep with him. If it makes him feel more comfortable to have you with him, maybe for a while you could stay with him until he falls asleep or read to him until he falls asleep. Maybe you could also get a monitor like people use for babies rooms and let him know that you can hear everything that goes on in his room. They even have 2 way monitors now so you can talk back and forth if necessary. If you don't have a burglar alarm, you might check into that so he knows that no one can come in without being noticed.

Please make sure your son knows that even though we are seeing so much and hearing so much on the news about child abductions that there aren't actually more than there ever have been. It's just that the news is reporting on it all the time. One abduction is too many as far as I'm concerned, but there are not more than before.

Take steps to help your son feel like he can protect himself. Teach him stranger danger like I outlined in my column a few weeks ago. If you didn't catch it, you can go to your local library and find it in any Lakeland paper. There are also classes popping up all over the place that teach self-defense and confidence for this very topic. Do some research to find one that might have parents and kids learn together.

Continue to reassure him that this will not happen to him. That he can take steps to keep himself safe. Do your best to block off the news so he doesn't hear it (it's probably better for all of your health to limit your viewing of these topics.) Eventually, he will adjust and get back to his life. It will take some time and some intervention from that professional help I mentioned earlier.

There is no question about it. These are terrible events that have occurred. There are times I hear some new tidbit on the news and end up in tears for an hour. It's hard not to. Just make sure your sweetie feels loved, and protected and reassured. Fill his world with kid things and block out the rest and he will do fine.

She regularly works in person with many readers of this column, helping them to significantly improve their kid's attention, behavior, self-control, processing skills and self-esteem in her Total Success Program. # ALL THE BASICS FOR BACK TO SCHOOL

What freshmen should bring to college

By MEGAN LOISELLE
Staff Reporter

After enduring countless months of decisions and applications, nail biting and jubilation, it is time to pack your bags. If you are living in the dorms, you have the challenge of squeezing bathroom, bedroom, kitchen supplies and more into a tiny compartment the college calls a room.

The area stores are pulling all the stops, filling their shelves with things to outfit your dorm room. Beware, some of the things are more appropriate for an apartment than a dorm room because the colleges usually furnish rooms.

Don't be one of the freshmen that drags enormous boxes out of the family van, just to realize they forgot something important. Not to mention the stuff they did bring could not possibly fit in the closet-like living space.

Ask fellow college students some of the most important stuff they brought. Look for a list from your college as well, and make sure to note any specialized items your college requests, like an Ethernet adapter for your computer or extra long sheets. Most colleges do not let you put screws in to the walls.

If you are having a graduation party, wait until after the party to buy things. Also, remember that each dorm room only needs - and fits - one TV, VCR/DVD player, telephone, refrigerator, microwave, and large rug. Wait until you receive your roommate assignment before buying these things. Be patient, some notices may not come until early August.

Keep in mind the climate when packing clothes and shopping for new things. Remember that you will experience a part of every season at college, be prepared for anything. Save room by bringing heavy winter clothes later if possible. Make sure you have clothes for every activity you would like to participate in.

Try to remember what the "typical" dorm room looked like that they showed you on the campus tour. Look at the housing office's web site for pictures they have posted online. Most colleges also send information packets on the different residence halls. Find out how moving day works, and if the hall has elevators. It's better to pack several smaller boxes that one person can handle than a couple large ones.

One good thing about the residence hall bathrooms is that you won't have to fight over it with your siblings - just fifty other kids on your floor. You will need to be able to carry your bathroom items to and from your dorm room.

Doing your laundry is a new experience for most college kids - add a limited number of machines for the entire building, shirt swiping and the constant search for quarters.

On top of living in the dorm room, you will also need be organized for class. Buy the usual school supplies at the back-to-school sales you have been raiding since you were in kindergarten. It's possible to buy them at the bookstores on campus but it may be cheaper off-campus.

Don't forget to bring the stuff for your usual daily activities and hobbies. Bring pictures, posters and your favorite stuffed animal.

Medical immunizations painful on wallet

Lake County Health Department offers cheap clinics

By CHRISTY BLANDFORD
Staff Reporter

While some children cringe at the thought of getting a shot, their parents might cringe even more at the costs of these state-mandated immunizations.

But the Lake County Health Department is aiming to alleviate some of the burden—some costs of medical immunizations with nine area clinics that offer them at a minimal cost.

"We run our program through grants from the Vaccine for Children federal program, which allows us to be able to immunize at a low cost," Health Department Immunization Program Coordinator Kathy Barnett said. "It's a nice situation when you can get children immunized and protected and not have to pay a lot of money."

Immunizations at the clinic cost $8 per shot, although those who cannot afford the fee are not turned away. This minor cost can lift a heavy burden from many parents' wallets, Barnett said, considering the large number of vaccines that are required each year.

Annually, around 12,000 Lake County children take advantage of the clinics, which amounts to nearly 36,000 shots each year, Barnett said.

"It's very cyclical this time of year," she said. "It gets very busy and there are high numbers through November and then people forget about us until the next school year."

The health department ran only three Lake County clinics until they joined a partnership with some of the county community hospitals in 1995, which "allows us to expand our outreach and be more available to the community," Barnett said.

All students entering public schools for the first time must show proof of having received the polio, measles, rubella mumps and diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (DPT) vaccines. Students entering fifth grade must also receive the hepatitis B vaccine.

Effective this year, all students entering kindergarten must also have received the varicella, or chickenpox, vaccination or show proof of having had the disease.

Barnett said all of the required vaccinations are available at all nine clinic locations, except for the chickenpox shot.

The department's main location, 2303 Dodge Avenue, Waukegan, is the only clinic capable of dispensing the chickenpox vaccination because it must be kept frozen, thus transporting it to other clinics is a problem.

The clinics are open to all Lake County residents ages six months to 18 years old. Parents or guardians are required to bring their children's immunization records to the clinic at the time of immunization. For more information, call (847) 377-8000.

How to pick the right student-care program for your child

Nothing is more precious to you than your child's well-being. And if you are a working parent with school-aged children, it is essential to your own well-being that you find quality after school care.

The good news is, unlike years ago, there are now a number of after school programs from which to choose. But how do you know which is the best program for your child? By observing, asking questions, and knowing what to look for. Based on more than 20 years of experience in education and child care, Afterschool Club® offers you the following guidelines.

Become familiar with the ### program

First of all, find out if the program is flexible enough to meet your needs. Is the center open on school holidays...a must for many working parents? Are before school care hours available if you need them?

Then, ask about the curriculum. A good program will offer kids a variety of enriching activities—academic, athletic and creative.

In addition, check out the program's safety procedures. The policies should be specific and in writing.

Don't hesitate to ask for references. Ask for the names of several parents whose children are already in the program, and be sure to make those calls.

Scope out the facility

You can tell a great deal about a facility simply by looking at it. It should be clean and bright; equipment and furniture should be safe and in good repair.

A little disorder is a good sign. It means kids are busy, active and involved. A place that is too neat and sterile probably isn't going to be very enriching—or very much fun.

Be a fly on the wall

Spend at least an hour at the center at a peak time. Make yourself as inconspicuous as possible, and ask yourself the following questions:

- Are the children happy?
- Are the kids engaged in interesting activities?
- Is there structure? Do the caregivers do a good job of maintaining order?
- What is the noise level? While a chaotic environment is certainly undesirable, a fun-loving program will generate a fair amount of enthusiasm.
- Last of all, you know your child better than anyone. Follow your instincts.
- Afterschool Club® provides before and after school care in Lake County. Headquartered in Grayslake, the Afterschool Club can be reached at 847-548-0771.

Back to School safety tips

Riding the Bus

School bus transportation is safe. In fact, buses are safer than cars! Even so, last year, approximately 26 students were killed and another 9,000 were injured in incidents involving school buses. More often than not, these deaths and injuries didn't occur in a crash, but as the pupils were entering and exiting the bus. Remember these safety tips:

- *Have a safe place to wait for your bus, away from traffic and the street.
- *Stay away from the bus until it comes to a complete stop and the driver signals you to enter.
- *When being dropped off, exit the bus and walk ten giant steps away from the bus. Keep a safe distance between you and the bus. Also, remember that the bus driver can see you best when you are back away from the bus.
- *Use the handrail to enter and exit the bus.
- *Stay away from the bus until the driver gives his/her signal that it's okay to approach.

*Be aware of the street traffic around you. Drivers are required to follow certain rules of the road concerning school buses, however, not all do. Protect yourself and watch out!

Walking and Biking to School

Even if you don't ride in a motor vehicle, you still have to protect yourself. Because of minimal supervision, young pedestrians face a wide variety of decisions making situations and dangers while walking to and from school. Here are a few basic safety tips to follow:

- *Mind all traffic signals and/or the crossing guard -- never cross the street against a light, even if you don't see any traffic coming.
- *Walk your bike through intersections.
- *Walk with a buddy.

*Wear reflective material...it makes you more visible to street traffic.

Riding in a Car

*You might have heard before that most traffic crashes occur close to home ... they do.

*Safety belts are the best form of protection passengers have in the event of a crash. They can lower your risk of injury by 45%.

*You are four times more likely to be seriously injured or killed if ejected from the vehicle in a crash.

*Everyone needs to be buckled up properly. That means older kids in seat belts, younger kids in booster seats and little kids in child safety seats.

Does your child ride in the back seat? The back seat is generally the safest place in a crash. If your vehicle has a passenger air bag, it is essential for children 12 and under to ride in back.

Does your child ride facing the right way? Infants should ride in rear facing restraints (in the back seat) until age 1 and at least 20-22 lbs. Infants who weigh 20 lbs. before 1 year of age should ride in a restraint approved for higher rear facing weights. Always read your child restraint manual for instructions on properly using the restraint. Children over age one and at least 20 pounds may ride facing forward.

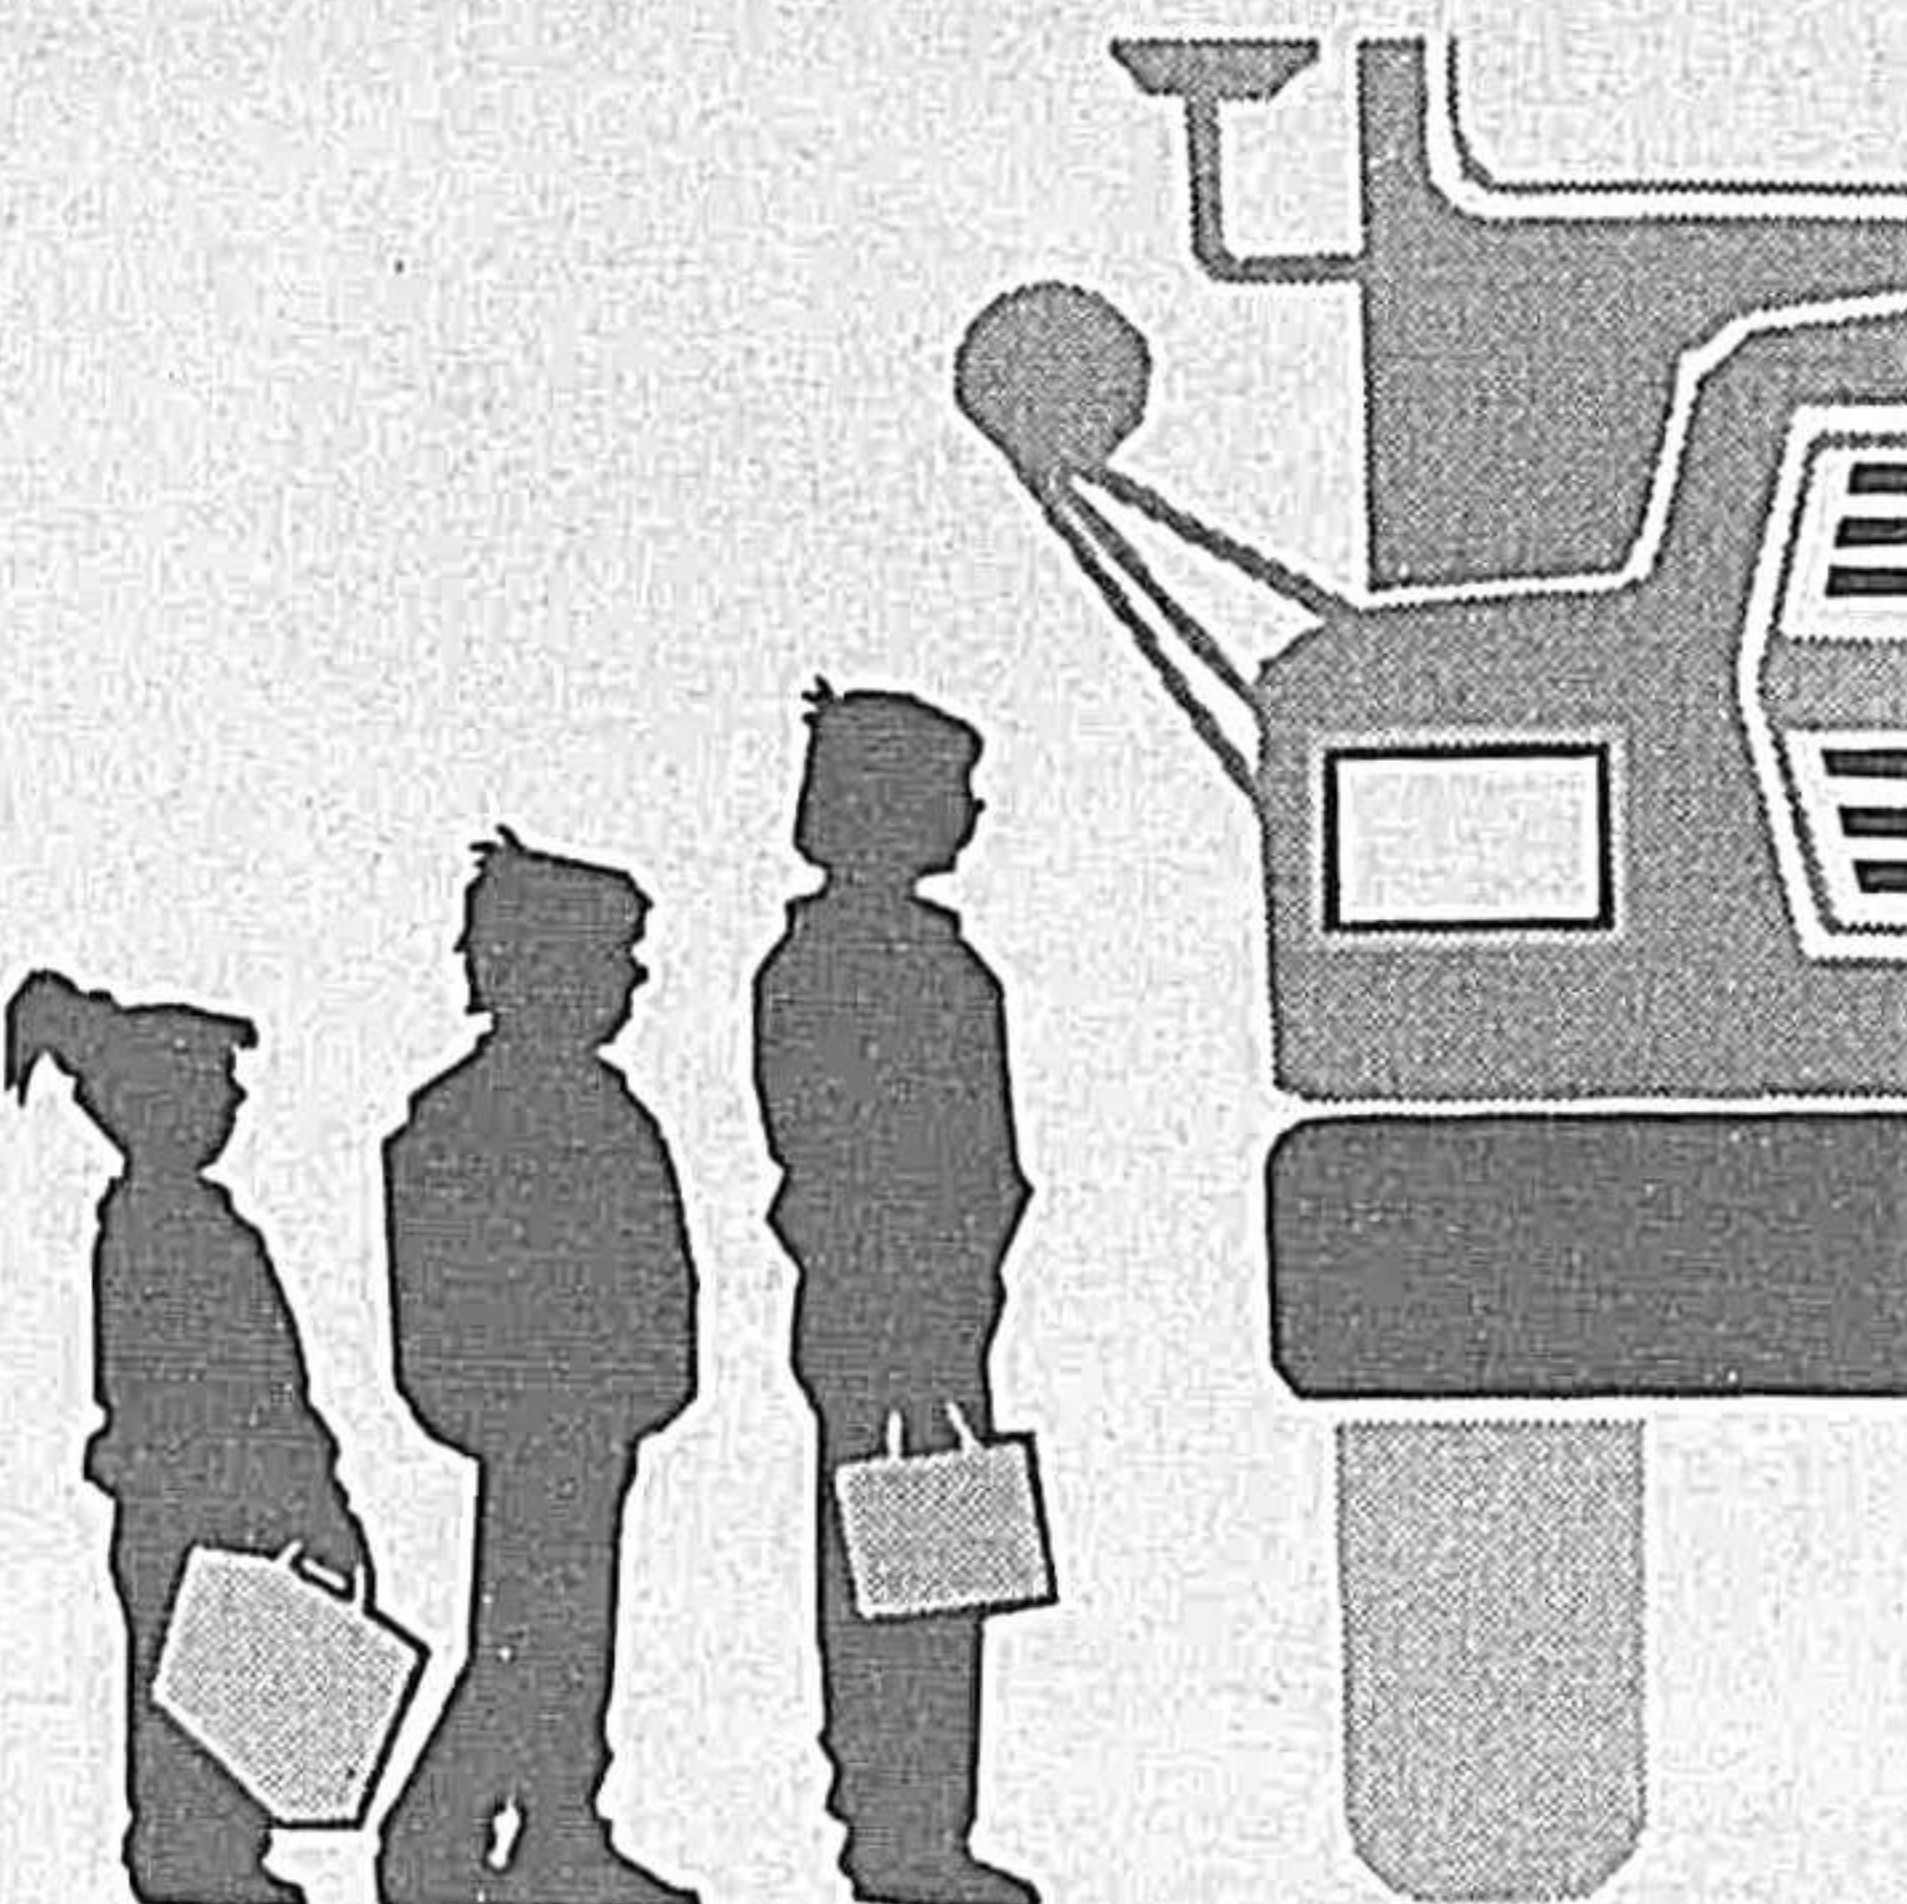

Does the safety belt hold the seat tightly in place? Put the belt through the correct slots. If your safety seat can be used facing either way, use the correct belt path for each direction.

Check the vehicle owner's manual and safety seat instruction book for guidance. Is the harness buckled snugly around your child? Keep harness straps snug over the child's shoulders. Place the chest clip at armpit level.

Does your child over 40 pounds have the best protection possible? Keep your child in a safety seat with a full harness as long as possible, at least until 40 pounds.

Then use a belt-positioning booster seat which helps the adult lap and shoulder belt fit better. A belt-positioning booster seat is preferred for children between 40-80 pounds. It is used with the adult lap and shoulder belt.

How should a safety belt fit an older child? The child should be tall enough to sit without slouching, with knees bent at the edge of the seat, with feet on the floor. The lap belt must fit low and tight across the upper thighs. The shoulder belt should rest over the shoulder and across the chest. Never put the shoulder belt under the arm or behind the child's back. The adult lap and shoulder belt system alone will not fit most children until they are at least 4'9" tall and weigh about 80 pounds.

Warren to study space problem at high school

Community members are being asked to help serve on a committee to study the space problems created by the growing student population at Warren Township High School. In 1999, a space committee made initial recommendations, which can be read on the schools web site at www.wths.net/space.

According to Dr. Robert McKanna, Superintendent of Schools, "District 121 is running out of instructional space. The growth in our elementary districts will result in WTHS housing more than 5,000 students before you know it."

The new space committee is being formed to build on the work of the 1999 committee to consider options and develop the best plan of action.

The committee will meet on Wednesdays from August through November, with meetings beginning at 7 p.m. on the following dates: Wednesday, August 28, at the O'Plaine campus library; September 25, at the Almond campus library; October 23, at the O'Plaine campus library and November 20, at the Almond campus library.

Community members interested in joining the committee are asked to provide their names, addresses, email and phone numbers to Dr. McKanna's secretary, Pam Podstawa, by emailing her at ppodstawa@wths.net or calling her at 847-599-4769.

Dr. McKanna encourages questions, regarding the space committee and its work, be directed to him by calling him at 847-599-4602 or emailing him at rmckanna@wths.net.

Back-to-school rush hits families

By MEGAN LOISELLE
Staff Reporter

Start the mad rushing to the local school supply stores; the school year is starting again. The year to year hustle and bustle does not change much, but kids love the onslaught of new gear to start the school year right.

Here's a list to get started. Outfit your child with the needed supplies to encourage learning and good study habits. Do not break the bank buying school supplies, by winter break half of their supplies will be lost or damaged. Most schools have a special list, so look for it in the mail or visit their web site. Some supplies needed may vary depending on school and grade.

Outings

The 8th Annual Special Recreation of Central Lake County Golf Outing will be held at Pine Meadow Golf Club in Mundelein on Wed., Sept. 18.

The event will feature a 1 p.m. shotgun start with an express lunch, 18 holes of golf with electric cart, golf contests with prizes, raffles and prizes, and a buffet dinner at The Libertyville Sports Complex following golf. The event will be a best ball foursome scramble format.

Golf and dinner costs $135. For dinner only, the cost is $35. There are numerous hole sponsorships and golf packages also available.

A golf hat, mug and golf balls will be part of each golfer's 'goodie bag'.

To reserve your spot, please call SRCLC at 847-816-4866.

SRCLC was formed in 1976 as a cooperative effort of Member Agencies to provide year round community-based recreation services to individuals with disabilities and their families.

SRCLC offers more than 350 weekly programs and events during the year.

The Lake County Urban League will host its 7th Annual Charity Golf Outing on Aug. 29 at Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth. Bob Love, former star forward for the Chicago Bulls, is the honorary chairman of the 2002 charity golf event. He is also scheduled to compete. The scramble format is open to the public. The outing allows each participant a chance to win $1 million, along with other exciting hole-in-one prizes and raffles. The exclusive package comes complete with 18 holes of quality golf with electric cart, lunch and dinner, and silent and live auctions that offer a variety of autographed celebrity items available for purchase. For reservations, please contact Jerry Adams at 847-249-3770.

Come and help Lake County's Special Kids by participating in the Fifth Annual SEDOL Foundation Golf Outing will take place on September 9 at Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth.

Great food, drinks, contests and prizes will be a part of this fun-filled day that will feature golf, tennis and swimming.

Please call The SEDOL Foundation at 847-680-0022 for further information or to register.

Competitions

The next scheduled qualifier for the RE/MAX World Long Drive Championships is slated for Aug. 24 at the Deer Run Golf Center in Woodstock. The competition is open to amateurs and professionals. There are three divisions; Open, Senior and Women's.

This year's Illinois-Wisconsin district competition in the Open, Women's and Senior divisions is set for Sept. 14 at the Green Valley Driving Range in Roselle, Ill. Junior Division qualifiers will compete in the district event on Aug. 9 at Oakland University in Detroit. Top finishers at both of those district events move on to the RE/MAX World Long Drive Championship finals on Oct. 15-19 at the Palms Golf Club in Mesquite, Nev. Open, Women's and Senior divisions will compete for a share of a $325,000 purse, the largest in the history of the event. Junior competitors compete for trophies.

Ostin remembers the 'rush'

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

The Demolition Derby at the 2002 Lake County Fair may be history. But fond recollections are still on the mind of former Gurnee resident Jim Ostin.

It was back in 1986 when Ostin decided to give it a go in his first and only Derby appearance.

"By virtue of going to the Fair in year's previous, I decided to check it out," said Ostin, 34 and now living in Nevada with wife Victoria and son's J.J. (11) and Brandon (9).

"There seemed to be no rules, per se. And just the thought of getting out there and hitting something and making it so others can't move—it looked like a rush. Plus, I am the kind of person who thrives on competition."

Driving solo in his 1971 Plymouth Fury, Ostin definitely got the rush that he was expecting, and he hit a few people along the way.

Ostin wound up winning his heat race to earn a spot in the 'A' feature.

But now without taking a few hits of his own. Somewhere in the middle of the heat race, the carburetor caught fire.

"The car stayed running though," recalled Ostin. "But you have to stay still when there's a fire of any kind."

So, the fire crew came and put out the fire within a minute or so and he was back in business.

"Laying in the weeds", so to speak, Ostin smacked several competitors in the 16-car field. His run fell a little short, though, when a pink Cadillac smashed into him from behind with his back bumper.

Unfortunately, Ostin was close to the fence, where logs guarded the perimeter.

The impact pushed his front end up onto one of the logs.

"The car was still running but I was stuck," he said. "The only thing I could do was put it in reverse as to try and get off the log. I couldn't move and wound up blowing my transmission. I had been put on the clock and my two minutes expired, so I was out."

For those unfamiliar, a driver being 'on the clock' means that his or her car is motionless. If two minutes elapse, the driver, or car, is black-flagged.

All things considered, Ostin's car was in pretty decent shape compared to others in the field when it was all said and done. His back end was smashed up to almost his rear windshield. But amazingly enough, he still had all of his tires intact.

The action-packed event also produced a few physical bumps and bruises as well.

"Man, there was some viscous hitting out there," said Ostin. "People think because you're not going fast or don't have a lot of room that some of the hits aren't violent. Your body gets jerked around a lot. I was definitely sore after the whole thing was over."

The soreness was worth it though, as Ostin received a cash prize for his efforts.

The top-5 in both the B feature and A feature earned cash prizes.

"All in all, it was a pretty cool experience," said Ostin. "Definitely the rush I expected."

HoopStars take 7th at National Tournament in Madison

The Lake County-based sixth-grade HoopStars finished with a 4-5 record and a seventh-place finish in the National Madison (Wis.) Basketball Tournament.

In game 1, the HoopStars crushed Cary Grove 50-8. The team was led by Kevin Mason (nine points, three assists, three steals), Chris Palmer (four points, four rebounds), Taylor Erbach (eight points, five rebounds, two steals, block), and Kegan McDaniel (six points, nine rebounds, two steals).

Dan Kalb (eight points, steal, rebound), Brent Seamann (six points, three rebounds, steal), Jason Warneke (three points, three assists, three steals), Scott Geske (four points, four rebounds, five assists), Andy Goggins (two points, five rebounds) and Johnny Layton (seven rebounds) also made solid contributions.

In the second game, the HoopStars held on to defeat the Kenosha Spirit 37-35. Erbach (eight points, 10 rebounds, two assists, steal); Mason (seven points, two steals); Warneke (seven points, steal, assist); McDaniel (four points, three assists, two steals, three rebounds); Goggins (two points, three rebounds); Layton (two points, three rebounds); Geske (two points, two rebounds, two assists); Seamann (five points); and Palmer (five rebounds) led the HoopStars.

In game 3, the HoopStars fell to the Chicago Crusaders 40-36 despite solid efforts from Warneke (18 points, five rebounds, four steals), Erbach (eight points, nine rebounds, steal), McDaniel (nine rebounds, four points, two steals, block), Geske (nine rebounds, three points, two assists, steal, block) and Mason (three points, steal, assist, rebound).

In game 4, the HoopStars lost again to the Road Warriors 46-33. Leaders for the HoopStars included: Mason (14 points, two rebounds, two assists), McDaniel (eight points, two rebounds, steal), Erbach (six points, eight rebounds, steal), Warneke (two points, two rebounds, two steals), Seamann (two points, two rebounds, steal), Layton (three rebounds, steal, two blocks) and Palmer (two points, steal) all turned in solid efforts.

Then, in game 5, the HoopStars lost their third straight game to the Linnmar Lions 41-34. Good efforts were turned in by the following: McDaniel (nine points, three rebounds, three blocks, two steals); Erbach (eight points, six rebounds, block); Warneke (seven points, three rebounds, steal); Mason (four points, three assists, two steals); Geske (four points, three rebounds, three assists, block, steal) and Seamann (two points, assist, two steals).

In game 7, the HoopStars lost their fourth consecutive game to the Bull Dawgs 34-27. Leaders included: Seamann (11 points, two rebounds, two assists); Erbach (six points, 10 rebounds, three steals); McDaniel (one point, five rebounds, steal), Palmer (four points); and Warneke (two points) led the team in the losing effort.

The HoopStars were able to bounce back in the final game of the tournament with another win over Cary Grove, 45-38. McDaniel (eight points, eight rebounds, three blocks, assist), Mason (seven points, rebound, two assists), Geske (six points, 10 rebounds), Erbach (five points, 10 rebounds, steal), Goggins (four points, three rebounds), Kalb (six points, rebound), Layton (three points, assist, three rebounds); Warneke (one point, three assists, steal), Seamann (three points) and Palmer (two points) led the way.

Fifth-graders 4-4 at Madison

The Northern Lake County HoopStars fifth-grade boy's travel basketball team completed their summer season at the Madison Wildcats Tournament, finishing with a 4-4 record.

The team played the aggressive Iowa Crusaders in the first game, coming up short 59-36. Offensive leaders included: Brandon Paul (14 points); Jake Anderson (six points); Michael Brocius (five points); Scott Dehnke and John Androus (four points each); and Chad Clausen (three points). Paul added six rebounds, Brocius four rebounds and two steals, and John Androus two rebounds and four steals.

The HoopStars claimed victory by forfeit in game 2 before beating the Peotone Stars twice, 47-39 in game 3 and 54-28 in game 8. The scoring efforts were well rounded in both games, with the entire team supplying points. Paul led the offense with a total of 28 points, followed by Clausen's 13 points and Dehnke's 12. The team's defense was strong in both games. Paul grabbed 25 rebounds while James Poliquin totaled 13, Anderson 11, Androus nine and Dehnke eight. The team totaled 17 steals in the two games.

In game 4, the HoopStars beat Mt. Horeb 46-28. The team again had a balanced offensive and defensive game, with contributions coming from all players. Paul had 10 points and seven rebounds. Brocius added six points, four rebounds, and three steals. Poliquin added seven points, two rebounds and one steal. Anderson had six points and eight rebounds. Taylor Furmanski supplied three points and four rebounds. Key defensive efforts also came from Dehnke, Androus, Clausen and Ryan DeRose.

Games 5 and 7 saw the HoopStars lose to the Wisconsin Ballers 52-26 and 47-41, respectively. Paul led the team's scoring with a total of 24 points, followed by Anderson (15), Dehnke (14), and Brocius and Clausen with five each. Defensively, the team combined for 55 rebounds. Leading the effort was Paul with 16 boards, Anderson nine and Brocius and Androus with seven apiece. The team also recorded 13 steals.

The HoopStars lost to Dan Power's Road Warriors 69-48 in game 6. Scoring was lead by Paul with 20 points, Poliquin six and Brocius five. Defensively, Poliquin and Androus each had four rebounds, while Dehnke had three. DeRose and Clausen also supplied key steals.

The team, coached by Roger Clausen and Steve Furmanski, has completed their summer travel season, compiling a record of 12-33 in eight tournaments. The team members live in the communities of Grayslake, and Lindenhurst.

Edward A. Kohlmeier Jr.

Age 68 of Round Lake, died Friday, Aug. 9, 2002 at Northwestern Memorial Hospital in Chicago. He was born July 30, 1934 in Loganville, Wis. to Edward and Caroline (Westedt) Kohlmeier Sr. on May 24, 1958, he was united in marriage with Patricia "Patti" Joy Steffen. He was a U.S. Army veteran, serving four years and attaining the rank of Sergeant. Early in his career, he was employed as a mechanic for Bowman Dairy and Molitor Chevrolet. In 1960, he and Patti opened their business, A-Tire County Service in Round Lake. He proudly rebuilt his business following a devastating fire that burned the service station in 1972. Along with his son, Michael, Ed was active in the continued operation of his business until his recent illness.

Among his civic contributions, he served as an active member of the Republican Party Committee for Lake County; currently held the position of commissioner for the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners for the Round Lake Police Department for several years; was former commissioner for the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners for the Round Lake Beach Police Department; and served on the Round Lake Beach Zoning Board. One of his greatest contributions was his instrumental role in creating the Greater Round Lake Fire Protection District. During the district's 35 years of operation, Ed first served as secretary of the organization, and then took over as president, where he remained for the majority of the district's history.

Ed attended Calvary Presbyterian Church in Round Lake, and enjoyed fishing, trap shooting, billiards, snowmobiling, and building and maintaining his prized 1934 Ford. He was president of the Harbor Sno-Mates Snowmobile Club, and during his term, was instrumental in raising $60,000 for the American Heart Association and Lions Club.

He leaves his son and daughter-in-law, Michael and Danette Kohlmeier of Round Lake; his cherished grandson, Austin Michael Kohlmeier; a brother, John (Beverly) Kohlmeier of Friendship, Wis.; a niece and nephews; and many dear, loving, supportive friends. He is preceded in death by his beloved wife, Patti, on Oct. 12, 1999; and a brother, Harry.

Visitation for Mr. Kohlmeier took place on Aug. 13 from 2-9 p.m. at Justen's Round Lake Funeral Home, Round Lake. Funeral service was held at 10 a.m., Aug. 14 at Calvary Presbyterian Church, Round Lake with Rev. Lisle Kauffman officiating. Interment was private in Highland Memorial Park, Libertyville. Memorials would be greatly appreciated by Ed's family to the following organizations: Greater Round Lake Fire Protection District Memorial Fund, 409 Nippersink, Round Lake, IL 60073; Round Lake Beautification Fund, 442 N. Cedar Lake Rd., Round Lake, IL 60073; or to Calvary Presbyterian Church, 510 N. Cedar Lake Rd., Round Lake, IL 60073.

Demonstrate the RIGHT Attitude to Future Employers

By Scott T. Fleischmann

Last week in this column I explained why many employers regard values, character, and attitudes as more important than skills. I also identified some of the attitudes that are most important to recruiters and hiring managers. This week we will explore how to demonstrate your positive attitudes to a future employer.

Most candidates have been trained to focus only on skills when applying for a job. Learning to discuss attitudes with future employers can be uncomfortable. Here are some steps to start that process:

- Distinguish Important Values - Write down the values that are important to you. Every item you list effects your attitudes, so the more you list the more information you will have to share with a possible future employer.
- Describe Attitudes - Values influence attitudes and every attitude is viewed as positive by some and as negative by others. A person who believes that family is important is more sensitive to those with families but may not be as sensitive to others. Someone who believes that diversity is important may be sensitive to many segments of society but may offend some that have strong specific beliefs. Those who value honesty will be more honest, but if not done factually, that honesty may offend others. List the positive perceptions in one column and the negative perceptions in another.

- Develop a Plan - Create an approach to tell others about these good attitudes. You want to share data as early in the process as possible. Although including them in the resume is often awkward, the language that you use will tell a future employer much about your attitudes. You may be able to include some of the attitudes in the cover letter. Examples include: "My analytical nature and calm demeanor allow me to lead others in times of stress." "In my last performance evaluation I was told that my strong interpersonal skills contributed to teamwork." or "Several co-workers recently recognized my contributions to a project in a sister department."

Look for opportunities to share your positive attitudes in the interviewing process. When giving illustrations that demonstrate your skills also mention the attitudes that contributed to the accomplishment. For example: "my past project management experience was a key factor in completing the XYZ project on time and within the budget constraints. The people who worked on the project were diligent, supportive and goal oriented. I believe that teamwork is important. We functioned as a team on this project."

- Decide to Implement - You now have all of the needed information and a plan to share that data. The last step is to start sharing with future employers.

The four D's for sharing your attitudes and values with future employers is a process that has worked for me and for many of my friends. Give it a try and future employers will be more likely to select you as the best person to fill that important opening.

BEGINNING AT THE NORTHWEST CORNER OF SAID NORTHWEST QUARTER; THENCE NORTH 89°52'16" EAST ALONG THE NORTH LINE OF SAID NORTHEAST QUARTER, A DISTANCE OF 100.00 FEET TO A POINT ON A NON-TANGENT CURVE; THENCE WESTERLY ALONG A CURVE CONCAVE NORTHERLY HAVING A CHORD BEARING OF SOUTH 89°52'16" WEST AND A RADIUS OF 50.00 FEET, AN ARC DISTANCE OF 157.08 FEET TO THE PLACE OF BEGINNING.

CONTAINING 19,612,909 SQUARE FEET OR 450.250 ACRES, MORE OR LESS.

REQUEST: The Property is currently zoned R-1, with a requirement that it be developed as a Planned Unit Development, (P.U.D.), pursuant to Annexation Ordinance Number 89-1-6. The Petitioner requests a specific P.U.D. within the existing R-1, One-Family Zoning District.

The Petition also includes the following attached exhibits: A) legal description of the Property; B) draft Ordinance amending Section 150.108(A)(3) of the Village's Zoning Ordinance; C) draft Ordinance amending Section 152.031 of the Village's Subdivision Code; and D) "Request for Special Use Permit for Planned Unit Development."

PROPOSAL: Petitioner proposes to develop the Property as a residential P.U.D. with a total of 960 dwelling units, all of them detached single-family homes. The Preliminary P.U.D. submittal includes but is not limited to the following documents: Preliminary Engineering, dated 8/01/02 and prepared by Manhard Consulting, Ltd., Vernon Hills, Illinois; Preliminary Plat of Subdivision dated 8/01/02 and prepared by Manhard Consulting, Ltd. Vernon Hills, Illinois; Illustrative Plan, Masterplanned Community, dated 7/27/02 and prepared by Bloodgood Sharp &amp; Buster, Palatine, Illinois; Landscape Plan dated 7/27/02 and prepared by Bloodgood Sharp &amp; Buster, Palatine, Illinois; and Preliminary Plan dated 7/27/02 and prepared by Bloodgood Sharp &amp; Buster, Palatine, Illinois.

Petitioner also proposes an amendment to Section 150.108(A)(3) of the Village's Zoning Ordinance to provide that the bulk standards of the underlying zoning classification do not apply to a planned unit development and that lots of 7,800 square feet are permitted as a matter of right in a planned unit development.

Petitioner also proposes an amendment to Section 152.031 of the Village's Subdivision Code to approve site-specific sidewalk plans in planned unit developments of greater than 400 acres, in lieu of the standards in paragraphs (A) and (B) of Section 152.031.

Copies of the complete petition package, including petition exhibits, proposed plan, draft amending ordinances, and supporting documentation, may be viewed by the public at the Office of Village Clerk, 874 Main Street, and the Ready Reference Section of the Antioch Public Library, 757 Main Street.

Health Fair serves county's underprivileged

By CHRISTY BLANDFORD
Staff Reporter

The Lake County Health Department's 10th annual Kids 1st Health Fair served over 1,700 Lake County children last week, offering free medical services to those who could not normally afford them.

"I think it's very important because there are a large number of families that are low-income that do not have health insurance so they have no resources," co-chairwoman of the fair Phyllis Albrecht said.

The health fair served 719 Lake County families this year, providing 830 physicals and 349 immunizations to those in need. The families served averaged a yearly family income of $15,412.08, which is the low-income bracket the organizers hoped to aid.

Families spent an average of two hours at the fair, working their way through the organized system of immunizations, physicals, dental check-ups and vendors offering information about their services, all geared toward low-income families.

Albrecht said organizers began the fair 10 years ago in order to help area children begin school on time each year.

"If a child is entering the grades for which physicals are required and they come to school in the fall and haven't complied, they can't return until they can afford the physical," Albrecht said. "The fair has done a tremendous job of reducing that compliance."

Flyers about the fair were sent home with students attending schools that have a high number of low-income students, Albrecht said. These flyers spell out the income requirements for families that could qualify for the medical aid, which Albrecht said is why they "rarely" turn anyone away.

Nearly 500 volunteers, including medical assistants, nurses, dentists and physical therapists offered their services, which Health Educator and event organizer Sharon Doney said is a sign of the times.

"People volunteered even more so than ever before," Doney said. "I think it might be because of Sept. 11."

Edgar Pigg of Lake Bluff spent four hours volunteering at the event, directing families through the building as a representative of the Waukegan Rotary Club. He said he and 10 other Rotary members volunteered since it mirrored the Rotarian philosophy of good works.

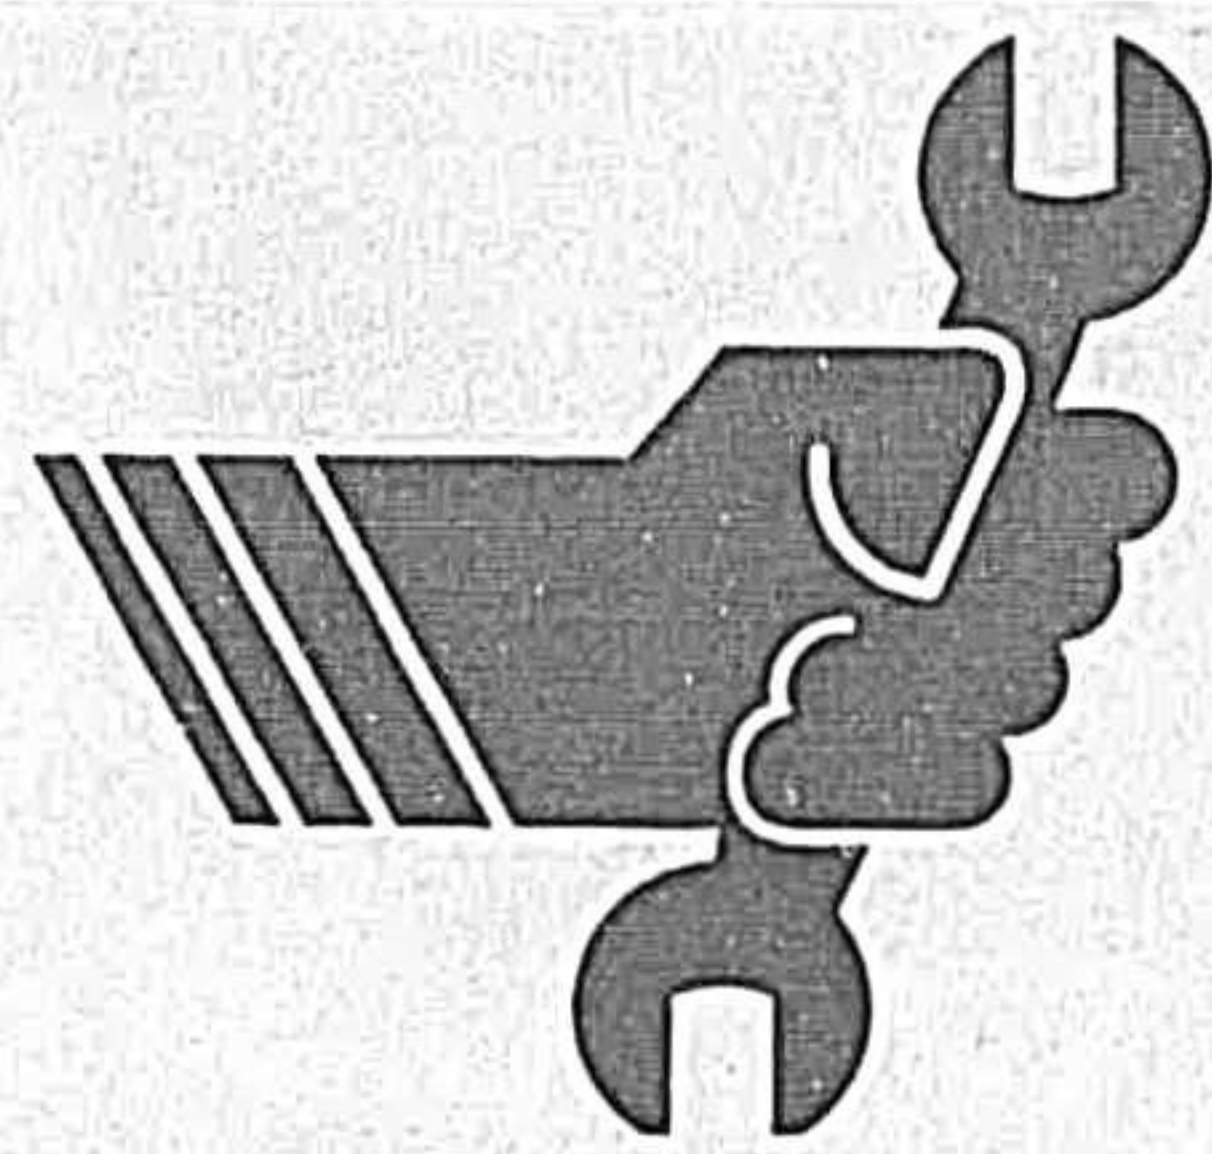

"It's a vital service to help the medically underserved of the county," Pigg said. "It's in harmony with (the Rotary philosophy) — we do a lot of civic projects."

A large number of Spanish translators also volunteered at the event, which Doney said is invaluable since about 60% of the families served are Hispanic.

Volunteers also packed over 1,500 backpacks full of age-appropriate school supplies for the children. All school supplies were donated by "very generous" Lake County corporations, churches and foundations, Albrecht said.

Doney said 300 more children were served this year than last, which is encouraging.

"To think they do all that in just one day, it's just amazing," Doney said.

SRACLCL celebrating its 25th year

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

The first annual 'Birdie Buddies' has just concluded at Carillon North Golf Course in Grayslake. A van loaded with Special Recreation Association of Central Lake County participants heads off into the sunset. The final destination is SRACLCL's home office in Vernon Hills.

There are smiles all around. Smiles resulting from the satisfaction of performing well. Smiles of enjoyment from having a good time. Most importantly, there are smiles of camaraderie because any one of the participants most likely met a new friend, or two.

"There was a lot of friendly 'hamming it up' out there, a lot of camaraderie," said Grayslake resident Dimitrios Vassiliades, a part-time support staff worker for SRACLCL. "It was a lot of fun, though. Definitely something we'd like to do again next year, if not sooner."

Vassiliades has worked mostly with SRACLCL's tennis, basketball and golf programs the past three years. He was one of approximately six foursomes, or 24 participants, at the 'Birdie Buddies' golf event. The event was held in conjunction with the Grayslake Park District, who would gladly welcome another SRACLCL event back to the Grayslake area.

"We (the Grayslake Park District) joined SRACLCL in 1999 when we passed the referendum," said Troy Whalen, the park district's president. "We wanted to bring an event to Grayslake and couldn't think of a better one than golf."

The park district also generously donated several prizes, as well as sub sandwiches from Italian Ovens for the event.

It's the combination of ingredients like this that has made SRACLCL's program so successful in this, its 25th year. But that's the focus—working with communities and their park districts to help promote awareness and participation to and for individuals with disabilities and their families.

"We're community-based and definitely grass roots," said SRACLCL Director John Buckner. "We teach and help participants how to recreate. We target and are open to all ages, all disability groups."

SRACLCL has been pretty good at it, too. According to its participation analysis five-year history, SRACLCL has seen the number of participants jump from 240 in 1997 to 459 last year.

In addition, nearly 1,700 participants attended classes in 1997. That number has flirted with the 2,500-3,000 mark over the last year or so.

Hainesville's Alex Hughes, who competed in the 'Birdie Buddies' event at Carillon, has made the most of his involvement as an SRACLCL participant.

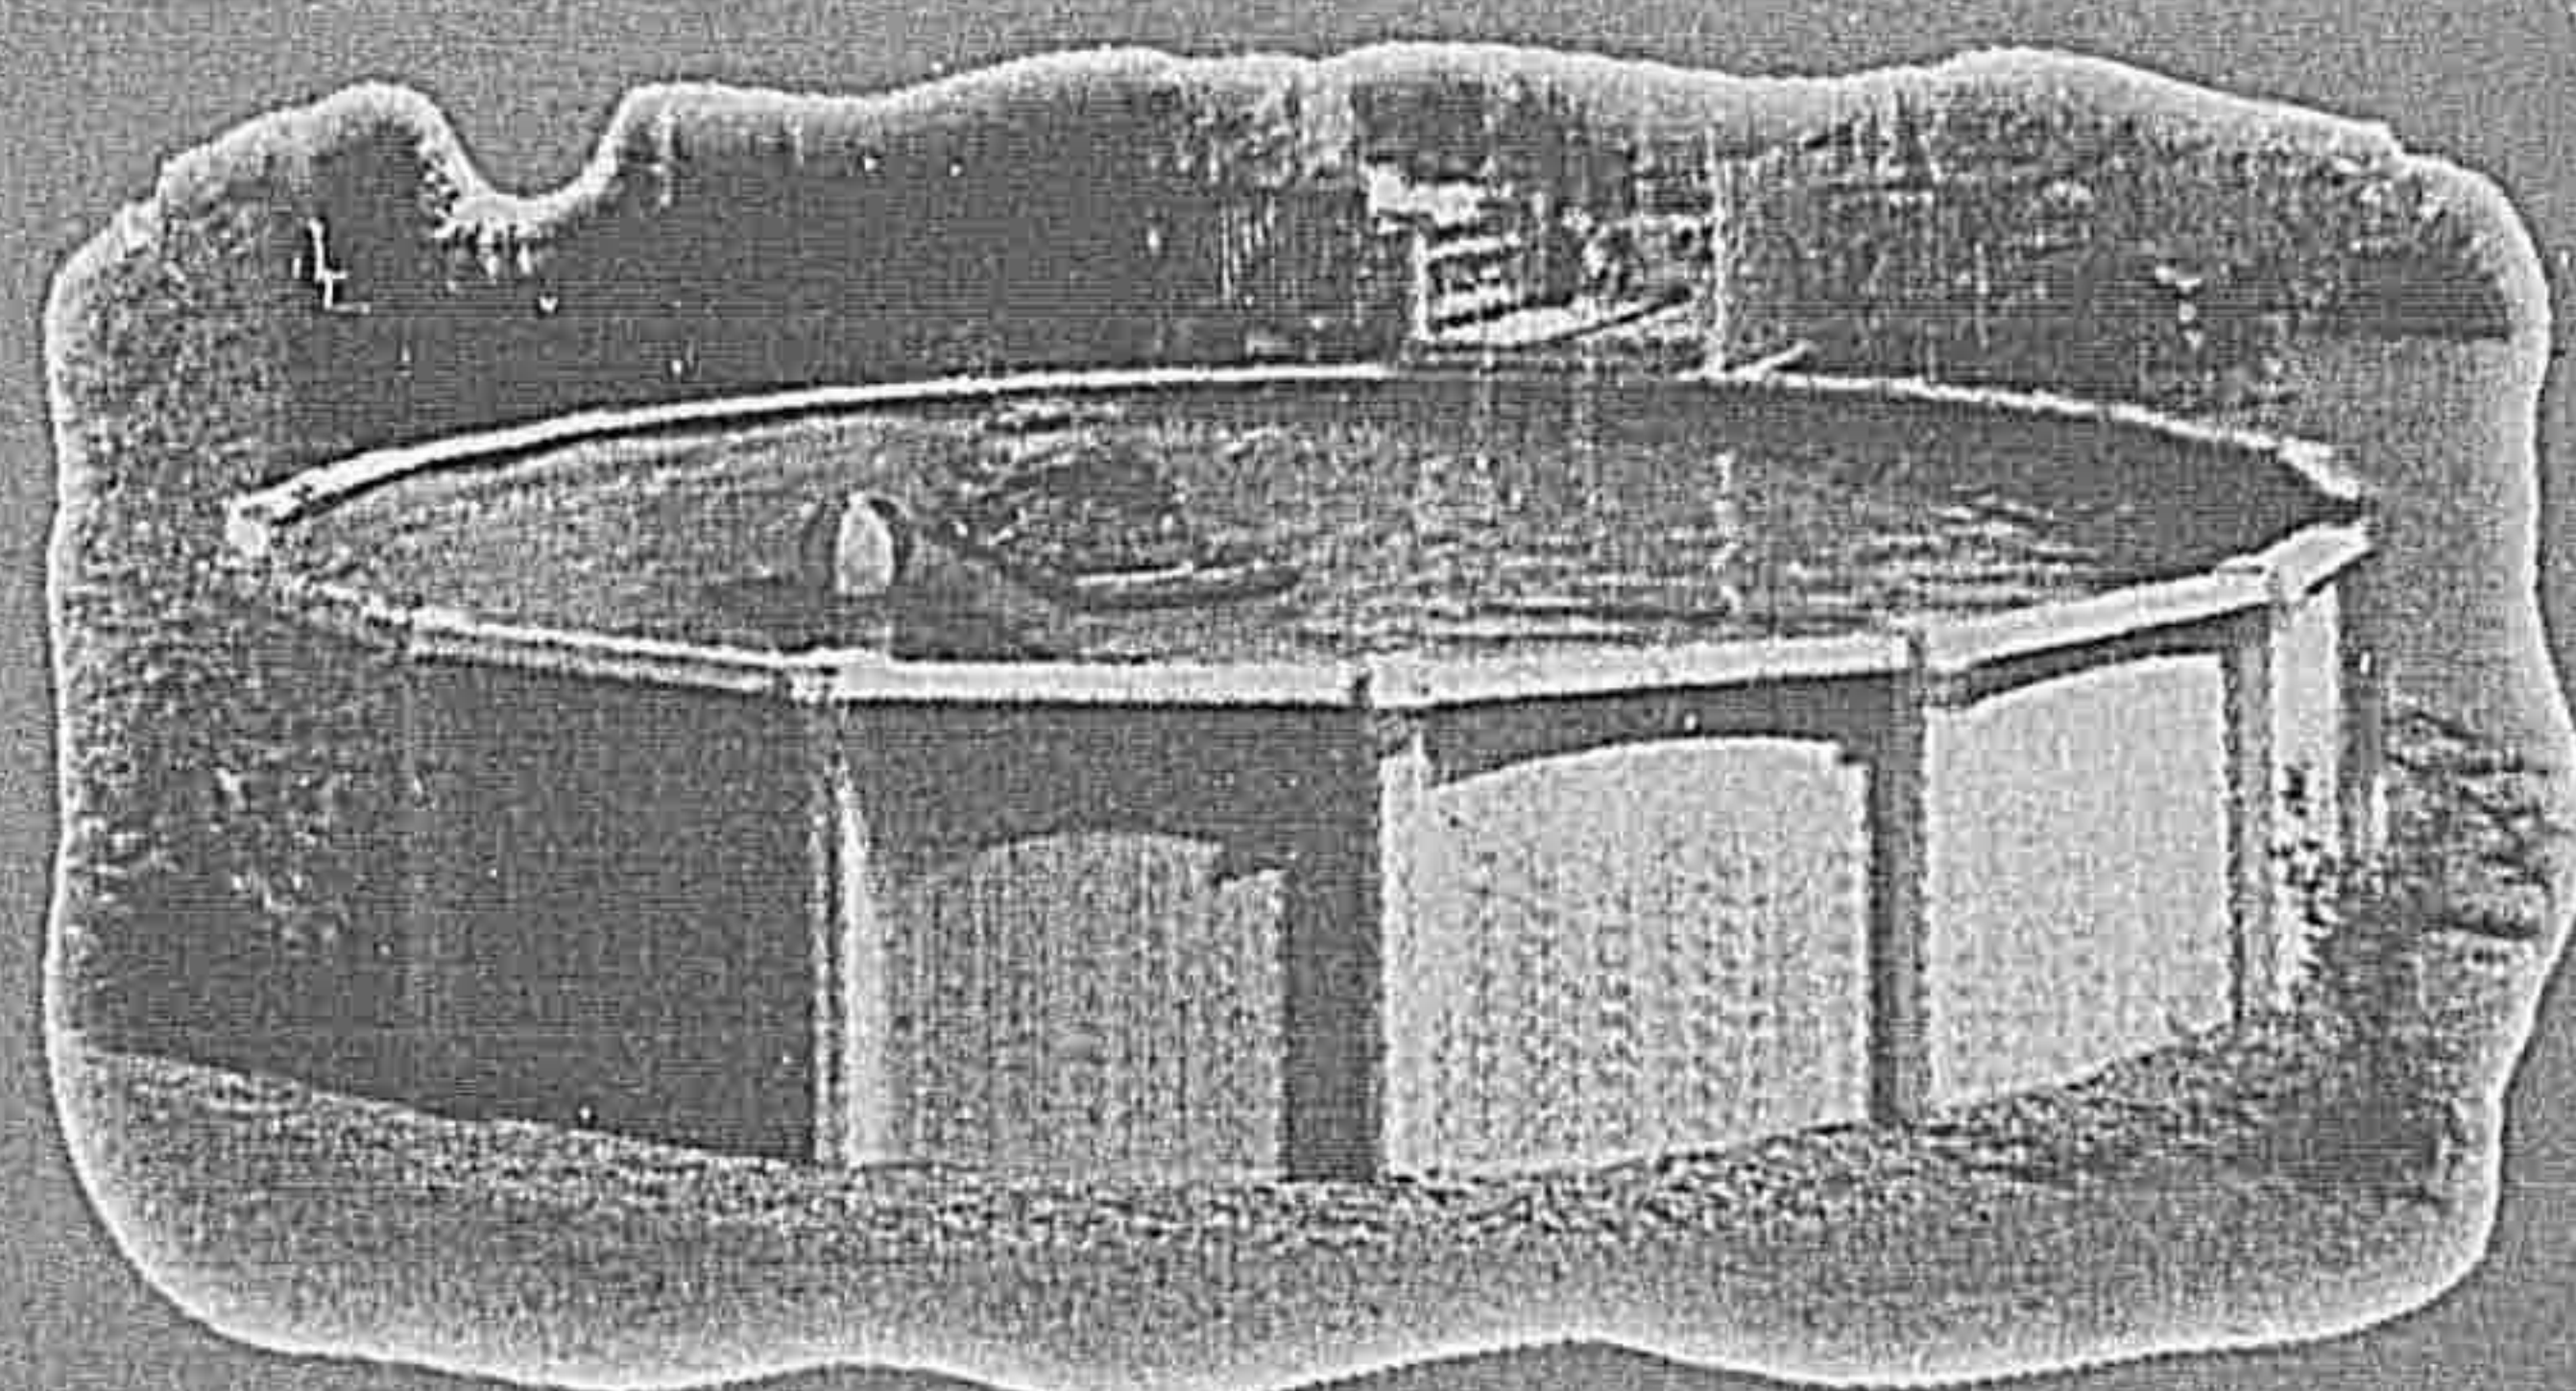

"It was a lot of fun today. I love competing in events," said Hughes, no stranger to stiff competition. Last winter, Hughes, an accomplished bowler, who took the gold medal at the Special Olympics bowling tournament held in Peoria. He has been bowling for about six years. He practices at Lakes Bowl in Round Lake and competes in leagues regularly.

"I really like the people involved with SRACLCL," Hughes said. "I've made so many friends. We all support each other."

Which is a reflection of the SRACLCL staff. In 1998, the National Sporting Goods Foundation awarded SRACLCL the National Gold Medal Award.

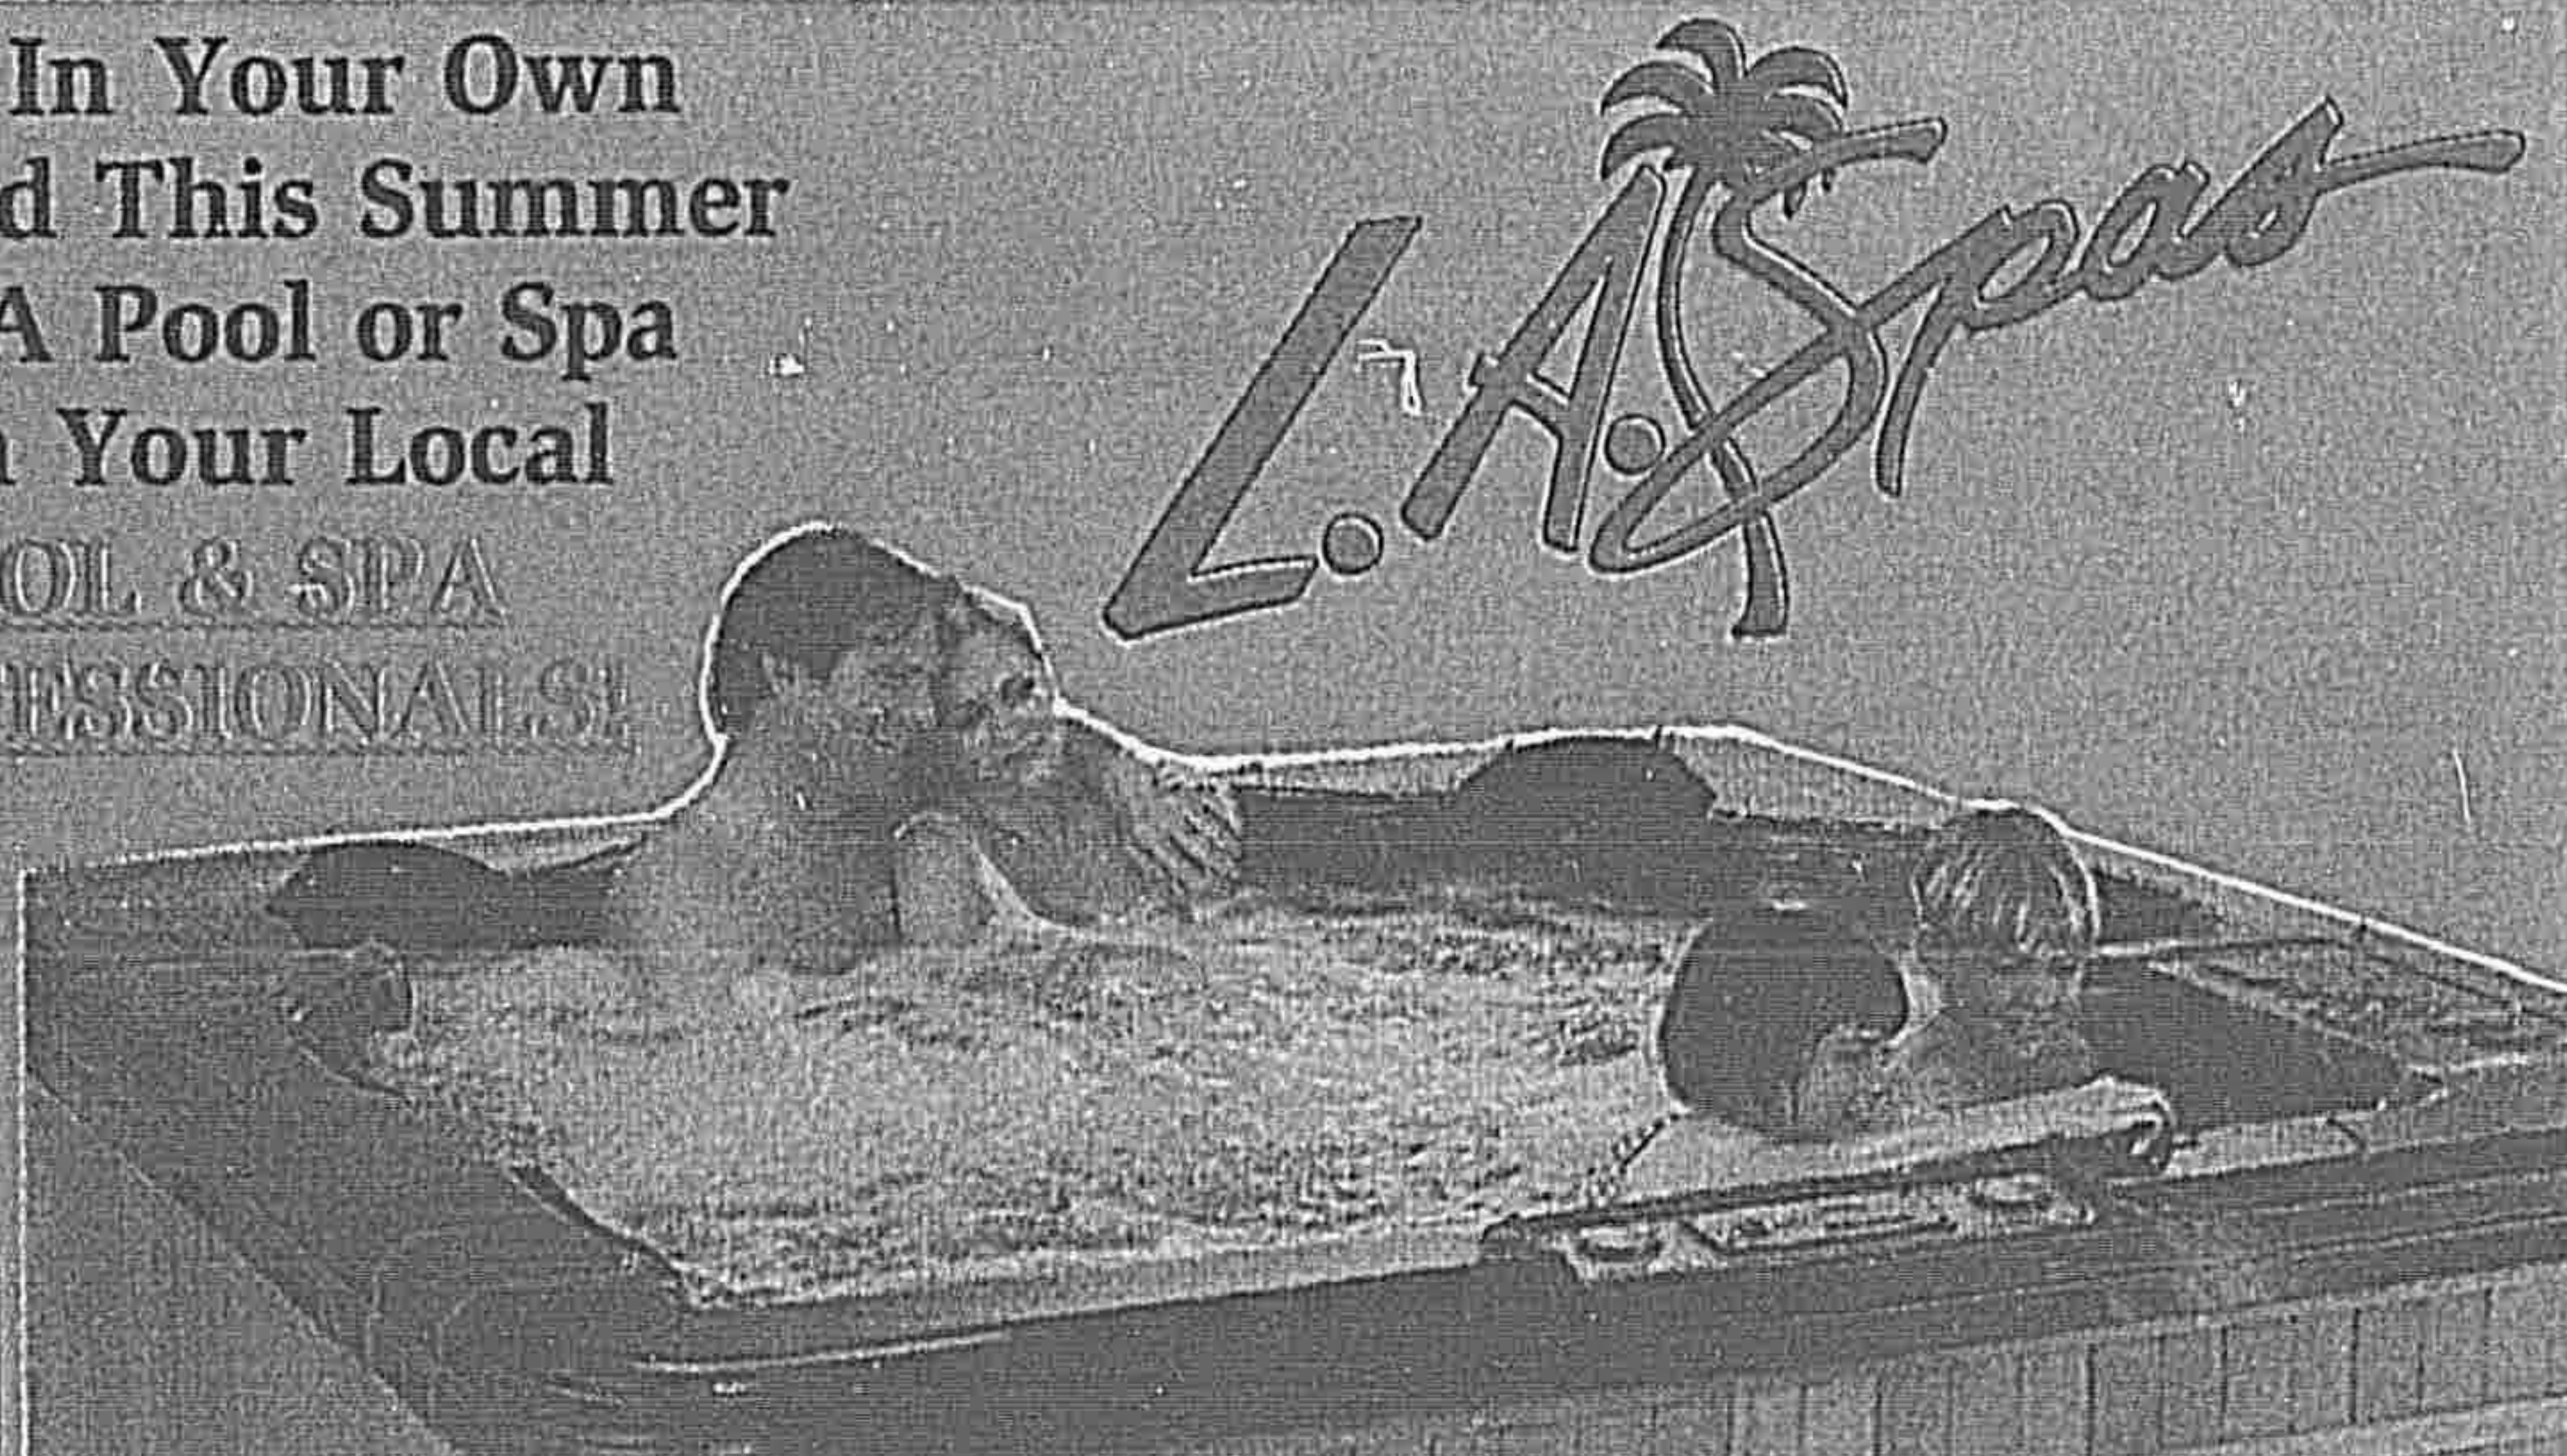

"They (the National Sporting Goods Foundation) selects four agencies throughout the country," said Buckner. "It's a national award given for excellence in the field of park and recreation management. We were very proud to win such a prestigious award like that."

SRACLC was also a finalist for the award in 1996-97.

Fiscal responsibility and having a balanced offering of programs for kids and adults has also helped SRACLC become the nationally recognized agency that it is.

And speaking of programs offered, SRACLC has many.

Special events like dances, plays, sporting activities, mini-camps and family events are just a few offered for people of all ages. They all emphasize socialization and integration with the community.

If one likes the thrill of competing, SRACLC has many competitive sports that make appearances every year at regional competitions and the state's Special Olympics. Gymnastics, bowling, track and field, basketball, tennis and golf are a few sports where the agency has done rather well over the years. Look at Hughes' accomplishment last winter.

"My favorite part, and most fun, is working with the participants," said SRACLC Superintendent Carolyn Chambers, who has been with the agency for over six years. "They (all of our participants) are a pleasure to work with. I love being around all of them. That's why I switched from being a teacher and principal in Wisconsin to the recreation side."

Volunteers are also a big factor in how smoothly SRACLC's programs are run.

During the course of the year, SRACLC has approximately 50-60 volunteers who help out in areas such as supervision, day camp counseling or program leading and assisting.

Some volunteers even help out at the drop of a hat.

"They (all of our participants) are a pleasure to work with. I love being around all of them. That's why I switched from being a teacher and principal in Wisconsin to the recreation side"

Carolyn Chambers
SRACLC Superintendent

"We came out of the goodness of our heart," said Lake Villa Resident Donna Czerniewski during the 'Birdie Buddies' golf event. Czerniewski's son Joey is tutored by Carillon North Head PGA Pro and Manager Sam Zicarelli. "We knew this event meant a lot to Sam. It's for a really great cause," Czerniewski said.

Great Lakes Adaptive Sports Association, formerly the Lake County Adaptive Sports Program, was part of SRACLC through most of the 1990s.

"They broke off and went on their own mostly because they wanted to be more involved with the competitive side of things," said Buckner. "That's why were grass roots."

Grass roots or not, SRACLC has been doing pretty well regardless.

Anyone interested in volunteering or joining one of SRACLC's programs can call 847-816-4866.

Cardboard Cup Regatta brings thousands for summer fun

Chicago may have its Venetian Night, but Fox Lake has the also popular Cardboard Cup Regatta.

This year's event will be held at Mineola Bay, 91 Cora Ave., in Fox Lake on Sunday, Aug. 18. Boat preparations begin at 8 a.m. with racing at 12 p.m. Participants build boats of cardboard and try and stay afloat. Prizes are awarded.

The event is in its seventh year. It is expected to attract 3,000 people.

"We only had one bad year with the weather, and we held it anyhow. Last year, it rained for an hour but we still had it," said Cindy Irwin, village trustee and special events coordinator.

Irwin told of one Wisconsin town that sent two of its firemen to build a boat and compete.

For more information on the Cardboard Cup Regatta, call Irwin at 847-587-1500.

St. Matthew Church sets pig roast

St. Matthew Lutheran Church near Lake Zurich will be sponsoring the 18th Annual Pig Roast on Aug. 18.

Food will be served from 12:30-5:30 p.m. The church is located at Old McHenry Road between Quentin and Midlothian roads.

In addition to a meal of roast pork, potato salad, baked beans and sweet corn, other treats such as Dairy Queen (featuring such favorites as sundaes, chocolate dipped cones and blizzards), ice tea, sodas, wine and beer will also be available for an additional cost.

Back again will be clown and balloon master Flo Szdelko, and new this year will be Rick Colon of "Clowning Around." Formerly of Ringling Brothers Circus, Colon will be on hand to entertain with his feats of magic, juggling and fire eating. Special music by Peter Reinert and members of the Alpiners Band and karaoke by Steve Swick will be on hand from 12-5 p.m. There will be midway games and bingo as well.

Admission is $9 for adults and $4 for children ages 4-10. To purchase tickets, or for more information, call the church office at 847-438-7709.

CORRECTION

In the August, 9 issue of LakeLife on page 9, the concert for Kat Eggleston and The Rick Neeley Trio date has changed to August 17 at the Congregational Unitarian Church, 221 Dean St. in Woodstock. For more information, call 815-338-5164.

Village Theatre ends season with 'Prelude to a Kiss'

Prelude to a Kiss" by Craig Lucas marks the end of the third season for Village Theatre Productions. Performances will be held at the Brainerd Building Auditorium, 416 W. Park Ave. in Libertyville, Aug. 16, 17, 23 and 24 at 7 p.m. and on Aug. 18 at 3 p.m.

Special Dinner Theatre Performances will be held on Aug. 16 and 17. Audience members will enjoy the transformation of the auditorium into a quaint Italian Bistro atmosphere complete with romantic ambiance to capture the mood of the play. Catered Productions of Libertyville will provide the sit-down Italian meal which will consist of chicken marsala with vegetables and pasta, house salad with an Italian vinaigrette, bread with oil and tiramisu for dessert. During the dinner, entertainment will be provided through a series of pre-show activities designed to involve the audience and set the atmosphere for the play. Tickets for the dinner theatre performances are $28 regular and $26 senior citizen. Theater only performances of "Prelude to a Kiss" will be on Aug. 18 at 3 p.m. and Aug. 23 and 24 at 7 p.m. Ticket prices are $7 in advance, $8 at the door and $5 senior citizens.

"Prelude to a Kiss" is a romantic drama involving Peter Hoskins and Rita Boyle, played by Geoffrey Maher of Palatine and Less Boyd of Libertyville, who fall in love at a time when neither were looking for it. Through a series of events that take place on their wedding day, they find their lives in a whirlwind of activities that have them desperately grasping to hold on to who they are, what life is all about and the meaning of true love.

Other principal roles include Eugene Minner of Evanston, who plays Julius Becker; Thorn Powers of Zion, who plays Peter's best friend Taylor; and Bruce Heskett of Gurnee and Judy Kapfer of Libertyville, who play Dr. and Mrs. Boyle, Rita's parents. Other cast members include Poul Bjerre-Jensen, Mary Ann Potter, Jessica Pearce, Michael Kaplan, and Denise Roberts of Libertyville, Christi Geidner-Kirby of Waukegan, Joel Rosa of Mundelein, Ruthie Urban of Grayslake, Bekki Weinberg of Deerfield and Kimari Sabaj of Lindenhurst. Production manager for "Prelude to a Kiss" is Susan Maiorca of Gurnee.

"Prelude to a Kiss" is directed by Linda Klepac of Libertyville who stated, "I am extremely proud of this talented cast who breathe life into these very real, very intricate characters who lead the audience on a journey of emotions and relationships. My hopes are that 'Prelude' will give each audience member a reason to leave the theater wanting to hug their spouse their children, their parents, their friends, and to believe in the magic of true unconditional love."

Tickets can be reserved by calling Village Theatre Productions at 847-367-0774.

Former Cub Santo to make visit to Vernon Hills

By MARC JENKINS
News Editor

Chicago Cubs legendary third baseman Ron Santo will be signing autographs at Justin-Grant Collectibles in Vernon Hills, on Saturday, Aug. 17, from 5-6:30 p.m.

Santo is the first sports celebrity to appear at the sports cards memorabilia and coin collectors shop, at 103 E. Townline Road (Route 60), at the intersection of Aspen Drive, which opened in June 2001.

Santo will autograph items for $10 each for the duration of the event. The store will have 8x10 photos, balls, bats and helmets available for purchase the day of the event. Co-owner Michael

Santo as a Cub rookie in 1960

Smith said the store will stay open after the signing until 9 p.m., with discounts on store merchandise until closing.

Santo started his career with the Cubs in 1960, playing for the North Siders until 1974, when he was traded to the White Sox and finished his career there after one more season. He is one of only five Cubs players to play every inning of every game at one position for a year and the only one to do it twice since 1900.

Smith said there is also a raffle planned, with the grand prize of a signed, framed Brian Urlacher Chicago Bears jersey for $1 a ticket.

For more information, call Michael Smith, co-owner of Justin-Grant, at 847-918-1261.

No ordinary rummage sale

The Women's Auxiliary Board of LaCASA has been planning, inspecting, sorting and organizing to bring Lake County residents a giant, tented, three-day rummage sale that will be nothing you have ever attended before.

Scheduled rain or shine the rummage sale will be held in LaCASA's parking lot at 4275 Old Grand Ave. in Gurnee.

The sale will open on Friday, Aug. 23 from 9 a.m.-7 p.m., Saturday, Aug. 24 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m., with a bag sale on Sunday, Aug. 25 from 9 a.m.-noon.

The LaCASA/Zacharias Center is a non-profit organization that advocates on behalf of sexual assault survivors. In the past two years, LaCASA has aided over 30,000 individuals. For details about the sale, call 847-244-1187, ext. 20.

SPECIAL EVENT

'Art for Animals' art auction

Tree House, a cageless, no-kill shelter for injured, abandoned and abused stray cats will hold its second annual "Art for Animals" Art Auction on Thursday, Aug. 22, from 5:30-9 p.m., at HotHouse, 31 E. Balbo in Chicago.

The "Art for Animals" Auction will feature works from top local artists. The theme of animals will be incorporated into many of the works, but there will be a variety of styles and mediums available. The proceeds will benefit Tree House's spay/neuter program.

Tree House requests a $15 donation at the door and we offer the following: delicious appetizers, an array of cookies, complimentary wine, live jazz music and a live auction at 7 p.m.

Tree House, founded in 1971, was recently awarded first place in the Humane Association Awards offered by the Chicago Veterinary Medical Association. Tree House also sponsors a pet food pantry for low-income families, a volunteer driven animal-assisted therapy program for the infirm and elderly, and an educational outreach program to local schools to educate children on the benefits of a human/animal relationship.

Golfers needed for charity golf scramble

The Center for Enriched Living is seeking golfers and corporate sponsors to take part in their annual Golf Scramble fund-raiser. This event will take place Thursday, Sept. 5, at White Deer Golf Club in Vernon Hills. Individual golfer cost is $225 and $900 per foursome. Price includes green and golf cart fees, lunch, beer cart, open bar, hors d'oeuvres and cocktails after golfing, and a golfer goodie bag. Registration and lunch begins at 11:15 a.m. with an awards ceremony starting at 6 p.m.

For more information, call 847-948-7001.

TOUR

Chicago Theaters

A division of the Chicago Office of Tourism, Chicago Neighborhood Tours will depart Saturday Aug. 17 from the Chicago Cultural Center, 77 E. Randolph St. at Michigan Avenue. Visit a few of the wondrous theater palaces that helped put Chicago on the map. Led by noted theater historian Joe Ducibella, this unique tour focuses not only on the beautiful architecture of these buildings, but also upon the history and stories which make each theater extraordinary. Lunch is included with the fee of $50 for adults and $45 for seniors, students and children 8-18. The tour departs at 10:30 a.m. For more information and reservations, call 312-742-1190.

FUND-RAISER

Rummage sale

The Barrington and Lake Zurich Chapters KP and MO of the P.E.O. Sisterhood will hold their annual rummage sale from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. on Friday Aug. 23 and 9 a.m.-noon on Saturday, Aug. 24 at Barrington's Langendorf Park Gymnasium. To reach Langendorf Park Gym, turn south off Northwest Hwy. (Route 14) and Lion's Parkway. Proceeds from the sale will help fund international peace scholarships for graduate students, grants for continuing education and an educational loan fund for graduates. For more information, call 847-550-8203.

DANCE

Swing your partner

The Buoy and Belles Square Dance Club will meet Friday, Aug. 16 at the First United Methodist Church, 128 N. Martin Luther King Dr. (formerly Utica Street) in Waukegan from 8-10:30 p.m. Cost is $4 per person. Lottie Buckbee will be the square dance caller and Jerry Buckmaster will be the round dance cuer. For more information, call 847-336-6767 or 847-244-2373.

COMEDY

Special guest

Due to popular demand, Zanies Comedy Nite Club, 230 Hawthorn Village Commons in Vernon Hills, is proud to announce the extended run of comedic genius Jackie Mason. Mason's one-man show "Prune Danish," recently at the Chicago Theater, opens on Broadway in October and his new show "The Unholy Tour" opens next year. Mason will be at Zanies Aug. 16-17, 24 and 30-31. Showtimes are Fridays at 8 p.m. and Saturdays at 7:30 p.m. All shows are $30 with a two-drink/food minimum. For more information, call 847-549-6030.

FESTIVAL

Greek Fest

St. Demetrios Greek Orthodox Church of Waukegan presents its 42nd Annual Greek Fest Aug. 23-25. Join in the fun with games, face painting and raffles, plus Greek food such as roast lamb, gyros, baklava and much more. Greek Fest will be held on O'Plaine Road between Rtes. 137 and 120 in Waukegan. For more information, call 847-623-0190.

BENEFIT

Heart awareness

Join the family and friends of Adam J. Kausak, who died at the age of 15 from a heart condition called Long QT, on Aug. 20 from 3-9 p.m. at the V.F.W., 725 North Ave. in Antioch. Dinner is $10 per person, $15 at the door. The benefit will promote awareness of Long QT, help with the purchase of defibrillators for public locations to save lives and help pay medical expenses the family incurred. For more information, call 847-548-4425.

MEETING

Habitat volunteers

Habitat for Humanity Lake County will hold a meeting for persons interested in finding out how to volunteer with Habitat. The meeting will take place on Tuesday, Aug. 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Habitat for Humanity office, 315 N. MLK Jr. Ave. in Waukegan. Habitat always has an urgent need for skilled construction workers but novices can help too. Any level of commitment is welcomed. There is no obligation for attending the meeting. For more information, call 847-623-1020.

LESSONS

Find your level

Parents who would like to determine if their child is ready to take ice skating lessons can take a free class at the Great Skating Giveaway, at 12:20 p.m. and 1:05 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 17 for 3- to 12-year-olds. They will learn how to get up on ice skates, safely fall and test a variety of skills on the ice. The purpose of these sessions is to give children ice skating experience before parents incur the cost of enrolling in lessons. Enrollment for this free class is on a first-come, first-served basis. The Sports Center is located on 1730 Pfingsten Rd in Northbrook. For information, call 847-291-2993.

SENIORS

License service

During the Northbrook Park District Senior Center's Flea Market in August, the Illinois Secretary of State's office will offer convenient services for seniors, from 9:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 23. Seniors can practice Rules of the Road, take vision screening and obtain licenses or ID Cards (no road test given). Festivities will be held at the Leisure Center, 3323 Walters Ave in Northbrook. For more information, call 847-291-2988.

WANTED

Adult volunteer

The Public Services Department of Fremont Public Library needs one adult volunteer for Tuesday mornings to do interlibrary loan. A volunteer is also needed to call reserves on Tuesday afternoon and a volunteer to call reserves on Friday afternoon. These are normally two-hour slots. Training will be provided.

For further information, call the Volunteer Coordinator at 847-918-3224.

African-American artists at CLC

Paintings and drawings by two prominent African-American artists will be displayed in the College of Lake County's new exhibit opening Aug. 16 in the Robert T. Wright Community Gallery of Art. A public reception for artists Rose Piper & Winfred Rembert will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Aug. 23. The exhibit titled "Rose Piper & Winfred Rembert: A Pair of Opposites" will continue through Sept. 29.

Rose Piper, born in New York City in 1917, spent years studying art in New York and Paris, perfecting her varied style, which ranges from abstraction to representational images.

Winfred Rembert, born in 1945 in the small town of Cuthbert, Ga., is a self-taught artist who only began to paint in the late 1990s. Currently residing in New Haven, Conn., Rembert creates paintings on leather depicting his memories of growing up in the rural, segregated Deep South.

The gallery hours are 8 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 1-5 p.m. Sunday. The program is supported in part by a grant from the Illinois Arts Council.

For information, call Steve Jones, art gallery curator, at 847-543-2240.

Teens write own show for Stage Academy debut

Gurnee-area teen thespians are cooking up a show of sketches they wrote themselves, to be served up to audience members on a menu. Audience members choose which sketch they want to see next, requiring the teen cast members to be on their toes, ready to jump onstage and perform the chosen sketch.

The students are members of The Gurnee Theatre Company's first Summer on Stage Academy for teens. Instructors Laura Bursleson and Sarah Brandt (who can be seen on stage herself this summer at the popular Barat College Shakespeare on the Green) began working with the students in June to prepare monologues, work on character development and finally to develop the original sketches composed and performed by the students. Subject matter is comedic or dramatic, based on life experiences the students wanted to explore anything that they wanted to dramatize that had meaning or significance to them.

The show takes place at The Gurnee Theatre Company's performing space (Space 501) at Gurnee Mills Mall, Entry B. Friday, August 16 and Saturday, August 17 are the show dates and tickets are $5. The show starts at 7:30 p.m.

Grayslake Summer Days hits downtown

Three days of fun get started Friday as the Grayslake Summer Days festival begins.

The festival will run from 5-11:30 p.m. Friday, Aug 16; 11 a.m.-11:30 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 17 and noon-6 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 18.

Entertainment will include live bands, such as the Blooze Brothers on Friday and the Illinois Brass Band on Sunday. Attractions will include a gladiator joust on Friday and a Velcro wall on Saturday.

Plenty of food will be available from a wide variety of vendors.

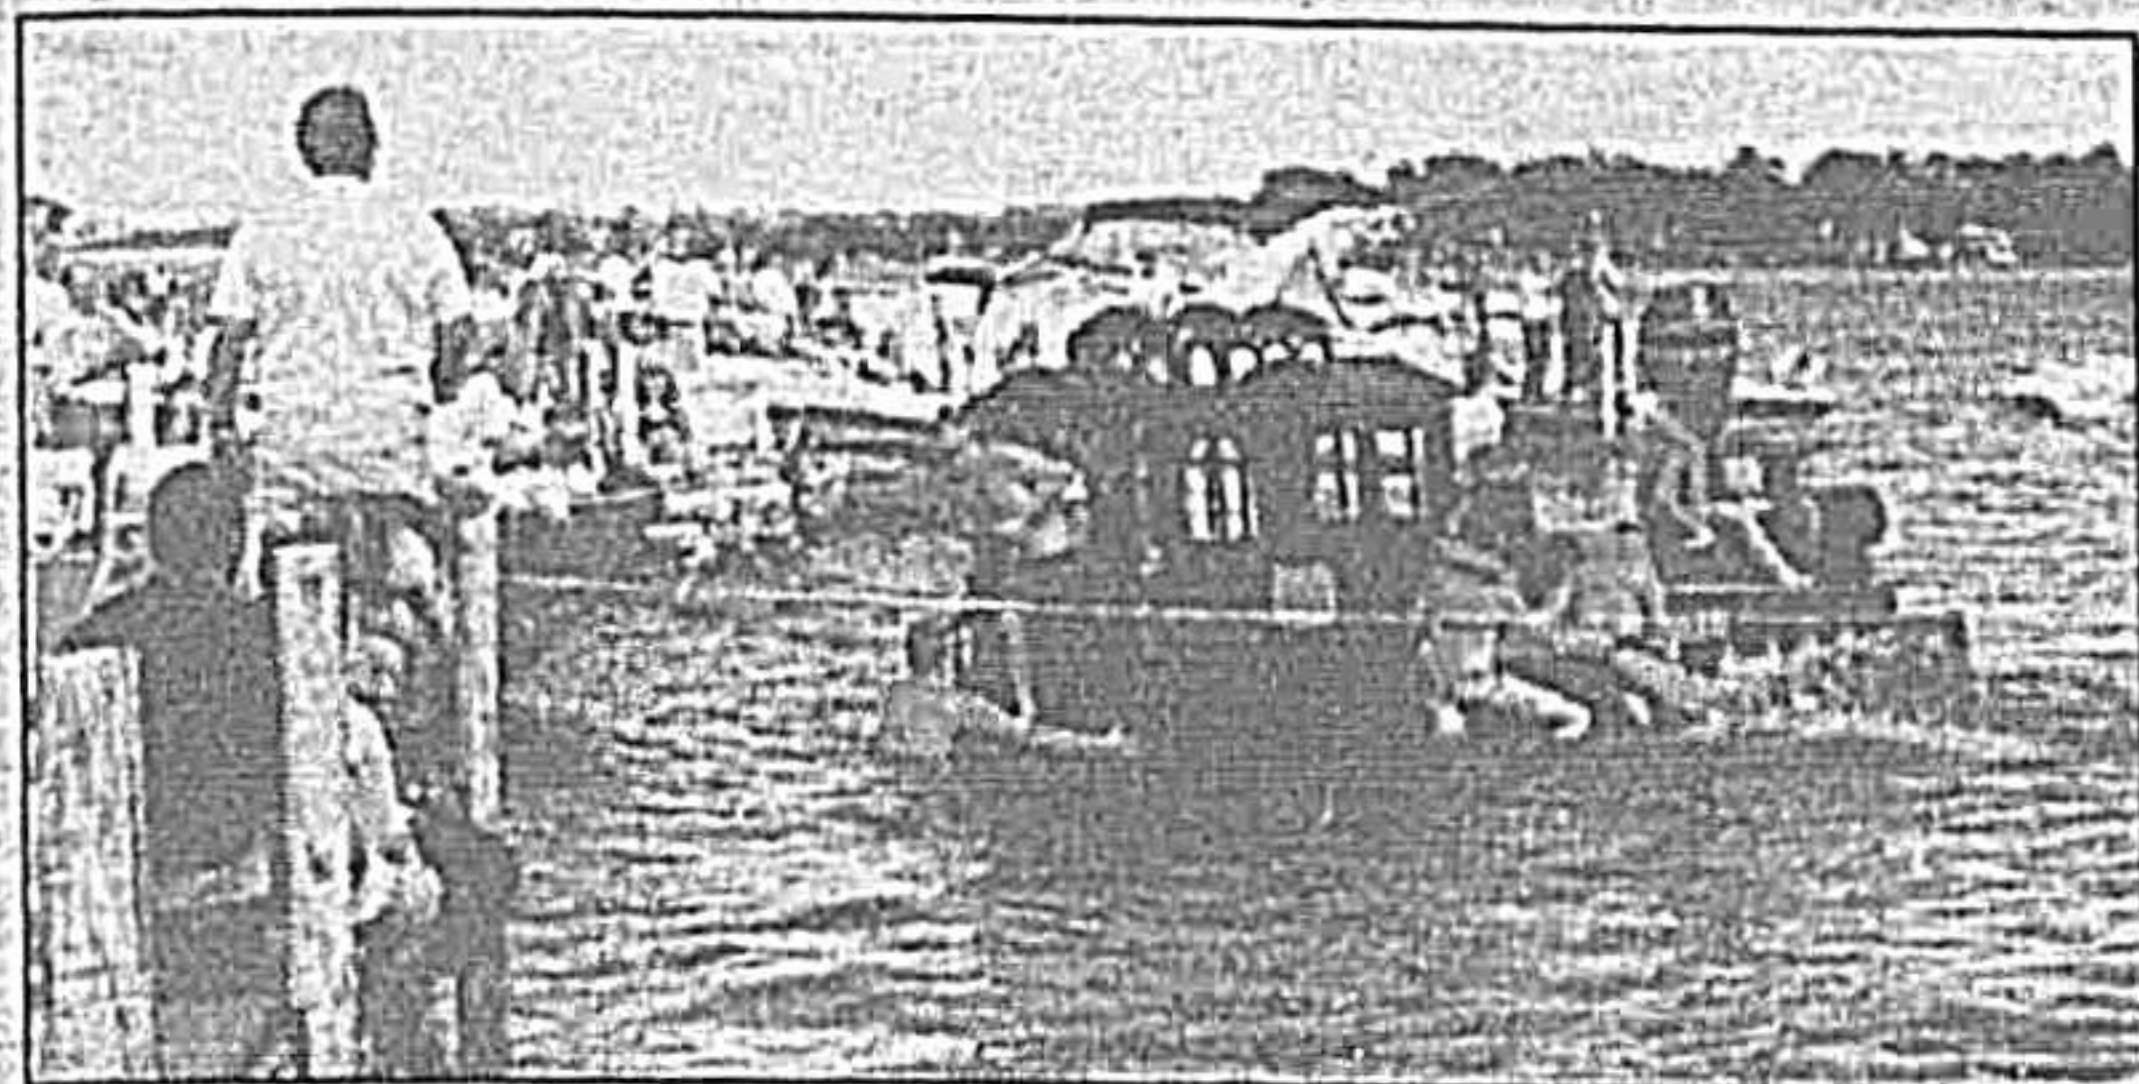

The festival will be held in the Seymour Avenue Municipal Parking Lot, across the street from the Village Hall in downtown Grayslake.

Admission is free, but food will have to be purchased.

HAPPY TIMES

Rating
PG for thematic elements and language

Director
Zhang Yimou

Starring
Jie Dong
Benshan Zhao
Dong Lihua
Li Xuejian

Director Zhang Yimou is a master who has brought us films such as "Ju Dou," "Raise the Red Lantern," "Not One Less" and "The Road Home." His earlier films were historical, politically provocative portraits of life in China, while the latter ones focus on family drama. "Happy Times" continues the trend of Zhang's family melodramas, following last year's film "The Road Home," which had many in the audience shedding feel-good tears in less than 20 minutes. What all of Zhang's films have in common are stunning attention to detail and gorgeous cinematography. With a hint of the classic Italian film "Umberto D," "Happy Times" deals with a man who is down on his luck in money and love.

Zhao (Benshan Zhao) can find women willing to be his fiancé but who will never walk down the aisle

Reel Movies

George & Pam Singleton
www.reelmoviecritic.com

with him. After 18 engagements, he finally meets a woman he thinks is the one. She has a so-so apartment, a spoiled young son and a blind stepdaughter, Wu (Jie Dong), that she has no use for. Zhao lies and says that he can raise the exorbitant amount of money needed for a big wedding. His friends literally run from him when he approaches because they know he has his hand out to borrow money.

Instead of a loan, Zhao and his friend Li Xuejian come up with the idea to take an abandoned bus, fix it up and rent it out as a lover's get-away. They call it the Happy Times Hotel to some and more appropriately, the Hut to others. As the general manager of the hotel, which is how Zhao describes himself to his new fiancé, he is asked to give Wu a job as a masseuse. He thinks he can get away with it because she is blind, and depressed about not knowing where her biological father is. He modifies an abandoned warehouse to make it seem like a real hotel to Wu. To the movie viewer, it looks like a film set for a studio. "Happy Times" begins as a comedy and transforms into a drama.

Of course things become complicated, as a new lie must constantly be told to make sense of the ones before it. His fiancé figures out he's not who he says he is, as does Wu. Zhao also comes to realize who he is, which leads to a rather ironic twist of fate at the end of the film.

Once again Zhang has discovered a soon to be well-known young actress in Wu Ying. He did it with Li Gong in "Ju Dou" and "Raise the Red Lantern" and for Ziyi Zhang, who was in "The Road Home," her debut film released after her stardom in "Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon."

George may have liked the film more had his expectations not been so high. Zhang Yimou is on the same level as famed directors Scorsese and Coppola. Zhang once again has a good story, wonderful cinematography, and characters that you care about.

WINGS OF COURAGE

Rating
G

Director
Jean-Jacques Annaud

Starring
Val Kilmer
Elizabeth McGovern
Craig Sheffer
Tom Hulce

This 3-D IMAX film tells the story of the early pioneering days of airplanes used to deliver mail over the Andes and remote regions of South America. Since IMAX movies are limited to about 45 minutes because of the huge size of the reels, plot and character development tend not to be the reason you see them. What the filmmaker looks for is an interesting topic that when shown on a super-sized screen, in a large film format, delivers a visual and/or strong emotional impact. This allows the viewer to have an experience much like an extended ride in an amusement park.

In "Wings of Courage," Henri (Craig Sheffer) is the pilot who flies over the Andes Cordillera mountain range, where the peaks reach 21,000 feet, and if you crash you can count on not being found. With good weather the plane will blend into the terrain and with bad, even a large plane would soon look like another small hill melting into the mountain. Henri's wife Noelle (Elizabeth McGovern) is the lovely bride who never gives up on her husband when he is reported missing.

Flying a damaged plane because "the mail is more important than life," Henri crash lands on a frozen lake and must traverse six passes that go as high as 12,000 feet.

Never fear that Henri will make it as his love for Noelle and his devotion to getting the mail through keep his spirit alive. Although the story is a little corny and the acting hammy (especially by Val Kilmer), "Wings of Courage" is an enjoyable film because of the scenery and the effects of 3-D. It seems as if you can step onto the dance floor as dancers tango by in one scene. The magic that you feel when looking through those old 3-D View Masters, is heightened with this moving picture process.

Based upon a true story, this yarn of pioneer aviation also comes with a teacher's resource guide. Seeing this film makes for a good family or group outing. "Wings of Courage" is showing at Cinemax in Woodridge, not far from Oakbrook Mall. Call 630-434-2629 for show times and contact Deborah L. Damko for group information.

NEW RELEASES

New releases, currently playing at local theaters. More reviews of these and other films can be found under Current Movie Reviews and Future Films at www.reelmoviecritic.com.

Opening this Week

Blue Crush: Bikini clad young women try to conquer the waves, and their inner demons, with a surfboard. Spectacular scenery but if the trailer is indicative of the film there will be no acting awards for this one. Michelle Rodriguez, Kate Bosworth and Matthew Davis.

Metropolis ★★★★★: Arguably the most influential and famous of all silent films. Director Fritz Lang's classic has been digitally restored. One week only at The Music Box, 773-871-6604.

Pluto Nash, The Adventures of: Set in 2087, this comedy stars Eddie Murphy as the owner of a nightclub on the moon, that is threatened with take-over by the mob. Somehow I think he will overcome with the help of a singer from Earth, Rosario Dawson ("MIB II") and his mother Pam Grier ("Jackie Brown").

Possession: Two literary sleuths find an unfinished love letter involving a poet and they are determined to know if he had a secret affair. As they learn about the poet, they learn about themselves. Gwyneth Paltrow and Aaron Eckhart star.

Sex with Strangers ★★★: Documentary by the Gantz team that brought us HBO's "Taxicab Confessions." Follow three couples who are "swingers." Premiered on TV's Showtime. Not rated. Adult material. Strong adult content. Kerasote Rivertree Court, Vernon Hills.

Still Playing

Bloodwork ★★★: Clint Eastwood is back and, like Harrison Ford, he was never really gone. He's a retired FBI agent who is doing well after a heart transplant. He's been hired to find the murderer of his organ donor. Giving the 70-year-old set something to look forward to...his love interest is 20-something Wanda DeJesus (why do they do that?). Angelica Huston is his cardiologist.

XXX ★★★: Director Rob Cohen who brought us "The Fast and the Furious," has a new action film with Vin Diesel as a secret agent, who, for the moment, appears to be right beside The Rock ("The Scorpion King") as the next action super star. The trailer is full of the best in what we like in a James Bond movie. Co-stars Samuel L. Jackson.

Jeffrey Mangrum's latest play, "Wendall Greene," at its most elemental level, tells a fable-like story about the struggle of inner strength trying to trump the forces of evil.

Making its premiere at the Steppenwolf Studio Theatre in Chicago, this sharply drawn disturbing drama, well-cast and nicely directed by Rondi Reed, is set in the backwoods of Arkansas. It's a scary place, largely populated with violent bigots, small minds and the hopelessly down-and-out.

In sharp contrast is Wendall Greene (Tim Rhoze), a gentle, elderly black man who lives on the edge of town and mostly keeps to himself, planting trees and nurturing land once farmed by his forebears, former slaves. Despite his love of nature and generous heart, many of the local bullies resent his presence among them, and a shopkeeper covets his property.

Greene befriends a young boy, Jimmy (Will Malnati), offering the lad guidance on dealing with the pain and suffering that accompany the rocky road to manhood.

Jimmy's single-mom Cindy (Mariann Mayberry), a struggling, love-starved waitress at the end of her rope, is caught up in an abusive situation with Cooch (Joe Forbrich), an unpredictably violent cad from Las Vegas who disregarded a chain letter and now blames Cindy for breaking his lucky streak. He's not about to leave until he finds the right mojo to get it back.

Robert Breuler plays Pritchett, a vile, dirty-dealing store owner who is in league with equally contemptible ruffian Terry (Darrell W. Cox) and Meredith (Wesley Walker), mindless bullies who prey on easy targets, such as Seamus (Terry Berner), a severely damaged man who later pays dearly for his talkativeness.

Mangrum's rough-hewn play, sprinkled with redneck humor, reenforces a lot of stereotypes of the Deep South. Greene's inner power is ultimately manifested, but the unsatisfactory ending leaves room for much to be explained.

The set design by Brian Bembridge is unique but works perfectly. Audience members sit on two sides of a long narrow room, while the action takes place in the middle. At one end is a ramshackle cabin while on the other end sits an equally disreputable general store alongside which is parked a beat-up old truck. When the action shifts to center stage, poles representing trees drop down from above.

Sizzling with raw emotion, "Wendall Greene" is like a roller coaster ride. It's a gripping experience – but not for everyone. The play runs through Aug. 25. Ticket information: 312-335-1650.
